

Rules and Regulations

Federal Register

Vol. 76, No. 24

Friday, February 4, 2011

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains regulatory documents having general applicability and legal effect, most of which are keyed to and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, which is published under 50 titles pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 1510.

The Code of Federal Regulations is sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Prices of new books are listed in the first FEDERAL REGISTER issue of each week.

ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE OF THE FEDERAL REGISTER

1 CFR Parts 9, 11, and 12

[AG Order No. 3252–2011]

Regulations Affecting Publication of the United States Government Manual

AGENCY: Administrative Committee of the Federal Register.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Administrative Committee of the Federal Register, with the approval of the Attorney General, is updating its regulations for the Federal Register system to clarify that there is no requirement that the United States Government Manual (Manual) be published and distributed in a print edition. This document also eliminates the requirement to make print copies available to officials of the United States government without charge. The general public and United States government officials will continue to have free access to a redesigned online version of the Manual. Printed copies of the Manual may still be issued and would be available from the U.S. Government Bookstore. This action does not represent an increase in the burdens on agencies or the public.

DATES: This rule is effective March 7, 2011.

ADDRESSES: Docket materials are available at the Office of the Federal Register, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Suite 700, Washington, DC 20001, 202–741–6030. Please contact the persons listed in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section to schedule your inspection of docket materials. The Office of the Federal Register's official hours of business are Monday through Friday, 8:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m., excluding Federal holidays.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Amy P. Bunk, Director of Legal Affairs and Policy, Office of the Federal Register, at Fedreg.legal@nara.gov, or 202–741–6030.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background and Purpose

On June 15th, 2010, the Secretary to the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (Administrative Committee) published a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) to update the Administrative Committee's regulations to clarify that there is no requirement that United States Government Manual (Manual) be published and distributed to the general public and to officials of the Federal government in a print edition. 75 FR 33734. The NPRM also announced the development of a redesigned and more up to date Manual that will be available on the Internet through the Government Printing Office (GPO). Finally, it stated that printed copies of the Manual may still be issued and would be available from the U.S. Government Bookstore.

The Manual has been issued as a special edition of the Federal Register since the publication was transferred to the Office of the Federal Register from the Office of Government Reports within the Bureau of Budget when that Office was abolished on June 30, 1948. The first manual, the United States Government Organization Manual, produced under the authority of regulations of the Administrative Committee, was issued on August 4, 1949, and sold for $1.00 per copy. Then, as now, this publication provides agencies the mechanism for meeting the requirement of the Administrative Procedure Act to separately state and publish in the Federal Register descriptions of agency organization. 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1)(A). Now known as the United States Government Manual (Manual), it continued to be one of the Government Printing Office's (GPO) "best sellers" until public demand for print editions began to decline in favor of more current information found on the Internet.

Discussion of Comments

We received two comments to the NPRM, the first from a law librarian asking if Federal depository libraries would still have the option of obtaining print copies of the Manual. While this rule makes it clear that there is no requirement to print copies of the Manual, the Office of the Federal Register (OFR) and the Government Printing Office (GPO) still have the flexibility to produce a printed product based on the strength of customer demand. In the near term, OFR/GPO expect that there will be sufficient demand from individuals and organizations to produce a print edition of the Manual that will continue to be available to individual patrons and institutions, through the U.S. Government Bookstore, and to libraries through the Federal Depository Library Program. In the long term, the annual print edition of the Manual may be discontinued entirely if customer demand significantly decreases. If that happens, GPO will notify the Federal depository libraries.

The second comment was submitted by a Congressional staffer who stated that he liked the soft bound edition of the Manual because it was useful as a quick reference. He also indicated that the current online version of the Manual could not be downloaded as a single PDF file that includes bookmarks. Finally, he asked if any smart phone applications related to the Manual were under development and suggested that might be a means for GPO to generate revenue.

In its present form, as an annual-only publication, some agency information published in the Manual is out of date as soon as purchasers or federal officials receive their copy. Under the new design, the Manual will be published and officially distributed as a currently updated online database. The new online version of the Manual will contain the same information as has appeared in the print edition. OFR editors will continue to review all material submitted for publication in the Manual to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the Manual. The database structure of the new electronic version of the Manual enables Federal agencies to submit updated information on an ongoing basis, as new officials take office and agency programs undergo changes. It will also enable the public and federal government officials to easily download the Manual for storage on their computers in an easy-to-use format. We believe that providing a currently updated online version will be more useful and a better quick reference than the annually updated print edition of the Manual.

As we stated in the NPRM, as long as the GPO continues to print bound editions of the Manual, it will provide Federal agencies an opportunity to order copies before printing at the rider rate. A rider rate is available before the start of printing production and represents the minimal cost of producing additional copies as a continuation of the initial printing run. After production is complete, Federal agencies and the public will be able to obtain copies from the U.S. Government Bookstore.

The Administrative Committee is not aware of any applications for smart phones currently under development. We hope that the new online version of the Manual encourages both the public and private sectors to develop applications using the information from the Manual. We believe that providing this information in an updated online version meets the administration's open government and transparency goals.

Changes to the Regulations

Under the Federal Register Act (44 U.S.C. Chapter 15), the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (Administrative Committee), with the approval of the Attorney General, is responsible for issuing regulations governing Federal Register publications. The Administrative Committee has general authority under 44 U.S.C. 1506 to determine the manner and form for publishing the Federal Register and its special editions, including the Manual. This publication has been issued as a special edition of the Federal Register since August 4, 1949 and continued to be one of the GPO's "best sellers" until public demand for printed editions began to decline in favor of more current information found on the Internet. The Government Printing Office Electronic Information Access Enhancement Act of 1993 (44 U.S.C. chapter 41) enabled the OFR/GPO partnership to develop an annual online edition of the Manual in both text-only files and PDF files. It is now possible to publish and officially distribute the Manual as an updated online database, which represents a significant improvement over the current online edition of the Manual, which is not regularly updated or easy to navigate. In light of this improved technology and ease of online access to an updated version of the Manual, and given the decline in demand for the printed edition, the Administrative Committee, with the approval of the Attorney General, is amending its regulations to remove the requirement to publish an annual edition of the Manual. A currently updated online database that can be viewed, printed, or copied and stored on a user's computer will replace the soft bound print edition of the Manual.

