

of TAA is the manufacture of marketable goods.

Congress has recognized the difference between manufacturers and service firms and that an amendment to the Trade Act is needed to cover workers in service firms. It has recently rejected at least two attempts to amend the Trade Act to expand TAA coverage to service firms. It did not pass either the "Trade Adjustment Assistance Equity for Service Workers Act of 2005" or the "Fair Wage, Competition, and Investment Act of 2005." Most recently, Senator Baucus introduced the "Trade and Globalization Adjustment Assistance Act of 2007," which provides for an expansion of coverage to workers in a "service sector firm" when there are increased imports of services like or directly competitive with articles produced or services provided in the United States, or a shift in provision of like or directly competitive articles or services to a foreign country.

Thus, the definition of "article" continues to distinguish between firms that manufacture articles and those that provide services. Clearly, Congress has specifically allowed TAA eligibility for specific service industries. See, section 222(c)(2)(A), workers in the oil or natural gas drilling or exploration field. Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988, Pub. L. No. 100-418, § 421(a)(1988). It has not done so here.

While the Plaintiffs assert that the findings of Former Employees of Electronic Data Systems Corporation v. United States Secretary of Labor, Court No. 03-00373, and Former Employees of Gale Group, Inc. v. United States Secretary of Labor, Court No. 04-00374, and Former Employees of Tesco Technologies, LLC v. United States Secretary of Labor, Court No. 05-00264, support their position that the subject workers are eligible to apply for TAA, Department believes that the cases do not support certification here.

In Former Employees of Electronic Data Systems Corporation and Former Employees of Gale Group, Inc., the Department certified the workers based on the findings that the workers produced an article, that there were increased imports of articles like or directly competitive with the software code produced by the subject firm, and the increased imports contributed importantly to the workers' separations. In Former Employees Tesco Technologies, LLC., the Department certified the workers based on the findings that there was a shift in production abroad of articles like or directly competitive with articles which are produced by the subject firm followed by increased imports of such articles contributed importantly to the subject workers' separations. Those cases are not relevant because the workers in the case at hand do not produce an article for purposes of the Trade Act.

In order for the Department to issue a certification of eligibility to apply for ATAA, the subject worker group must be certified eligible to apply for TAA. Since the subject workers are denied eligibility to apply for TAA, the workers cannot be certified eligible for ATAA.

Conclusion

After careful reconsideration, I affirm the original notice of negative determination of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance and alternative trade adjustment assistance for workers and former workers of Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corporation, Concord, California.

Signed at Washington, DC this 23rd day of October 2007.

Elliott S. Kushner,

Certifying Officer, Division of Trade Adjustment Assistance.

Philip Morris Products International, LLC; McKenney, VA; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By application postmarked October 10, 2007, the Bakery, Confectionery, Tobacco Workers and Grain Millers International Union, Local No. 358 requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination regarding eligibility to apply for Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA), applicable to workers and former workers of the subject firm. The denial notice was signed on August 27, 2007 and published in the Federal Register on September 11, 2007 (72 FR 51845).

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

- (1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;
- (2) if it appears that the determination complained of was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or

(3) if in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a mis-interpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The petition for the workers of Philip Morris Products International, LLC, McKenney, Virginia engaged in production of partially stemmed tobacco was denied because the "contributed importantly" group eligibility requirement of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, was not met. The "contributed importantly" test is generally demonstrated through a survey of the workers' firm's declining customers. The investigation revealed that all partially stemmed tobacco produced by the subject firm was exported to other countries and the subject firm had no domestic customers. The investigation further revealed that there was no shift in production from that firm to a foreign country which is a party to a Free Trade Agreement with the United States or a beneficiary country, nor did the subject firm import partially stemmed tobacco in 2005, 2006 and January through July 2007.

The petitioner stated that even though the workers of the subject firm produced partially stemmed tobacco, Philip Morris also produces cigarettes and workers of the subject firm should be considered as workers supporting production of cigarettes. The petitioner further stated that the parent company of the subject firm closed cigarette production facilities in Cabarras, North Carolina, which would result in increased imports of cigarettes into the United States. The petitioner alleges that because of these imports of cigarettes, the workers of the subject firm who produce partially stemmed tobacco should be certified eligible for TAA.

The Department contacted the company official for further clarification. The company official stated that Philip Morris Products International, LLC, McKenney, Virginia is an Export Processing Facility, which exclusively produces partially stemmed tobacco for export. The company official also confirmed that none of the partial stemmed tobacco from the subject firm was sold to any U.S. facilities in 2005, 2006 or 2007. The company official further stated that the employees of the subject firm did not support production at any domestic facility, including the domestic production facility in Cabarras, North Carolina. The official further stated that the production from the subject facility is being shifted to Italy, Portugal, Malaysia, Russia, Greece and the Ukraine, countries which are not parties to a free trade agreement with the United States or beneficiary countries. The subject firm is not increasing imports of partially stemmed tobacco after the shift.

In order to establish import impact, the Department must consider imports that are like or directly competitive with those produced at the subject firm. Imports of cigarettes cannot be considered like or directly competitive with partially stemmed tobacco produced by Philip Morris Products International, LLC, McKenney, Virginia and imports of cigarettes are not relevant in this investigation.

The subject firm reported no imports of partially stemmed tobacco and there are no domestic customers who purchase partially stemmed tobacco from the subject firm and who might have increased imports of partially stemmed tobacco during the relevant time period.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decision. Accordingly, the application is denied.

Signed in Washington, DC, this 25th day of October, 2007.

Elliott S. Kushner,

Certifying Officer, Division of Trade Adjustment Assistance.
