Title: Qualitative Testing of Mortgage Servicing Related Model Forms and Disclosures.

Description: The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, Public Law No. 111–203, Title XIV (the “Dodd-Frank Act”), requires CFPB to publish, in final form, certain mortgage servicing rules by January 21, 2013. These rules implement Sections 1418 (Reset of Hybrid Adjustable Rate Mortgages), 1420 (Periodic Mortgage Loan Statements) and 1463 (Force-Placed Insurance Disclosures) of the Dodd-Frank Act. The CFPB has determined that model forms and disclosures are required for these rules.

The CFPB will collect data, including through one-on-one cognitive think-aloud interviews, to inform its design, development and implementation of the required forms. The CFPB will use an iterative process to improve any drafts to make it easier for a consumer to use the documents and understand the information presented in the documents with respect the consumer’s mortgage loan.

The data collection will include:

- Consent forms that will be used to obtain the consent of participants for the cognitive interview process;
- Participant questionnaires to obtain demographic information about the participants; and

- Interview protocols for conducting the interviews.

The core objective of the data collection is to help refine specific features of the content and design of the forms to maximize communication effectiveness while minimizing compliance burden. The CFPB will evaluate one or more draft forms through iterative qualitative testing with consumers, including observation of consumers’ usage of the disclosures, their understanding of the contents, and the choices they make.

The qualitative testing is focused on the purposes of the disclosures. These purposes include, among other things:

- With respect to mortgage loan periodic statements, improving consumer understanding by better disclosing information regarding the consumer’s mortgage loan;
- With respect to disclosures concerning interest rate adjustments for hybrid adjustable rate mortgages, informing consumers of pending interest rate adjustments, enabling a consumer to consider alternative options with respect to the consumer’s mortgage loan, and providing information to a consumer to facilitate pursuing such alternative options; and
- With respect to force-placed insurance disclosures, reminding a consumer of the obligation to maintain hazard insurance on the property securing a mortgage; informing the consumer that the servicer does not have evidence of hazard insurance coverage, informing the consumer of the manner in which the consumer may demonstrate to a mortgage servicer that the consumer has obtained hazard insurance coverage, and informing the consumer that if the consumer fails to obtain hazard insurance coverage, the lender may obtain such coverage at the consumer’s expense.

The CFPB plans to test at three sites in three rounds to allow for improvement to the forms between rounds. Below is an estimate of the aggregate burden hours for the three rounds of testing.

Process	Number of respondents	Average burden per response (in minutes)	Total burden hours
Cognitive Think-Aloud Interviews	36	60	36

Title: Virus-Serum-Toxin Act and Regulations in 9 CFR, Subchapter E, Parts 101-124.

OMB Control Number: 0579-0013.

Summary of Collection: The Virus-Serum-Toxin Act (37 Stat. 832-833, 21 U.S.C. 151-159) gives the United States Department of Agriculture, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) the authority to promulgate regulations designed to prevent the importation, preparation, sale, or shipment of harmful veterinary biological products. A veterinary biological product is defined as all viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products of natural or synthetic origin. In order to effectively implement the licensing, production, labeling, importation, and other requirements, APHIS employs a number of information gathering tools such as establishment license applications, product license applications, product permit applications, product and test report forms and field study summaries.

Need and Use of the Information:

APHIS uses the information collected as a primary basis for the approval or acceptance of issuing licenses or permits to ensure veterinary biological products that are used in the United States are pure, safe, potent, and effective. Also, APHIS uses the information to monitor the serials for purity, safety, potency and efficacy that are produced by licensed manufacturers prior to their release for marketing. Failing to collect this information would severely cripple APHIS' ability to prevent harmful veterinary biologics from being distributed in the United States.
