Environmental Impacts Statements; Notice of Availability

Responsible Agency: Office of Federal Activities, General Information (202) 564-1399 or <http://www.epa.gov/compliance/nepa/>. Weekly receipt of Environmental Impact Statements filed 09/20/2010 through 09/24/2010 pursuant to 40 CFR 1506.9.

Notice

In accordance with Section 309(a) of the Clean Air Act, EPA is required to make its comments on EISs issued by other Federal agencies public. Historically, EPA has met this mandate by publishing weekly notices of availability of EPA comments, which includes a brief summary of EPA's comment letters, in the Federal Register. Since February 2008, EPA has been including its comment letters on EISs on its Web site at: <http://www.epa.gov/compliance/nepa/eisdata.html>. Including the entire EIS comment letters on the Web site satisfies the Section 309(a) requirement to make EPA's comments on EISs available to the public. Accordingly, on March 31, 2010, EPA discontinued the publication of the notice of availability of EPA comments in the Federal Register.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

[Docket No. OP-1345]

Policy on Payment System Risk

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board) is announcing the implementation date of March 24, 2011, for revisions to part II of its Policy on Payment System Risk (PSR). The revisions explicitly recognize the role of the central bank in providing intraday credit to healthy depository institutions, and establish a zero fee for collateralized daylight overdrafts, a 50 basis point (annual rate) charge for uncollateralized daylight overdrafts, and a biweekly daylight overdraft fee waiver of $150. The Board approved these revisions in late 2008 for implementation in approximately two years following substantial changes to the Reserve Bank infrastructure.

DATES: Effective Date: The policy will take effect on March 24, 2011.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Jeffrey Marquardt, Deputy Director (202) 452-2360, Susan Foley, Deputy Associate Director (202) 452-3596, or Jeffrey Walker, Manager (202) 721-4559, Division of Reserve Bank Operations and Payment Systems, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; for users of Telecommunications Device for the Deaf ("TDD") only, contact (202) 263-4869.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On December 19, 2008, the Board approved revisions to part II of its PSR policy designed to improve intraday liquidity management and payment flows for the banking system, while also helping to mitigate credit exposures of the Federal Reserve Banks (Reserve Banks) from daylight overdrafts.¹ The revisions formally recognize the role of the central bank in providing intraday credit to depository institutions and encourage them to collateralize explicitly their daylight overdrafts. Collateralized daylight overdrafts will be charged a zero fee, while uncollateralized daylight overdrafts will be charged 50 basis points (annual rate), an increase from the current rate of 36 basis points (annual rate), to encourage the voluntary use of collateral. The Board also approved a biweekly daylight overdraft fee waiver of $150 to minimize the effect of the proposed policy changes on institutions that use small amounts of daylight overdrafts. In addition, the Board changed other elements of the PSR policy dealing with daylight overdrafts, including adjusting net debit caps, streamlining max cap procedures for certain FBOs (implemented in March 2009), eliminating the deductible for daylight overdraft fees, and increasing the penalty daylight overdraft fee for ineligible institutions to 150 basis points (annual rate). The revisions to the PSR policy will become effective on March 24, 2011.

The Board encourages depository institutions to review documentation explaining the implementation of the revised PSR policy. Institutions should review either the Overview of the Federal Reserve's Payment System Risk Policy (Overview) or the Guide to the Federal Reserve's Payment System Risk Policy (the Guide). The purpose of the Overview is to help depository institutions that use only minimal amounts of Federal Reserve intraday credit understand and comply with the PSR policy. The purpose of the Guide is to help institutions that use Federal Reserve intraday credit more regularly, foreign banking organizations, and those that may be considered "special situations" because of their legal structure or payment activity, understand and comply with more detailed aspects of the PSR policy. Versions of the Guide and Overview that have been updated with information related to the revised policy will be available on the Board's Web site later this year at http://www.federalreserve.gov/paymentsystems/psr_relpolicies.htm. The current versions of the Guide and Overview will be available on the Board's Web site until 30 days after the implementation date.

The Federal Reserve will also publish updated guidelines for collateral pledging and withdrawal to help institutions better understand the types of collateral eligible to pledge and the processing steps associated with these types of collateral. This information will be available on the discount window and PSR Web site later this year at <http://www.frbdiscountwindow.org>. In addition, to assist all institutions in understanding the effect of the revised policy on their daylight overdraft fees, the Board created a simplified fee calculator that is located on the Board's Web site at <https://www.federalreserve.gov/apps/RPFCalc/>. The calculator enables institutions to input daylight overdraft and collateral data to estimate their daylight overdraft fees under the revised PSR policy. The calculator will be available until 30 days after the implementation date.

By order of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, September 23, 2010.

Jennifer J. Johnson,

Secretary of the Board.
