II. Background

The 30th Report of the TSCA Interagency Testing Committee (ITC) to the EPA Administrator recommended 56 silicone chemicals for health effects testing to meet data needs expressed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (57 FR 30608, July 9, 1992). The six siloxanes covered by this MOU between EPA and the Dow Corning Corporation are included among the 56 silicone chemicals recommended by the ITC in its 30th Report to EPA. In response to that ITC recommendation, EPA issued a final TSCA section 8(d) information reporting rule (58 FR 28511, May 14, 1993) requiring manufacturers, importers, and processors of the 56 silicone chemicals to submit to EPA unpublished health and safety data on those chemicals; information concerning the uses of and exposure to the chemicals was submitted voluntarily by industry directly to the ITC. On review of the TSCA section 8(d) information materials received, the ITC considered the need for formal designations for testing under section 4 of TSCA. EPA issued a notice titled Testing Consent Agreement; Development for Octamethylcyclotetrasiloxane (OMCTS); Solicitation of Interested Parties (53 FR 11341, April 6, 1988) and a final rule titled Testing Consent Order for Octamethylcyclotetrasiloxane (54 FR 818, January 10, 1989) docket number OPTS-42071B.

These actions lead to the more broadly based discussion of an appropriate PSP based on the Responsible Care principles developed by the Chemical Manufacturers Association—now the American Chemistry Council. Dow Corning Corporation agreed to develop a specific PSP for six siloxane chemicals including: Octamethylcyclotetrasiloxane (D4) CAS No. 556-67-2; decamethylcyclopentasiloxane (D5) CAS No. 541-02-6; dodecamethylcyclohexasiloxane (D6) CAS No. 540-97-6; hexamethyldisiloxane (HMDS) CAS No. 107-46-0; polydimethylsiloxane (PDMS 10 cst) CAS No. 63148-62-9; and polydimethylsiloxane (PDMS 350 cst) CAS No. 63148-62-9. These were selected because they are representative of the broad class of siloxane materials that have widespread use in industrial and consumer applications. Dow Corning Corporation and EPA signed the formal PSP MOU on April 9, 1996. The MOU was initiated in 1996 with a baseline report, and a Project Plan for assessing exposure. The MOU was monitored through annual progress reports and regular scientific briefings with EPA.

This notice acknowledges that work agreed upon in the MOU has been received and announces that the data and information produced under the MOU is available in the public docket at <http://www.regulations.gov> at docket number EPA-HQ-OPPT-2009-0180. Materials include annual progress reports, over 88 reports assessing potential toxicity and exposures concerning the six siloxanes, and related TSCA section 8(e) notices and FYI submissions. The MOU and a baseline report describe the PSP based on "Implementing Product Stewardship: a Resource Guide," Chemical Manufacturers Association (CMA), 1992. The program included a description of the PSP goals, plans for communicating health and safety information, toxicity testing, exposure assessment and monitoring, identifying any additional data needs for risk assessment, development and implementation of pollution prevention, waste minimization, and exposure reduction plans, and exercising its environmental responsibility through design of processes, products, packaging, etc. to minimize the consumption of natural resources and energy and eliminate, where feasible, generation of waste materials and releases to the environment.

EPA, No. 3-08CV1491-G (N.D. Tex.)*. Plaintiffs filed a complaint in this action on August 25, 2008, which alleges that EPA has failed to perform nondiscretionary duties pursuant to section 110(k)(1)(B) and (k)(2) of the Federal CAA, 42 U.S.C. 7410(k)(1)(B) and (k)(2), to take final action on numerous Texas State Implementation Plan (“SIP”) air quality revisions by the statutory deadline. The SIP revisions are related to Texas New Source Review (NSR) air permitting and banking and trading rules. The proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement, if finalized, will collectively resolve plaintiffs’ claims in this matter. A schedule for acting on the SIP revisions is attached to the proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement.

DATES: Written comments on the proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement must be received by August 31, 2009.

ADDRESSES: Submit your comments, identified by Docket ID number EPA-HQ-OGC-2009-0560, online at <http://www.regulations.gov> (EPA’s preferred method); by e-mail to oei.docket@epa.gov; by mail to EPA Docket Center, Environmental Protection Agency, Mailcode: 2822T,

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Additional Information About the Proposed Consent Decree and Proposed Settlement Agreement

The proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement resolve a lawsuit filed by BCCA seeking to compel action by the EPA under section 110(k) of the CAA on identified SIP revisions submitted by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ). The SIP revisions involve Texas NSR air permitting and banking and trading rules. The proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement provide that EPA shall sign for publication in the Federal Register a notice of final rulemaking to approve or disapprove, in whole or in part, the SIP revisions identified by the deadline specified in the Exhibit attached to each document and to deliver the notice promptly to the Office of the Federal Register. If EPA has discharged its obligations under the consent decree, the case will be dismissed with prejudice. Plaintiffs have agreed to stay this case in its entirety pending completion of, and subject to the terms of, the consent decree and settlement agreement.

For a period of thirty (30) days following the date of publication of this notice, the Agency will receive written comments relating to the proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement from persons who were not named as parties or intervenors to the litigation in question. EPA or the Department of Justice may withdraw or withhold consent to the proposed consent decree and proposed settlement agreement if comments disclose facts or circumstances indicating that such consent is inappropriate, improper, inadequate, or inconsistent with the requirements of the Act. Unless EPA or the Department of Justice determines, based on any comment which may be submitted, that consent to the consent decree and settlement agreement should be withdrawn, the terms of the decree and agreement will be affirmed.
