SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title: USDA Food Connect Web site.

OMB Number: 0581-0224.

Expiration Date of Approval: December 30, 2010.

Type of Request: Extension of a Currently Approved Information Collection.

Abstract: The information collection requirements in this request are necessary for the operation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food Connect Web site, which operates pursuant to the authority of Section 32 of Public Law 320. The USDA Food Connect Web site supports the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Marketing Service's mission of facilitating the efficient, fair marketing of U.S. agricultural products. Registering to participate on or use the USDA Food Connect Web site is voluntary.

The USDA Food Connect Web site provides a Web-based resource where food processors and distributors register their nutritious, value-added foods for institutional food service professionals to choose from, for the products they require through a neutral venue. Brokers can also list the food processors and regions they represent on the Web site along with food associations' information on their educational resources.

The National School Lunch Program is a Federally assisted meal program operating in over 100,000 public and non-profit private schools and residential childcare institutions. It provides nutritionally balanced, low-cost or free lunches to more than 30.5 million children each school day. In 1998, Congress expanded the National School Lunch Program to include reimbursement for snacks served to children in after-school educational and enrichment programs, to include children through 18 years of age. The USDA Food Connect Web site was developed to assist schools and other feeding programs, such as those serving Native American facilities, health care facilities, prisons, and needy families, to find the most nutritious, value-added foods purchased by the Federal Government.

Institutional food service professionals (public and private schools, the military, Veterans Administration facilities, Native American facilities, health care facilities, colleges and universities, prisons, child care facilities and facilities for needy families) who choose to register on the USDA Food Connect Web site provide the following information: The registrant's name, position, e-mail address, telephone number, school/organization name, and address. Processors who choose to register on the USDA Food Connect Web site provide the following information: Confirmation that the company is eligible to participate in Federal procurement, the registrant's name, position, e-mail address, telephone number, company name, address, country, and whether they are a national or regional processor.

Distributors who choose to register on the USDA Food Connect Web site provide the following information: The registrant's name, position, e-mail address, telephone number, company name, address, country, and whether they are a national or regional distributor. Brokers who choose to register on the USDA Food Connect Web site provide the following information: The registrant's name, position, e-mail address, telephone number, brokerage company name, address, country, and the States they serve. Food related associations who choose to register on the USDA Food Connect Web site provide the following information: The association name, address, city, State, zip code, country, e-mail address, telephone number, and a description of association services. Information provided by institutional food service professionals assists processors, distributors, and brokers to view meal-serving information of a school or organization. Processor and distributor food product and contact information are available to the institutional food service professionals to assist them in locating processors and distributors that handle the food products that they want to use. The information provided by brokers enables institutional food service professionals to know which manufacturers the broker represents, which States the broker serves, and contacts at the brokerage firm. All registrants on the USDA Food Connect Web site will be re-directed to the USDA eAuthentication Web site to register their Level 1 Access (OMB No. 0503-0014). Each new user must create their own login ID and password, to meet the eAuthentication requirements.

The USDA Food Connect Web site has not had any changes since this information collection was approved December 30, 2007. Prior to launching the USDA Food Connect Web site in 2004, the food manufacturers requested changes to streamline the data entry process. These changes were made and the Web site was redeployed October 2006. The changes to the Web site provide processors and distributors with three methods to load product data to the USDA Food Connect Web site. Since deploying the Web site October 2006, the new methods for entering data has dramatically reduced the actual number of responses and burden hours: Total actual responses reduced from an estimate of 1,845 to 374; total burden estimated hours from 292 hours to 53 hours annually. Processors and distributors may continue to enter products one product at a time, but now have the opportunity to download their product information from existing product databases and use a template which they complete and download to the USDA Food Connect Web site.

Estimating Burden: The estimated total burden for revision of a currently approved information collection for the USDA Food Connect Web site once USDA eAuthentication Web site registration is completed is as follows:
