[Document Number AMS-ST-09-0016]

Changes in Hourly Fee Rates for Science and Technology Laboratory Services—Fiscal Years 2010–2012

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Proposed rule with request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) proposes changes in annual standard, appeal, overtime, and holiday hourly fee rates for fiscal years 2010–2012 for Science and Technology (S&T) Laboratory Services in order to recover anticipated laboratory program costs. The Agency is proposing to raise these rates to reflect, among other factors, national and locality pay increases for Federal employees and inflation, operating costs, instrumentation and training, equipment maintenance costs, and program and agency administrative overhead costs. This action also proposes miscellaneous changes for clarity.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Science and Technology (S&T) Programs has been performing voluntary laboratory services under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (AMA), as amended (7 U.S.C. 1621–1627), for the AMS commodity programs (Fruit and Vegetable, Cotton and Tobacco, Livestock and Seed, Poultry, and Dairy) and applicable stakeholders in these industries since its inception on August 17, 1988. Before that time, voluntary laboratory testing was provided for on a separate user fee basis under the various AMS commodity programs. The current standard hourly rate of $67.00, the appeal or overtime hourly rate of $78.00 and the holiday hourly rate of $89.00 have been in effect since the March 30, 2007 final rule (72 FR 15011) was published. The standard fee rate for laboratory services is proposed to be increased to $78.00 per hour in fiscal year 2010, $81.00 per hour in fiscal year 2011, and $83.00 per hour in fiscal year 2012. The appeal and overtime hourly fee rate for laboratory services outside the normal business hours are proposed to increase to $93 in FY 2010, to $96 in FY 2011, and to $99 in FY 2012. The holiday hourly fee rate for laboratory services during designated federal holidays are proposed to increase to $108 in FY 2010, to $111 in FY 2011, and to $115 in FY 2012. An increase in the premium hourly rates over the three fiscal years for laboratory services performed on appeal samples, overtime basis, and holidays is also needed since Science and Technology laboratory personnel may be required to work extended hours of service at the time and a half pay or the double hourly pay on legal holidays to accommodate clients. This is due to stakeholder demand for immediate test results. Generally, the processing of all laboratory samples is continuous over a 24/7 timeframe due to the recent introduction of automated devices on several sample process equipment and analytical instruments.

The Agency proposes to recover the actual cost of services for multiple fiscal years (FY 2010 through FY 2012) covered by this proposed rule. This proposed rule updates S&T Programs' facility addresses. It clarifies that results of analyses and laboratory determinations provided by AMS laboratory services apply to the submitted samples only and do not represent the quality, condition or disposition of the lot from which the sample was derived.

Federal salaries with national and locality pay adjustments and choices in benefits are made available on an annual basis by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM). Operational costs include expenses for rents, communications, utilities, medical examinations, safety equipment, sample preparation equipment, training, trash and hazardous waste disposal, travel and transportation costs. There have been certain large capital improvement expenditures in the laboratories in recent years due to unfunded legal mandates. These expenditures include costs for the counter-terrorism Food Emergency Response Network (FERN) and the capital improvements for the Environmental Management Systems (EMS) in accordance with the applicable mandates for Federal laboratories of Executive Order 13423 of January 24, 2007, Strengthening Federal Environmental, Energy, and Transportation Management (72 FR 3919). These capital improvement costs are included in the normal operations of the Science and Technology field service laboratories. In addition, operational costs include expenses for office and laboratory supplies, chemicals, reagents, hazardous waste removal, and a Laboratory Information Management System (LIMS). Infrastructure costs are mainly laboratory instruments and capital equipment with service and maintenance contracts and replacement spare parts. Infrastructure expenses include consumable supply costs associated directly with the proper operation of analytical instruments and laboratory equipment. Stakeholders demand that AMS provide cost effective and timely product testing requiring modern and sometimes automated instrumentation. These instruments are expensive and undergo equipment capitalization for determining costs. Equipment capitalization is the determined cost per year to replace the equipment after its useful service life has been established. Agency overhead is the pro-rated share, attributable to a particular service, of the agency's management and support costs. Overhead expenditures are allocated across the Agency for each direct hour of laboratory service.

