What Information Is EPA Particularly Interested in?

Pursuant to section 3506(c)(2)(A) of the PRA, EPA specifically solicits comments and information to enable it to:

(i) Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the Agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;

(ii) Evaluate the accuracy of the Agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

(iii) Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and

(iv) Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses. In particular, EPA is requesting comments from very small businesses (those that employ less than 25) on examples of specific additional efforts that EPA could make to reduce the paperwork burden for very small businesses affected by this collection.

What Should I Consider When I Prepare My Comments for EPA?

You may find the following suggestions helpful for preparing your comments:

1. Explain your views as clearly as possible and provide specific examples.
2. Describe any assumptions that you used.
3. Provide copies of any technical information and/or data you used that support your views.
4. If you estimate potential burden or costs, explain how you arrived at the estimate that you provide.
5. Offer alternative ways to improve the collection activity.
6. Make sure to submit your comments by the deadline identified under DATES.
7. To ensure proper receipt by EPA, be sure to identify the docket ID number assigned to this action in the subject line on the first page of your response. You may also provide the name, date, and Federal Register citation.

What Information Collection Activity or ICR Does This Apply to?

Affected entities: Entities potentially affected by this action are the manufacturers of new aftermarket motor vehicle catalytic converters and reconditioners of used motor vehicle catalytic converters. The SIC code is 346. The other respondents are automobile exhaust repair facilities.

Their SIC code is 7533.

Title: Reporting and Recordkeeping Requirements for the Enforcement Policy Regarding the Sale and Use of Aftermarket Catalytic Converters

ICR numbers: EPA ICR No. 1292.08, OMB Control No. 2060-0135.

ICR status: This ICR is currently scheduled to expire on December 31, 2008. An Agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations in title 40 of the CFR, after appearing in the Federal Register when approved, are listed in 40 CFR part 9, are displayed either by publication in the Federal Register or by other appropriate means, such as on the related collection instrument or form, if applicable. The display of OMB control numbers in certain EPA regulations is consolidated in 40 CFR part 9.

Abstract: Section 203(a)(3) of the Clean Air Act (Act) prohibits removing or rendering inoperative automobile emission control devices or elements of design. But for the adoption of the aftermarket catalytic converter enforcement policy (51 FR 28114-28119, 28133 (Aug. 5, 1986); 52 FR 42144 (Nov. 3, 1987)), the manufacture, sale or installation of aftermarket catalytic converters (catalysts) not equivalent to new original equipment (OE) catalysts would constitute a violation of the Act. However, because replacement OE catalysts are expensive, many consumers had elected to not replace catalysts that malfunctioned subsequent to the expiration of the emissions warranty on their vehicles. The Agency believes that allowing the installation of aftermarket catalysts on older vehicles can be environmentally beneficial if the Agency can be assured that the aftermarket catalysts meet certain standards and if installers are accountable to select the proper aftermarket catalyst for each vehicle application. Manufacturers of new aftermarket catalysts are required, on a one-time basis, for each catalyst line manufactured, to identify the catalyst physical specifications and summarize pre-production testing of the prototype.

The original policy required that, once production had begun, the manufacturer would submit to EPA on a semi-annual basis the number of each type of aftermarket catalyst manufactured and a summary of information contained on warranty cards or, at the option of the respondent, copies of warranty cards for all converters sold. This reporting regarding sales and warranty information was eliminated in March 1999, with the stipulation that records must be maintained and the information submitted to EPA upon request.

On a one-time basis, companies that recondition used catalysts (catalyst reconditioners) must report the identity of the company and a description of the test bench used for testing used catalytic converters and the intended vehicle application(s) for each converter type. All used converters must be tested individually to ensure they are still functional. Additionally, the original policy required catalyst reconditioners to report on a semi-annual basis the names and addresses of distributors along with the number of each type of converter sold to each distributor. This reporting requirement was eliminated in March 1999, with the stipulation that records must be maintained and the information submitted to EPA upon request.

Companies that install aftermarket catalysts have no reporting requirements, but for 6 months must keep copies of installation invoices and records that show the reason an aftermarket catalyst installation was appropriate. Removed catalysts must be tagged with identifying information and be kept for 15 days.

EPA allows the use of pre-printed documents or computer-generated documents. All the recordkeeping under the policy is authorized by section 114 of the Act, 42 U.S.C. 7414 and section 208 of the Act, 42 U.S.C. 7542. Parties who comply with these policies are allowed to install aftermarket catalysts instead of OE catalysts. Confidentiality provisions are found at 40 CFR part 2. These requirements have been in effect for over 10 years. Startup costs have been completed. The proposed ICR utilizes assumptions that are the same as the previous ICR. An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA's regulations are listed in 40 CFR part 9 and 48 CFR chapter 15.

