

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Introduction

On April 1, 2009, the Postal Service filed a formal notice, pursuant to 39 U.S.C. 3641(c)(1), announcing its intent to initiate a market test beginning May 6, 2009, of an experimental product, Collaborative Logistics.¹ The Postal Service asserts that the Collaborative Logistics product is a competitive product. Notice at 1. The Notice recites the statutory authority for offering Collaborative Logistics as an experimental product and provides a general description of it. This experiment represents the initial market test conducted by the Postal Service under the Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act (PAEA).

Statutory authority. The Postal Service indicates that it plans to conduct a market test of the proposed Collaborative Logistics product. Section 3641 imposes certain conditions on experimental products which the Notice purports to address. Specifically, the Postal Service asserts that Collaborative Logistics is significantly different from all products within the meaning of 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(1).

In addition, it contends that “the introduction or continued offering of the product will not create an unfair or otherwise inappropriate competitive advantage for the Postal Service or any mailer, particularly in regard to small business concerns.” Id. at 2; see also 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(2). Also, it submits that Collaborative Logistics is correctly classified as a competitive product. Id.; see also 39 U.S.C. 3641(b)(3).

Product description. Pursuant to 39 U.S.C. 3641(c)(1)(B), the Postal Service provides a brief description of the nature and scope of the market test. The Postal Service explains that, in view of its large and complex transportation network, “the natural imbalance of mail volume between cities and the need to meet operating plans to support service standards makes some underutilized space on some highway transportation predictable.” Id. at 2–3. Under this market test, “the Postal Service would sell that available space.” Id. at 3. Thus, it defines the experimental product as “transportation of an article or multiple articles on a pallet or other unit load, on a space-available basis, in postal transportation.” Id. at 3.

Under the market test, “unit loads will be picked up and delivered to firms, stores, hospitals, warehouses, other large customer and/or postal facilities.” Id. For instance, the Postal Service specifies that the “maximum pallet weight will be 2200 pounds, with articles secured to the pallet using shrink-wrapping and banding.” Id. at 3. These unit loads are to be shipped or carried like those loads provided under similar offerings, often called LTL (less-than-truckload) shipping services. The Postal Service notes that terms are to be governed under negotiated contracts. Id. at 3–4.

The Postal Service indicates that total revenues from the market test are not anticipated to exceed $10 million. Id. at 2. In addition, it confirms that the market test shall not exceed two years. Id.

II. Notice of Filing

The Commission establishes Docket No. MT2009–1 for consideration of matters raised by the Notice. Interested persons may submit comments on whether the Postal Service’s filing in the captioned docket is consistent with the policies of 39 U.S.C. 3641. Comments are due no later than April 27, 2009. The filing can be accessed via the Commission’s Web site (<http://www.prc.gov>).

The Commission appoints Michael J. Ravnitzky to serve as Public Representative in this docket.

III. Supplemental Information

This is the first time the Postal Service has noticed an experimental product under the PAEA. The Commission requests the Postal Service to provide the following supplemental information regarding the market test by April 20, 2009:

3. Please describe how the product, Collaborative Logistics, will be made available to the public.

4. The Notice describes the product, but does not explicitly indicate whether the product is to be classified as a postal service. Please elaborate.

5. Please identify: (a) When the “similar product,” referred to at footnote 1 of the Notice, was terminated; and (b) explain how the Collaborative Logistics experimental product is significantly different from the similar product offered previously.

6. (a) Please provide the basis upon which the Postal Service concludes that offering the product will not create an unfair or otherwise inappropriate competitive advantage for the Postal Service or any mailer.

(b) Please discuss the Postal Service’s efforts to determine the impact on small businesses.

7. Please identify all applicable federal and state laws and regulations that apply to the transportation offerings of the experimental product.
