Full Text of Announcement

I. Funding Opportunity Description

Purpose of Program: The purposes of this program are to (1) help address State-identified needs for highly qualified personnel—in special education, related services, early intervention, and regular education—to work with infants or toddlers with disabilities, or children with disabilities; and (2) ensure that those personnel have the skills and knowledge—derived from practices that have been determined through research and experience to be successful—that are needed to serve those children.

Priority: In accordance with 34 CFR 75.105(b)(2)(v), this priority is from allowable activities specified in the statute (see sections 662(d) and 681(d) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA)).

Absolute Priority: For FY 2007 this priority is an absolute priority. Under 34 CFR 75.105(c)(3), we consider only applications that meet this priority.

This priority is: National Center to Inform Policy and Practice in Special Education Professional Development.

Background

While Federal law requires educators to meet the highly qualified teacher (HQT) requirements, States and school districts struggle to retain such teachers. The likelihood that teachers will remain in their positions beyond the first years of employment is affected by a wide variety of factors, including the policies and practices of teacher preparation programs, States, and school districts.

The retention of teachers is a major concern among educators because teacher turnover creates multiple challenges for schools. Several recent studies report the costs of teacher turnover are high because it not only affects the quality of instruction, but turnover also means additional costs for preparing, recruiting, and inducting highly qualified teachers to replace those who have left (Boe, Cook, and Sutherland, 2006; Billingsley, 2005; Johnson, Berg, and Donaldson, 2005). On the whole, there is broad consensus among policymakers that significant efforts are needed to improve the preparation and retention of highly qualified teachers.

Teacher preparation that is of high quality is a strong predictor of both teacher retention and good teaching practice (NCTAF, 2006), and research has consistently found that new teachers make important gains in teaching quality in the first year and smaller gains over the next few years of their careers (Rivkin, Hanushek, and Kain, 2005, p. 449 as cited in Condition of Education, NCES, 2005). In addition, high quality teacher preparation, along with quality induction and mentoring during the first years of employment, appear to be even more important in urban school districts where data from the last several decades show that from 40 to 50 percent of new teachers will leave the profession within five years (Darling-Hammond and Schlan, 1996; Ingersoll, 2003; National Education Association, 2006; Farber, 2006).

Research suggests that there are a variety of effective ways to improve retention rates for beginning special educators, as well as strategies that improve the quality of pre-service training and professional development for special educators. To this end, the Secretary proposes a National Center to Inform Policy and Practice in Special Education Professional Development.

Priority: This priority supports a National Center to Inform Policy and Practice in Special Education Professional Development (Center). The purposes of this Center are to: (a) Inform special education teacher preparation policy and practice by examining and recommending to IHEs, State educational agencies (SEAs), and local educational agencies (LEAs) those policies and practices that improve retention of beginning special education teachers, such as high quality induction, mentoring, and collaborative teaching experiences; and (b) recommend implementation strategies for policies and practices that provide beginning special education and regular education teachers with the knowledge and skills to effectively support students with disabilities in different classroom settings, including collaborative practices in regular classroom settings.

The Center must:

(a) Identify needs and existing resources: Identify critical issues, needs, and existing resources that relate to improved support for beginning special educators through: (1) A comprehensive review of current policy, scientifically based research, and evidence-based practice literature on retention strategies such as the induction and mentoring of beginning teachers of students with disabilities and collaborative teaching practices; and (2) coordination with other U.S. Department of Education (ED) funded grants related to highly qualified teacher induction, mentoring, and retention (e.g., National Comprehensive Center for Teacher Quality (<http://www.ncctq.org>); Center for Improving Teacher Quality (<http://www.centerforteacherquality.org>); National Center for Special Education Personnel and Related Service Providers (<http://www.personnelcenter.org>); and Faculty Enhancement Center (<http://iris.peabody.vanderbilt.edu>);

(b) Identify critical gaps in the knowledge base: Identify the most significant gaps in the current knowledge base, considering the critical issues and needs identified in paragraph (a), and utilize this information to develop an agenda that identifies and prioritizes critical need areas, where new knowledge on retention strategies, in particular induction, mentoring, and collaborative teaching strategies in all parts of the State professional development system (IHEs, SEAs, and LEAs), is needed. The Center must ensure that the agenda is reviewed and accepted by a panel of content, research, and evaluation experts. This panel must be convened by the applicant, include representatives from teacher accreditation organizations, and be identified in collaboration with and approved by the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP). This expert panel informs the Center's Advisory Board described in section (e).