Burden Statement: The annual public reporting and recordkeeping burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 7 hours per response. Burden means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. This includes the time needed to review instructions; develop, acquire, install, and utilize technology and systems for the purposes of collecting, validating, and verifying information, processing and maintaining information, and disclosing and providing information; adjust the existing ways to comply with any previously applicable instructions and requirements which have subsequently changed; train personnel to be able to respond to a collection of information; search data sources; complete and review the collection of information; and transmit or otherwise disclose the information.

The ICR provides a detailed explanation of the Agency's estimate, which is only briefly summarized here:

Estimated total number of potential respondents: 30,014.

Frequency of response: Annual.

Estimated total average number of responses for each respondent: 1.

Estimated total annual burden hours: 212,101 hours.

Estimated total annual costs: $676,000. This includes an estimated burden cost of $390,000 and an estimated cost of $286,000 for capital investment or maintenance and operational costs.

Are There Changes in the Estimates From the Last Approval?

There is anticipated to be no change in the hours in the total estimated respondent burden compared with that identified in the ICR currently approved by OMB.

What Is the Next Step in the Process for This ICR?

EPA will consider the comments received and amend the ICR as appropriate. The final ICR package will then be submitted to OMB for review and approval pursuant to 5 CFR 1320.12. At that time, EPA will issue another Federal Register notice pursuant to 5 CFR 1320.5(a)(1)(iv) to announce the submission of the ICR to OMB and the opportunity to submit additional comments to OMB. If you have any questions about this ICR or the approval process, please contact the technical person listed under FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT.

Dated: September 24, 2008.

Pesticides; Notice of Intent To Withdraw the Draft PR Notice on Label Statements Regarding Third-Party Endorsements and Cause Marketing

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: EPA is withdrawing its draft Pesticide Registration Notice (PR Notice) entitled "Label Statements Regarding Third-Party Endorsements & Cause Marketing." The draft PR Notice, issued for public comment in October 2007, contained a description of the Agency's proposed framework for evaluating proposed statements and graphic material to appear on pesticide labeling regarding third-party endorsements or a relationship between the pesticide registrant and a charity ("cause marketing claims") and the kinds of information EPA would expect to receive in applications to add such claims to pesticide labeling. Public comments on the draft raised serious issues, leading the Agency to conclude that considerably more information would likely be needed to support such claims than was described by the draft

PR Notice. Rather than develop additional guidance, EPA believes it is better to allocate its resources to other initiatives which should improve pesticide labeling in ways that enhance users' understanding of and ability to use products safely and effectively. Thus, the Agency will continue to evaluate applications proposing to add labeling containing third-party endorsements or cause marketing claims on a case-by-case basis to ensure that the applicant has provided sufficient information to allow EPA to determine whether products containing such claims meet the standards for registration.

II. Background

EPA is committed to ensuring that pesticide labeling communicates to the user information on how to use the product safely and effectively. The Agency is devoting considerable resources to improving the content and design of the labeling of currently approved pesticide products in order to meet this goal. These efforts address not only guidance about what information should appear in labeling, but also how EPA receives and reviews labeling and how labeling is communicated to users.

In the Federal Register of October 31, 2007 (72 FR 61638) (FRL-8152-6), EPA issued for public comment a draft Pesticide Registration Notice (PR Notice) entitled "Label Statements Regarding Third-Party Endorsements & Cause Marketing." The draft PR Notice described a proposed framework for evaluating proposed statements and graphic material to appear on pesticide labeling regarding third-party endorsements or a relationship between the pesticide registrant and a charity ("cause marketing claims"). The draft PR Notice also discussed the kinds of information EPA would expect to receive in an application in order to determine that such claims are consistent with FIFRA. The Agency received 108 comments opposing the draft PR Notice, along with 11 comments in support of some or all of the draft.

This Notice discusses EPA's decision, after reviewing public comments, to withdraw its draft PR Notice, and to continue to support initiatives that simplify and clarify labeling in order to better communicate critical information to users. Unit III. of this Notice describes the legal framework used by EPA to evaluate proposed labeling of pesticide products. Unit IV. discusses the importance of pesticide labeling and initiatives the Agency is taking to improve pesticide labeling. Unit V. discusses the draft PR Notice and public comments received, and Unit VI. explains EPA's position on the kinds of cause marketing claims and third-party endorsements as described in the PR Notice and the basis for this position.

In sum, consistent with its mandate, EPA will accept and review all applications for new or amended pesticide labeling, including those proposing to add third-party endorsements or cause marketing claims. After review of public comments, however, the Agency has decided that such claims are unlikely to
