

In addition, a certificate of correction is permissible under 35 U.S.C. 255 only for "a mistake of a clerical or typographical nature, or of minor character." See 35 U.S.C. 255.

Thus, the USPTO has long maintained that a request for a certificate of correction under either 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255 is not an appropriate venue for seeking a change to the patent term adjustment indicated on a patent. See Revision of Patent Term Extension and Patent Term Adjustment Provisions, 69 FR 21704, 21707 (Apr. 22, 2004) (final rule) ("Petitions under [37 CFR] 1.182 or 1.183, or requests for a certificate of correction under either 35 U.S.C. 254 and [37 CFR] 1.323 or 35 U.S.C. 255 and [37 CFR] 1.324, are not substitute fora to obtain reconsideration of a patent term adjustment determination indicated in a notice of allowance if an applicant fails to submit a request for reconsideration within the time period specified in [37 CFR] 1.705(b), or to obtain reconsideration of a patent term adjustment determination indicated in a patent if a patentee fails to submit a request for reconsideration within the time period specified in [37 CFR] 1.705(d)"). The patent term adjustment provisions of 35 U.S.C. 154(b) provide for the establishment of procedures for patent term adjustment determinations, including providing the applicant one opportunity to request reconsideration of any patent term adjustment determination. See 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3). It would render the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3) superfluous if patent term adjustment determinations could be revised at any time during the life of the patent via a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255. In addition, the patent term adjustment provisions of 35 U.S.C. 154(b) are designed to have patent term adjustment issues to be resolved shortly after a patent issues by providing a period of one hundred and eighty days from the grant of the patent for seeking court review of the USPTO's patent term adjustment determination (rather than the six-year statute of limitations otherwise applicable for actions under the Administrative Procedures Act). See 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(4). It would negate the purpose of the one hundred and eighty day period in 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(4) to allow patent term adjustment determinations to be revised at any time during the life of the patent via a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255. Therefore, it is not appropriate to issue a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255 to revise the patent term adjustment indicated in a patent unless it is being revised for consistency with: (1) The patent term adjustment determined via a decision on a request for reconsideration under 37 CFR 1.705; or (2) the total patent term adjustment indicated on the Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) screen that displays the patent term adjustment calculation for the patent.

Accordingly, the USPTO is clarifying that it will treat letters submitted by applicants and patentees stating that the USPTO's patent term adjustment determination indicated on a notice of allowance, issue notification, or patent is greater than what the applicant or patentee believes is appropriate by placing these letters in the file of the application or patent without comment. The USPTO will no longer review these letters or issue certificates of correction under either 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255 on the basis of a review of these letters. In addition, the USPTO will not grant a request for a certificate of correction under either 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255 to revise the patent term adjustment indicated in a patent, except in the two situations discussed previously. If a patentee submits a request for a certificate of correction under either 35 U.S.C. 254 or 255 to revise the patent term adjustment indicated in a patent that includes changes in the patent for which a certificate of correction would be appropriate, the request for a certificate of correction will not be granted unless the patentee submits a new request for a certificate of correction that does not also attempt to revise the patent term adjustment indicated in the patent.

If the applicant or patentee wants the USPTO to reconsider its patent term adjustment determination, the applicant or patentee must use the procedures set forth in 37 CFR 1.705 for requesting reconsideration of a patent term adjustment determination, whether the USPTO's patent term adjustment determination is greater than or less than the adjustment that the applicant or patentee believes to be appropriate. A patentee may also file a terminal disclaimer at any time disclaiming any period considered in excess of the appropriate patent term adjustment. See 35 U.S.C. 253 and 37 CFR 1.321.

However, the USPTO does not require an applicant or patentee to file either a request for reconsideration under 37 CFR 1.705 or a terminal disclaimer when the patent term adjustment indicated on a notice of allowance, issue notification, or patent is greater than what the applicant or patentee believes is appropriate.

The appropriate sections of the MPEP will be revised in accordance with this notice in due course.
