Abstract: On December 12, 2002, the Federal Reserve published a Federal Register notice¹ adopting Regulation W (Reg W) to implement sections 23A and 23B. Reg W was effective April 1, 2003. The Board issued Reg W for several reasons. First, the regulatory framework established by the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act² emphasized the importance of sections 23A and 23B as a means to protect depository institutions from losses in transactions with affiliates. Second, adoption of a comprehensive rule simplified the interpretation and application of sections 23A and 23B, ensured that the statute is consistently interpreted and applied, and minimized burden on banking organizations to the extent consistent with the statute's goals. Third, issuing a comprehensive rule allowed the public an opportunity to comment on Federal Reserve interpretations of sections 23A and 23B.

The information collection requirements associated with Regulation W comprise four notices: (1) The Loan Participation Renewal notice (12 CFR 223.15(b)(4)), which is a condition to an exemption for renewals of loan participations involving problem loans; (2) the Acquisition notice (12 CFR 223.31(d)(4)), which is a condition to an exemption for a depository institution's acquisition of an affiliate that becomes an operating subsidiary of the institution after the acquisition; (3) the Internal Corporate Reorganization Transactions notice (12 CFR 223.41(d)(2)), which is a condition to an exemption for internal corporate reorganization transactions; and (4) the Section 23A Additional Exemption notice (12 CFR 223.43(b)), which provides procedures for requesting additional exemptions from the requirements of section 23A. These notifications are event-generated and must be provided to the appropriate federal banking agency and, if applicable, the Federal Reserve Board within the time periods established by the law and regulation.

Current Actions: On March 14, 2012, the Federal Reserve published a notice in the Federal Register (77 FR 15108) requesting public comment for 60 days on the extension, without revision, of the FR 2064 and Reg W. The comment period for this notice expired on May 14, 2012. The Federal Reserve did not receive any comments.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, May 17, 2012.

Robert deV. Frierson,
Deputy Secretary of the Board.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Hepatitis C virus infection is a contagious liver disease that ranges in severity from a mild illness lasting a few weeks to a serious, lifelong illness. It results from infection with the hepatitis C virus (HCV), which is spread primarily through contact with the blood of an infected individual. In approximately 75%–85% of persons, HCV persists as a chronic infection, which places infected persons at risk for liver cirrhosis, liver cancer or hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC), and complications involving other organ systems that develop over the decades following onset of infection. HCV infection status is determined by a blood test.

In the United States an estimated 2.7–3.9 million persons are living with HCV infection. Cirrhosis, HCC and HCV-related mortality have been increasing among persons infected with HCV, and these outcomes are projected to increase significantly in the coming decades. HCV-infected persons who are aware of their infection can benefit from health services to prevent additional harm to the liver (e.g., hepatitis A virus and hepatitis B virus vaccination), medical monitoring, and behavioral changes (e.g., reductions in alcohol use). Further, anti-viral therapies can clear HCV from the system (i.e., a virologic cure) and halt disease progression for many patients living with HCV infection.

CDC is seeking public comment on these Recommendations, particularly concerning the following questions:

(1) Are there other data, evidence, or studies to consider regarding:

a. The burden of HCV infection morbidity, and mortality in the populations for whom testing is recommended?

b. The number of persons living with HCV who are unaware of their infection status?

c. The benefits and harms of HCV testing, care and treatment?

d. The cost effectiveness of the proposed recommendations?

e. Settings in a community where testing should be targeted?

(2) Are there other factors, e.g., other scientific studies not referenced, which should be considered in the development of the Recommendations?

(3) Are there any other comments about the utility of the information?

Dated: May 15, 2012.

Tanja Popovic,

Deputy Associate Director for Science, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
