Synopsis

In the Second Internet-Based TRS Order, the Commission concluded, in part, that only individuals with a hearing or speech disability will be eligible to obtain ten-digit telephone numbers under the numbering system adopted in the Telecommunications Relay Services and Speech-to-Speech Services for Individuals with Hearing and Speech Disabilities; E911 Requirement for IP-Enabled Service Providers, CG Docket No. 03-123, WC Docket No. 05-196, Report and Order and Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, document FCC 08-151 (Internet-Based TRS Order); published at 73 FR 41286, July 18, 2008 and 73 FR 41307, July 18, 2008. To this end, the Commission also required providers to verify that persons receiving ten-digit numbers "have a medically recognized hearing or speech disability necessitating their use of TRS" through a self-certification process. TDI Coalition and GoAmerica seek reconsideration of this eligibility requirement that limits the assignment of ten-digit telephone numbers to individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing or who have a speech disability. TDI Coalition and GoAmerica contend, in part, that allowing assignment of ten-digit numbers to hearing persons would facilitate point-to-point (i.e., non-relay) calls between a voice telephone user and an individual with a hearing or speech disability, and therefore reduce the number of VRS calls that are compensated from the Interstate TRS Fund.

In addition, GoAmerica requests that the Commission grant reconsideration or a limited waiver for six months of the requirement that Internet-based TRS providers answer a call back from the PSAP with priority. GoAmerica asserts that providers are not capable of meeting this requirement at the present time and are working collaboratively on a technical solution.