Title 1 part 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations regulates the publication of the Manual. This rule revises part 9 by removing the requirement to publish an annual edition of the Manual (which is currently issued as a soft bound copy) and making other non-substantive changes to the formatting of the sections. It also makes non-substantive formatting changes to § 11.4 and substantive changes to part 12 to remove § 12.3. Under the FRA, the Administrative Committee is responsible for setting the number of official use copies of Federal Register publications that are distributed free of charge to various offices within the Federal Government. See, 44 U.S.C. 1506(4). To fulfill the requirements of the FRA, 1 CFR part 12, entitled "Official Distribution within Federal Government," sets out the number of official copies of Federal Register publications that various Federal government entities are entitled to receive. Specifically, § 12.3 addresses the number of printed copies of the Manual available to Federal entities without charge. Because the Manual has been published in a print edition that may not adequately serve the needs of Federal officials, the OFR is publishing an online version that is continually updated throughout the year, available free of charge. The Administrative Committee believes that publishing the Manual in a free, electronic-only format to Federal officials for their official use constitutes the distribution of a Federal Register publication for official use without charge, as referred to in the FRA. Thus, the final rule removes § 12.3. These changes to parts 9, 11 and 12 will not expand any regulated community or impose any additional regulatory burden on the public.

Regulatory Analysis

We developed this rule after considering numerous statutes and executive orders related to rulemaking. Below we summarize our analyses based on these statutes and executive orders.

Executive Order 12866

This rule has been drafted in accordance with Executive Order 12866, section 1(b), "Principles of Regulation." The Administrative Committee has determined that this rule is not a significant regulatory action as defined under section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866. The rule has not been submitted to the Office of Management and Budget under section 6(a)(3)(E) of Executive Order 12866.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

This rule will not have a significant impact on small entities since it imposes no requirements. Members of the public can access Federal Register publications free through GPO's Web site.

Federalism

This rule has no federalism implications under Executive Order 13132. It does not impose compliance costs on state or local governments or preempt state law.

Congressional Review

This rule is not a major rule as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2). The Administrative Committee will submit a rule report, including a copy of this rule, to each House of the Congress and to the Comptroller General of the United States as required under the congressional review provisions of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1986.

RIN 0560–AI02

Asparagus Revenue Market Loss Assistance Payment Program

AGENCY: Commodity Credit Corporation and Farm Service Agency, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule implements the Asparagus Revenue Market Loss Assistance Payment (ALAP) Program authorized by the Food, Conservation and Energy Act of 2008 (the 2008 Farm Bill). The ALAP Program will compensate domestic asparagus producers for marketing losses resulting from imports during the 2004 through 2007 crop years. Payments will be calculated based on 2003 crop production. Through the ALAP Program, CCC is authorized to provide up to $15 million in direct payments to asparagus producers. This rule specifies eligibility requirements, payment application procedures, and the method for calculating individual payments.

DATES: Effective date: February 4, 2011.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Danielle Cooke, Program Manager, Farm Service Agency (FSA), USDA; telephone (202) 720–1919. Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communications (Braille, large print, audio tape, etc.) should contact the USDA Target Center at (202) 720–2600 (voice and TDD).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

During the 2004 through 2007 crop years, a substantial increase in asparagus imports to the United States resulted in reduced domestic production, reduced U.S. market share for domestic producers, and reduced market prices for both fresh and processed asparagus in the United States. Section 10404 of the 2008 Farm Bill (Pub. L. 110–246) directs the Secretary of Agriculture to "make payments to producers of the 2007 crop of asparagus for market loss resulting from imports during the 2004 through 2007 crop years." A total of $15 million of Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) funds are authorized for payments, with an allocation of $7.5 million of those funds for payments for asparagus marketed as fresh, and $7.5 million for payments for processed asparagus.

The ALAP Program payment rates are based on CCC's estimate of the reduction in asparagus farm revenue per pound for the 2004 through 2007 crop years in the two marketing categories, fresh and processed. The payment quantity for a producer will be the quantity of the 2003 crop of asparagus produced on a farm, which is used as the "baseline" production amount before the losses in 2004 through 2007 occurred. Producers must have produced asparagus in both 2003 and 2007 to be eligible for this program. If applications exceed the available funding, the payment rates will be adjusted downward to remain within the available funding for each marketing category.

CCC published a proposed rule on July 16, 2010 (75 FR 41397–41404), with a 60-day comment period which ended on September 14, 2010. The proposed rule proposed eligibility requirements, payment application procedures, and the method for calculating ALAP Program payments. This final rule addresses the comments received on the proposed rule; minor revisions were made to address the comments.

The ALAP Program is a CCC program that will be administered by FSA. The ALAP Program provides a one-time payment to asparagus producers. The ALAP Program regulations are specified in 7 CFR part 1429, which is a new part.

Discussion of Comments

FSA received six comments on the proposed rule. The comments were from individual producers, a State advisory board, and a State asparagus commission. The comments generally supported the goals of the ALAP Program. Some comments suggested changes to the eligibility provisions. The following provides a summary of the comments that suggested specific changes to the regulations in the proposed rule, and FSA's response,