There are essentially three standard hourly fee rate increases being proposed for the basic laboratory services—$67 to $78 per hour or 16.4 percent in fiscal year 2010, $78 to $81 per hour or 3.8 percent in fiscal year 2011 and $81 to $83 per hour or 2.5 percent in fiscal year 2012. The rate increases for overtime and appeals are $78 to $93 per hour or 19.2 percent, $93 to $96 per hour or 3.2 percent, and $96 to $99 per hour or 3.1 percent in fiscal years 2010, 2011, and 2012, respectively. The rate increases for legal holiday service are $89 to $108 per hour or 21.3 percent, $108 to $111 per hour or 2.8 percent, and $111 to $115 per hour or 3.6 percent in fiscal years 2010, 2011, and 2012, respectively. This is a voluntary program and the costs to each user would be proportional to their use of laboratory services each year. The increased fees will cover inflation and national and locality pay raises but will not support any new budgetary initiative. The revised hourly fee rates will apply to voluntary laboratory services that are provided for five types of analytical testing: microbiological, physical, residue chemistry, proximate analysis for composition, and biomolecular (DNA-based) testing. A user fee system, using set hourly rates for three fiscal years, is proposed by this rulemaking to ensure that AMS properly recovers its full costs for providing voluntary laboratory services in a timely manner, and that all stakeholders have advance notice of their estimated laboratory fees so that they can make reasonable cost assumptions when formulating their annual budgets.

The largest cost of operations for the AMS laboratory programs is payroll and employee benefits. This obligation is projected to amount to $3,848,000 or 57.6 percent of the total laboratory costs for FY 2010. Recent cross-training of the employees in the laboratories has resulted in the reduction of staff from 67 individuals in FY 2007 to 50 current individuals in FY 2009 as ongoing efforts to limit program costs are implemented. AMS calculated its projected increases in salaries and inflation in fiscal years 2010 through 2012. The estimate for increases in salaries for fiscal year 2009 as the base year and the succeeding years are from the Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) "Federal Pay Raise Assumptions" table. The fiscal year pay adjustments are increased by 3 percent in the following tables of calculated proposed new hourly fee rates for laboratory program services for FY 2010 through FY 2012. The OMB Federal pay raise assumptions (including geographical pay differentials) state that in the development of civilian government personnel costs a yearly percentage (3%) increase shall be used. This information comes from the table, "Federal Pay Raise Assumptions", of the Office of Management and Budget's Fiscal Year 2007 Budget and beyond which is available at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/memoranda/fy2007/m07-02.pdf>.

Inflation for FY 2009 and subsequent years is estimated to be 3.5 percent. In Tables 2 through 10 below a yearly 3.5 percent inflation rate is used in the calculations for hourly fee rate determinations for laboratory program services because the 2007 annual average for the base Consumer Price Index for all Urban Consumers (CPI-U): U.S. city average for service costs is listed as 246.848 in Table 3A. of the referenced Web site and there is a most recent annual average increase of 3.5% to 255.498 for the CPI-U provided for the change in service costs. This estimate for inflation percent (3.5%) can be obtained from Table 3A, "Consumer Price Index for all Urban Consumers (CPI-U): U.S. city average, detailed expenditure categories", which is available at <http://www.bls.gov/cpi/cpid08av.pdf>.

The Agency will initiate, when necessary, another rulemaking to adjust any fee established, if estimated increases for pay and inflation do not adequately cover the Agency's costs of providing the services. The cost of providing laboratory services includes both direct and not explicit overhead costs. Direct costs include the cost of salaries, employee benefits, operation costs, equipment service and replacements, security, training needs, and infrastructure cost. The Agency is able to estimate the employee benefits attributable to overtime work and has included these in the fee rate calculations.

The current and proposed fees for standard, appeal, overtime and legal holiday voluntary laboratory services are listed by type of service in Table 1 below. The first increases ranging from 16.4 to 21.3 percent, from the current rates to the fiscal year 2010 rates, are larger than the subsequent 2011 and 2012 fiscal year increases (2.5 to 3.8 percent range) because these are the first hourly rate increases proposed since last set on March 30, 2007. Therefore, it includes the actual increases in salaries and inflation that have occurred since that date. It also includes changes in personnel numbers and the promotions and within-grade pay step increases for General Schedule (GS) salaries granted worthy employees, and new employee position pay costs.

With this proposed action, the AMS would amend its regulations to provide for three annual differing fee increases in one action. Table 1 shows the summary of the current rates and the proposed hourly fee rates for fiscal years 2010 through 2012 for the four different types of services (regular laboratory, appeal, overtime, and legal holiday work) that Science and Technology Programs employees perform.

