Development of Dengue Virus Type 3 Vaccine Candidates Containing Either 1) Nucleotide Deletions in the 3'-UTR of the Genome Consisting of More Than 30 Contiguous Nucleotides in One or Multiple Regions, or 2) a 3'-UTR Derived From DEN4 and Containing the A30 Nucleotide Deletion

Description of Technology: The disease burden associated with dengue virus infection has increased over the past several decades in the tropical and semi-tropical regions of the world, where over 2 billion people live at risk of dengue infection. Annually, there are an estimated fifty (50) to one hundred (100) million cases of dengue fever, making development of an effective vaccine a priority. In addition, there is a need for a "travelers vaccine" to protect those visiting dengue virus endemic areas, similar in scope to other currently available "travelers vaccines", such as hepatitis A vaccine.

The previously identified Δ30 attenuating mutation, created in each dengue virus serotype by the removal of 30 homologous nucleotides from the 3'-UTR, is capable of attenuating wild-type strains of dengue virus type 1 (DEN1), type 4 (DEN4) and to a limited extent type 2 (DEN2). These DEN1Δ30 and
