Prohibitions on Market Manipulation and False Information in Subtitle B of Title VIII of The Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007

AGENCY: Federal Trade Commission.

ACTION: Extension of period within which to submit comments in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

SUMMARY: In a Federal Register notice published on August 19, 2008, the Federal Trade Commission (“Commission” or “FTC”) requested comment on its Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (“NPRM”) in connection with its rulemaking pursuant to Section 811 of the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007 (“EISA”). The NPRM stated that comments must be received on or before September 18, 2008. In response to a request to extend the comment period received on September 5, 2008, the Commission has determined to extend the comment period until October 17, 2008.

DATES: Comments addressing the Market Manipulation NPRM must be received on or before October 17, 2008.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 19, 2008, the Commission published an NPRM² pursuant to the authority granted to it in Section 811 of EISA³ to promulgate regulations prohibiting “market manipulation” in the petroleum industry. In the NPRM, the Commission solicited comment on a proposed Rule that would make it unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, in connection with the purchase or sale of crude oil, gasoline, or petroleum distillates at wholesale:

- (a) To use or employ any device, scheme, or artifice to defraud,
- (b) To make any untrue statement of a material fact or to omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, or
- (c) To engage in any act, practice, or course of business that operates or would operate as a fraud or deceit upon any person.⁴

The NPRM requested comment on several issues, and set a deadline of September 18, 2008, by which comments had to be received.

On September 5, 2008, the Commission received a letter from the American Petroleum Institute ("API") requesting that the Commission extend the comment deadline in the NPRM proceeding until October 17, 2008. In its request, API advances three arguments in support of an extension of the comment period. First, API argues that it needs additional time to canvass its more than 400 members about the NPRM and to "consolidate and present that information for the Commission's consideration." Second, API contends that the extension is necessary to ensure "sufficient time for thoughtful deliberation" about the "many novel and complex issues" addressed in the NPRM. Third, API opines that "defining 'manipulation' is inherently difficult and not within the Commission's traditional antitrust or consumer protection experience," and thus providing additional time to commenters will yield more carefully considered comments, which will benefit the Commission as it proceeds.

Based on the arguments raised by API, the Commission believes that an extension of the initial 30-day comment period until October 17, 2008, is reasonable. The additional time should enable API and other commenters to finalize and submit detailed and thoughtful comments in response to the NPRM. Accordingly, the Commission has determined to extend the comment period set forth in the NPRM until October 17, 2008.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark,
Secretary.