With this proposed action, the AMS would amend its regulations to provide for three annual fee increases in one action. In AMS's analysis of projected costs set forth in Tables 2 through 10 below, AMS has identified the basis for the increases in the cost of voluntary hourly fee rates for laboratory services for fiscal year 2010 through fiscal year 2012. These fee increases are essential for the continued sound financial management of the Agency's budget. In order to enhance the transparency of the hourly fee rates in the aforementioned Tables 2 through 10 for fiscal year 2010, fiscal year 2011 and fiscal year 2012, a description is provided of each fee charge category.

⁵ Actual cost of infrastructure ($1,360,000) ÷ (2,080 program hours times 50 program employees) = $13.08 unit cost.
⁶ Actual cost of Agency overhead ($500,000) ÷ (2,080 program hours times 50 program employees) = $4.81 unit cost.
⁷ Cost of FY 2010 Inflation ($125,000) ÷ (2,080 program hours times 50 program employees) = $1.20 unit cost.

In order to project the hourly fee rates for the laboratory program services for fiscal years 2010 through 2012, the current fiscal year 2009 is used as a base. The total base time hourly fee rate calculation (Table 2) for fiscal year 2010 begins with the actual salaries for fiscal year 2009 ($3,029,744) and adds the fiscal year 2010 projected pay adjustments (3 percent) and the fiscal year 2010 cost of employee benefits ($727, 364). Table 2 contains footnotes 1–7 that provide the common mathematical formula used to calculate the apportioned rate for each fee charge category for fiscal year 2010. The formula uses the actual cost or projected cost in dollars for the applicable fiscal year for each individual fee charge program hours (2,080 hours) and further divided by the number of laboratory service program employees (50 people). The formula derives the apportioned fee rate for each fee charge category (salaries with pay adjustment, benefits, operational costs, infrastructure cost, agency overhead and inflation factor at 3.5 percent rate). The same formula that is used in Table 2 and that is indicated in its footnotes is also applied in the other tables to derive each category unit rate with the different actual costs or variable projected costs to be inserted in the formula equation for the applicable fiscal year. See Table 3 through Table 10 below for additional proposed hourly fee rate calculations for laboratory program services for fiscal years 2010 through 2012 to be rounded off to whole number dollar amounts.

Table 3 through Table 4 shows the calculations of the total standard hourly fee rates to be rounded off to $81 and $83 for fiscal years 2011 through 2012, respectively.

laboratory personnel to work extended hours of service at the time and a half pay doing either overtime or appeal sample testing. Federal employee rates of premium pay are described in part 551 of Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) for the Office of Personnel Management (OPM). Section 551.512(a) specifies that Federal employees are entitled to receive overtime premium pay, when overtime work is performed, at one and one-half times the employee's hourly rate of basic pay.

Table 8 through Table 10 shows the calculations of the total legal holiday hourly fee rates to be rounded off to whole dollar amounts for fiscal years 2010 through 2012. These tables incorporate the differentials in costs associated with the necessity of laboratory personnel to work extended hours of service at the double hourly pay rate doing sample testing on a Federal holiday or a designated day for the Federal holiday. Accordingly, 5

CFR, part 532, section 532.507 (a) specifies that Federal employees are entitled to receive holiday premium pay, which is not overtime work, at double the employee's hourly rate of basic pay.

Executive Order 12866

This proposed rule has been determined to be not significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866; and, therefore, has not been reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

Civil Justice Reform (Executive Order 12988)

This proposed rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform. It is not intended to have retroactive effect. There are no administrative procedures which must be exhausted prior to any judicial challenge to this rule or the application of its provisions.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

Pursuant to the requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) (5 U.S.C. 601–612) AMS has considered the economic impact of this action on small entities and has determined that its implementation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses. The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory actions to the scale of businesses subject to such actions so that small businesses will not be disproportionately burdened. There are 499 current stakeholders who voluntarily use the AMS laboratory services annually. Such users of services include food processors, handlers, growers, government agencies, and exporters. The majority of these firms, organizations, and individuals are small businesses under the criteria established by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.201). The increases in annual hourly fee rates as stated will not significantly affect these small businesses as defined in the RFA because this is a voluntary program and the costs to each user would be proportional to their use of laboratory services each year. Any decision by the current stakeholders to discontinue the use of the AMS laboratory services because of increased fees would not hinder the food processors or industry members from marketing their products, since stakeholders may contract for services with other government agencies or private laboratories. The AMS laboratory testing programs are voluntary, user fee services, conducted under the authority of the AMA.