(c) Conduct activities aligned to the agenda: Activities must be designed to enhance, not duplicate, efforts to understand induction and mentoring policies and practices, and their impact on retention. The Center must identify and evaluate innovative models for the induction and mentoring of beginning special education teachers; provide targeted technical assistance for urban or rural schools with high need for highly qualified teachers to help establish and maintain well-designed induction and mentoring programs; develop partnerships with member organizations such as the Council for Chief State School Officers, American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education, etc., to convene annual forums that support the planning of State and local policies and practices that promote the implementation of high-quality induction and mentoring programs and other strategies that support teacher retention; and respond to new and emerging issues that may influence the retention of special education teachers, in particular. The Center's work under this paragraph must align with, and be informed by, the agenda developed under paragraph (b).

(d) Disseminate policy and practice information: Develop and implement activities that will result in effective and efficient large-scale dissemination of the policy and practice information identified and developed under paragraphs (b) and (c). The Center must make materials available on a dedicated Web site that is easily searchable by topic and is available at no cost to users. The Center also must develop targeted mechanisms for dissemination to: (1) SEAs and LEAs where implementation of effective policies and practices may lead to improved staff retention; and (2) preservice training programs in IHEs, including those that supply urban or rural schools with highly qualified special educators. Dissemination activities must be conducted in collaboration with other OSEP-funded centers, in particular, the Center on Improving Teacher Quality, the National Comprehensive Center on Teacher Quality, and the National Center on Special Education Personnel and Related Services Providers Center.

(e) Evaluate project activities: Design and conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the Center. This evaluation must provide formative information to guide ongoing adjustments to the structure, activities, workflow, and products to improve the effectiveness of the Center. This comprehensive evaluation must also measure the impact of the Center to ensure that: (1) Policies and practices that improve retention of beginning special education teachers are identified and widely disseminated; (2) preservice training programs are designed to link with LEAs in support of induction and mentoring programs for beginning teachers; and (3) beginning teachers of students with disabilities, particularly in rural and urban high need schools, participate in well-designed induction and mentoring programs and use collaborative teaching strategies that support their retention in the profession.

(f) Establish an Advisory Board: The design and implementation of the Center's required activities must be guided by an Advisory Board and informed by the expert panel described in paragraph (b). The Center must establish this Advisory Board in concert with OSEP. The Advisory Board must be composed of SEA and LEA personnel, IHE faculty involved with preservice preparation, teachers, individuals or parents of students with disabilities, OSEP State Professional Development Grant project directors, and project directors of ED-funded centers on teacher quality, as appropriate.

(g) Meet the following additional requirements:

(1) Budget for a three-day Project Director's meeting in Washington, DC, during each year of the grant;

(2) If the Center maintains a Web site, include relevant information and documents in a form that meets a government or industry-recognized standard for accessibility; and

(3) Agree to submit an annual grant performance report which is required of each grantee for continuation funding (34 CFR 75.590).

Fourth and Fifth Years of the Project: In deciding whether to continue funding the Center for the fourth and fifth years, the Secretary will consider the requirements of 34 CFR 75.253(a), and in addition—

(a) The recommendation of a review team consisting of experts selected by the Secretary. The review will be conducted during the last half of the project's second year in Washington, DC; projects must budget for travel expenses associated with this one-day intensive review;

(b) The timeliness and effectiveness with which all requirements of the negotiated cooperative agreement have been or are being met by the Center; and

(c) The degree to which the project's design and methodology demonstrate the potential for advancing significant, relevant knowledge.

Waiver of Proposed Rulemaking: Under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA) (5 U.S.C. 553) the Department generally offers interested parties the opportunity to comment on a proposed priority. However, section 681(d) of IDEA makes the public comment requirements of the APA inapplicable to the priority in this notice.

Program Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1462 and 1481(d).

Applicable Regulations: The Education Department General Administrative Regulations (EDGAR) in 34 CFR parts 74, 75, 77, 79, 80, 81, 82, 84, 85, 86, 97, 98, and 99.

- Your participation in Grants.gov is voluntary.
- When you enter the Grants.gov site, you will find information about submitting an application electronically through the site, as well as the hours of operation.
- Applications received by Grants.gov are date and time stamped. Your application must be fully uploaded and submitted, and must be date and time stamped by the Grants.gov system no later than 4:30 p.m., Washington, DC time, on the application deadline date. Except as otherwise noted in this section, we will not consider your application if it is date and time stamped by the Grants.gov system later than 4:30 p.m., Washington, DC time, on the application deadline date. When we retrieve your application from Grants.gov, we will notify you if we are rejecting your application because it was date and time stamped by the Grants.gov system after 4:30 p.m., Washington, DC time, on the application deadline date.

