SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

In this rule, the Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS) amends the Export Administration Regulations (EAR) by creating a new License Exception authorizing the export or reexport of certain items controlled for anti-terrorism (AT) reasons only on the Commerce Control List (CCL) to U.S. persons in Libya. In consultation with U.S. industry, BIS has identified certain items controlled for AT reasons only which are essential for undertaking business or professional activities, including humanitarian activities, in Libya. Excepting these items from license requirements, when consigned to and for use by U.S. persons or their employees only, would facilitate the ability of U.S. persons to do business in Libya without adversely jeopardizing U.S. national security or foreign policy interests with respect to Libya.

This rule is consistent with the President's April 23, 2004, decision to modify United States' sanctions against Libya, in response to Libya's continuing efforts to dismantle its weapons of mass destruction and missile programs and its renunciation of terrorism.

Establishment of New License Exception USPL

BIS has determined that a change in policy is warranted for certain AT-controlled items that are essential for U.S. persons conducting business or professional activities in Libya. In drafting this rule, BIS considered a range of items controlled for AT reasons only and identified those that could be excepted from license requirements when exported or reexported for the exclusive use of U.S. persons in Libya or their employees (within the scope of their employment). These items are widely available outside the United States, and have a low likelihood to contribute significantly to terrorism or WMD-related activities in Libya. Items classified under Export Control Classification Numbers (ECCNs) 2A994 (portable generators), 5A992 (encryption hardware), 5D992 ("Information Security" "software" not controlled by 5D002) and 9A990 (diesel engines), and certain items classified under ECCNs 3A991 (electronic devices), 3A992 (electronic equipment), 3B992 (test and inspection equipment for electronic components), 4A994 (computers), 5A991 (telecommunications equipment) are eligible for new License Exception

United States Persons In Libya (USPL), as set forth in new section 740.19 of the EAR, when those items are exported or reexported to Libya consigned to and for use by U.S. persons and their employees only. The definition of U.S. person set forth in part 772 of the EAR is applicable to this new provision.

Items exported or reexported to Libya pursuant to the new License Exception USPL may only be used by U.S. persons or by non-U.S. person employees within the scope of their employment and must remain under the control and supervision of the U.S. person employer. They may not be transferred to non-U.S. persons in Libya.

Additionally, items exported or reexported to Libya pursuant to License Exception USPL and not consumed or destroyed in the ordinary course of business may be returned to the United States without authorization from BIS, or such items may be reexported to a third country consistent with the provisions of the EAR applicable to such reexports, which in some cases may require authorization from BIS.

Libya remains on the list of state sponsors of terrorism, and, therefore, it is appropriate for the United States to continue to require a license for the export or reexport to non-U.S. persons in Libya of AT-controlled items, as set forth in section 742.20. Further, AT-controlled items not specifically identified as eligible under License Exception USPL continue to require a license if exported or reexported to U.S. persons in Libya.

Although the Export Administration Act of 1979 (EAA), as amended, expired on August 20, 2001, Executive Order 13222 of August 17, 2001 (3 CFR 2001 Comp., p. 783 (2002)) as extended by the Notice of August 2, 2005 (70 FR 45273, August 5, 2005), continues the EAR in effect under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA).

Rulemaking Requirements

1. This interim rule has been determined to be not significant for the purposes of Executive Order 12866.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no person is required to respond to nor be subject to a penalty for failure to comply with a collection of information, subject to the requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.) (PRA), unless that collection of information displays a currently valid Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Control Number. This regulation involves collections previously approved by the OMB under control numbers 0694-0088, "Multi-Purpose Application," which carries a burden hour estimate of 58 minutes to prepare and submit form BIS-748. This rule is expected to result in a small decrease in license applications.

3. This rule does not contain policies with federalism implications sufficient to warrant preparation of a federalism assessment under Executive Order 13132.

4. The provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) requiring notice of proposed rulemaking, the opportunity for public participation, and a delay in effective date, are inapplicable because this regulation involves a military or foreign affairs function of the United States (see 5 U.S.C. 553(a)(1)). Further, no other law requires that a notice of proposed rulemaking and an opportunity for public comment be given for this rule. Because a notice of proposed rulemaking and an opportunity for public comment are not required to be given for this rule by 5 U.S.C. 553, or by any other law, the analytical requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., are not applicable.

However, because of the importance of the issues raised by these regulations, this rule is being issued in interim form and BIS will consider comments in the development of the final regulations. Accordingly, the Department of Commerce (the Department) encourages interested persons who wish to comment to do so at the earliest possible time to permit the fullest consideration of their views.

The period for submission of comments will close December 16, 2005. The Department will consider all comments received before the close of the comment period in developing final regulations. Comments received after the end of the comment period will be considered if possible, but their consideration cannot be assured. The Department will not accept public comments accompanied by a request that a part or all of the material be treated confidentially because of its business proprietary nature or for any other reason. The Department will return such comments and materials to the persons submitting the comments and will not consider them in the development of final regulations. All public comments on these regulations will be a matter of public record and will be available for public inspection and copying. In the interest of accuracy and completeness, the Department requires comments in written form.

Oral comments must be followed by written memoranda, which will also be a matter of public record and will be available for public review and copying. Communications from agencies of the United States Government or foreign governments will not be available for public inspection.

The Office of Administration, Bureau of Industry and Security, U.S. Department of Commerce, displays these public comments on BIS's Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Web site at <http://www.bis.doc.gov/foia>. This office does not maintain a separate public inspection facility. If you have technical difficulties accessing this Web site, please call BIS's Office of Administration at (202) 482-0637 for assistance.