The AMA authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to provide Federal analytical testing services that facilitate marketing and trade with the financial necessity that reasonable fees be collected from the users of the services to cover as nearly as possible the costs of maintaining the programs. AMS regularly reviews its user-fee-supported laboratory service programs to determine if the voluntary fees are adequate and reasonable to cover expenses. The most recent review determined that the existing hourly fee rates, which have been in place since March 30, 2007, will not generate sufficient revenue to recover annual operating costs of laboratory programs and will not maintain adequate end-of-year operating reserve balances in FY 2010, FY 2011, and FY 2012. This decline in revenues is due to lower numbers of samples and a reduction in the number of clients by 312 that is attributable mainly to a shift in usage patterns on the part of applicants for testing services and change to government programs. For example, several federal commodity purchasing programs are now relying heavily on vendor certification rather than government laboratory testing; a larger percentage of aflatoxin analyses and microbiological testing are performed by approved or designated private laboratories; and food and fiber product testing is decreasing due to changing importer country requirements. For analytical purposes, projected collections are based on calculations using an effective date of October 1, 2009 for the proposed fiscal year 2010 user fees. Without a fee increase, FY 2010 revenues are projected at $6,421,000; obligations are projected at $6,676,000, for a fiscal year loss of $256,000 and a depleted trust fund to an 8.0 month end-of-year reserve balance of $4,449,000. In fiscal years 2011 and 2012 additional operating losses for the laboratories are projected. If there are no proposed hourly rate changes agreed upon, the FY 2011 and FY 2012 end-of-year reserve balances will decline from $4,449,000 to $3,984,000 (6.9 months operating reserve), and $3,568,000 (6.0 months operating reserve), respectively.

However, a minimum operating reserve of 11.1 months or an end-of-year trust fund balance amount of $6,173,000 is needed for FY 2010 based on the current shut down analysis and prior experiences, including the permanent closing of the S&T Midwestern Laboratory in Chicago, Illinois on June 30, 2000. The AMS estimates that the raised hourly fee rates in this proposed rule will yield $1,228,000 overall in additional laboratory testing program revenues during FY 2010. This will increase the end-of-year available capital assets in the trust fund from $4,704,000 or 8.8 months of permitted operations in FY 2009 to $5,677,000 or 10.2 months of permitted operations in FY 2010. By forgoing the purchase of new models of analytical equipment and instruments employing up to date technology to replace aging ones in the laboratories, a $500,000 savings in the costs of operations could take place in FY 2010. This will enable AMS to replenish program reserves to an 11 month level, $6,177,000, for FY 2010 that is called for by Agency policy and prudent financial management. With increased revenue from the hourly rate changes, program reserves can be maintained at this level in subsequent fiscal years 2011 and 2012.

This proposed action will raise the fees charged to users of AMS laboratory program services. The Agency expects this rule will yield revised revenues at an estimated $7,649,000 in FY 2010, $7,986,000 in FY 2011, and $8,211,000 in FY 2012 attributable to the increased fee changes to cover the full cost of routine laboratory services, appeal requests, overtime, and legal holiday services for Science and Technology customers and other program stakeholders. This proposal would allow AMS to continue to offer laboratory testing services under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 as amended, to facilitate marketing and allow products to obtain grade designations or meet marketing standards. As such, the program provides a viable option for a wide variety of stakeholders by delivering scientific and analytical support services to the diversified agricultural and food processing community and provides a valuable resource for those businesses and industries that wish to use a USDA shield. By proposing a three year fee increase over FYs 2010, 2011, and 2012 the Agency would help ensure that the fee increases are effective at the beginning of each fiscal year on October 1. An increase over three fiscal years would permit customers and other program stakeholders an opportunity to plan for annual changes in costs of laboratory service and to incorporate them into their budgetary plans.

Finally, this proposed rule updates S&T Programs' facility addresses. It provides clarification that results of analyses and laboratory determinations provided by AMS laboratory services apply to the submitted sample only and do not represent the quality, condition or disposition of the lot from which the sample was derived.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This proposed rule contains no new information collection or recordkeeping requirements that are subject to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520). AMS is committed to implementation of the Government Paperwork Elimination Act which provides for the use of information resources to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of governmental operations, including providing the public with the option of submitting information or transacting business electronically to the extent practicable. USDA has not identified any relevant Federal rules that duplicate, overlap, or conflict with this rule.