• The amount of time it can take to upload an application will vary depending on a variety of factors, including the size of the application and the speed of your Internet connection. Therefore, we strongly recommend that you do not wait until the application deadline date to begin the submission process through Grants.gov.

• You should review and follow the Education Submission Procedures for submitting an application through Grants.gov that are included in the application package for this competition to ensure that you submit your application in a timely manner to the Grants.gov system. You can also find the Education Submission Procedures pertaining to Grants.gov at <http://e-Grants.ed.gov/help/GrantsgovSubmissionProcedures.pdf>.

Details on these steps are outlined in the Grants.gov 3-Step Registration Guide (see <http://www.grants.gov/section910/Grants.govRegistrationBrochure.pdf>). You also must provide on your application the same D-U-N-S Number used with this registration. Please note that the registration process may take five or more business days to complete, and you must have completed all registration steps to allow you to successfully submit an application via Grants.gov. In addition you will need to update your CCR registration on an annual basis. This may take three or more business days to complete.

- You will not receive additional point value because you submit your application in electronic format, nor will we penalize you if you submit your application in paper format.

Please note that two of these forms—the SF 424 and the Department of Education Supplemental Information for SF 424—have replaced the ED 424 (Application for Federal Education Assistance).

- If you submit your application electronically, you must attach any narrative sections of your application as files in a .DOC (document), .RTF (rich text), or .PDF (Portable Document) format. If you upload a file type other than the three file types specified in this paragraph or submit a password-protected file, we will not review that material.

- Your electronic application must comply with any page limit requirements described in this notice.

- After you electronically submit your application, you will receive from Grants.gov an automatic notification of receipt that contains a Grants.gov tracking number. V. Application Review Information

1. Selection Criteria: The selection criteria for this competition are from 34 CFR 75.210 and are listed in the application package.

2. Review and Selection Process: Treating a Priority as Two Separate Competitions: In the past, there have been problems in finding peer reviewers without conflicts of interest for competitions in which many entities throughout the country submit applications. The Standing Panel requirements under IDEA also have placed additional constraints on the availability of reviewers. Therefore, the Department has determined that, for some discretionary competitions, applications may be separated into two or more groups and ranked and selected for funding within the specific group. This procedure will ensure the availability of a much larger group of reviewers without conflicts of interest. It also will increase the quality, independence and fairness of the review process and permit panel members to review applications under discretionary competitions for which they have also submitted applications. However, if the Department decides to select for funding an equal number of applications in each group, this may result in different cut-off points for fundable applications in each group.

VI. Award Administration Information

1. Award Notices: If your application is successful, we notify your U.S. Representative and U.S. Senators and send you a Grant Award Notification (GAN). We may also notify you informally.

If your application is not evaluated or not selected for funding, we notify you.

2. Administrative and National Policy Requirements: We identify administrative and national policy requirements in the application package and reference these and other requirements in the Applicable Regulations section of this notice.

We reference the regulations outlining the terms and conditions of an award in the Applicable Regulations section of this notice and include these and other specific conditions in the GAN. The GAN also incorporates your approved application as part of your binding commitments under the grant.

3. Reporting: At the end of your project period, you must submit a final performance report, including financial information, as directed by the Secretary. If you receive a multi-year award, you must submit an annual performance report that provides the most current performance and financial expenditure information as specified by the Secretary in 34 CFR 75.118.

4. Performance Measures: Under the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA), the Department has developed annual performance measures that will yield information on various aspects of the technical assistance and dissemination activities currently being supported under Part D of IDEA. These measures will be used for the National Center to Inform Policy and Practice in Special Education Professional Development competition. They are: The percentage of products and services deemed to be of high quality by an independent review panel of qualified experts or individuals with appropriate expertise to review the substantive content of the products and services; the percentage of products and services deemed to be of high relevance to educational and early intervention policy or practice by an independent review panel of qualified members of the target audiences of the technical assistance and disseminations; and the percentage of all products and services deemed to be of high usefulness by target audiences to improve educational or early intervention policy or practice.

We will notify grantees if they will be required to provide any information related to these measures.

Grantees will also be required to report information on their projects' performance in annual reports to the Department (34 CFR 75.590).
