SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background.—In November 2009, the Commission issued unanimous negative preliminary determinations in which it found no reasonable indication that an industry in the United States was materially injured or threatened with material injury by reason of imports of CSSF from China and Taiwan that were allegedly sold in the United States at less-than-fair value and imports of subject merchandise from China that were allegedly subsidized by the Government of China. Nucor Fasteners Division, a domestic producer of CSSF and petitioner, contested the Commission's determination before the U.S. Court of International Trade (CIT). The CIT affirmed certain aspects of the Commission's determination, but remanded two issues to the Commission. It ordered the Commission to take "action consistent with {its} opinion." Nucor Fasteners Division v. United States, Slip. Op. 11–104 at 2, 31 (Ct. Int'l Trade Aug. 11, 2011).

Participation in the proceeding.—Only those persons who were interested parties to the original investigations (i.e., persons listed on the Commission Secretary's service list) and participated in the appeal proceedings before the CIT may participate in the remand proceedings. Such persons need not re-file their appearance notices or protective order applications to participate in the remand proceedings. Business proprietary information ("BPI") referred to during the remand proceedings will be governed, as appropriate, by the administrative protective order issued in the original investigations.

Written submissions.—The Commission is not reopening the record in these remand proceedings for the submission of new factual information. Nonetheless, the Commission will permit the parties to file written comments pertaining to the issues that