Unfunded Mandate Analysis

Title II of the Unfunded Mandate Reform Act of 1995 (UMRA), Public Law 104–4, establishes requirements for Federal agencies to assess the effects of their regulatory actions on State, local, and tribal governments and the private sector. Under section 202 of UMRA, the Department generally must prepare a written statement, including a cost benefit analysis, for proposed and final rules with "Federal mandates" that may result in expenditures to State, local, or tribal governments, in the aggregate, or to the private sector, of $100 million or more in any one year. When such a statement is needed for a rule, section 205 of UMRA generally requires that the Department identify and consider a reasonable number of regulatory alternatives and adopt the least costly, more cost-effective or least burdensome alternative that achieves the objectives of the rule.

This rule contains no Federal mandates (under the regulatory provisions of Title II of the UMRA) that impose costs on State, local, or tribal governments or to the private sector of $100 million or more in any one year. Thus, this rule is not subject to the requirements of section 202 and 205 of UMRA.

Comments

A thirty day comment period is provided for interested persons to comment on this proposed action. All comments received by November 25, 2009 will be considered. Thirty days is deemed appropriate because it's preferable to have any fee increase, if adopted, to be in place as close as possible to the beginning of the 2010 fiscal year, October 1, 2009.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration

9 CFR Part 206

RIN 0580-AB06

Swine Contract Library

AGENCY: Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: On August 11, 2003, the Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration (GIPSA) implemented new Subtitle B of Title II of the Packers and Stockyards Act which was added by the Livestock Mandatory Reporting Act of 1999 (1999 Act), by establishing the Swine Contract Library (SCL). The statutory authority for the library lapsed on September 30, 2005. On October 5, 2006, the Livestock Mandatory Reporting Reauthorization Act (Reauthorization Act) reauthorized the 1999 Act until September 30, 2010, and also amended the swine reporting requirements of the 1999 Act. This proposed rulemaking would re-establish the regulatory authority for the library's continued operation and incorporate certain changes contained within the Reauthorization Act that impact the SCL, as well as make other changes to enhance the library's overall effectiveness and efficiency in response to input from regulated entities and the public. We also intend to request a 3-year extension of and revision to the currently approved information collection in support of the reporting and recordkeeping requirements for the SCL program. This approval is required under the Paperwork Reduction Act.

DATES: We will consider comments we receive by December 28, 2009.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

GIPSA is responsible for the enforcement of the Packers and Stockyards Act of 1921 (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.) (P&S Act or Act). Under authority delegated to GIPSA by the Secretary of Agriculture (Secretary) in Section 407(a) of the P&S Act (7 U.S.C. 228), we are authorized to create regulations necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act.

The 1999 Act (Pub. L. 106-78) amended Title II of the P&S Act to include Subtitle B—Swine Packer Marketing Contracts. The 1999 Act mandated the creation and maintenance of a library of marketing contracts offered by certain packers to producers for the purchase of swine. To implement this legislation, GIPSA established the SCL and promulgated SCL regulations (9 CFR Part 206) requiring that packers, as defined in Subtitle B, Title II, of the P&S Act, file example marketing contracts with GIPSA along with monthly estimates of the number of swine to be delivered under contract. GIPSA compiles this information and makes summary reports available to the public.

On October 22, 2004, the 1999 Act expired and was not reauthorized until December 3, 2004 (Pub. L. 108-444). Authority for the 1999 Act was extended, however, to September 30, 2005. The 1999 Act lapsed again in 2005 and was reauthorized and amended on October 5, 2006, when the Reauthorization Act (Pub. L. 109-296) was signed into law. The 1999 Act is scheduled to once again expire on September 30, 2010.

When the 1999 Act expired in October 2004, GIPSA asked swine packers to continue to comply with the SCL regulations voluntarily. With the information submitted voluntarily by packers, GIPSA has continued to make summary reports available to the public.

This proposed rule would re-establish authority for the SCL regulations (9 CFR Part 206) by amending the regulations' authority citation to include Subtitle B of Title II of the P&S Act (7 U.S.C. 198-198b). In addition to amending the SCL regulations to make them consistent with the Reauthorization Act, we would also amend the SCL regulations to incorporate suggestions received from the public and regulated entities. Specifically, we propose to:

- (1) Revise the definition of "packer" to be consistent with the Reauthorization Act;
- (2) Revise the definitions of several contract types;
- (3) Add definitions of terms used in several contract types to describe the
