Background

The Transportation Security Administration is responsible for security in all modes of transportation and performs passenger and baggage screening at the Nation's airports. Prior to the implementation of the TSA Secure Flight program, this screening was supplemented by aircraft operators who performed passenger watch list matching against the federal No Fly and Selectee Lists, as required under security directives issued by TSA in 2002. Aircraft operators also conducted this watch list matching process for certain non-traveling individuals¹ authorized to enter the sterile area² of an airport.

The National Commission on Terrorist Attacks Upon the United States (the 9/11 Commission) recommended that watch list matching be performed by TSA using the "larger set of watch lists maintained by the Federal Government."³ In response, under section 4012(a)(1)-(2) of the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004 (IRTPA),⁴ Congress directed TSA and DHS to assume from aircraft operators the function of comparing airline passenger information to data in the Terrorist Screening Database (TSDB) maintained by the Terrorist Screening Center (TSC).⁵ Consistent with this statutory

¹ "Non-traveling individual" or "non-traveler" means an individual to whom a covered aircraft operator or covered airport seeks to issue an authorization to enter the sterile area of an airport in order to escort a minor or passenger with disabilities or for some other purpose permitted by TSA. The term does not include employees or agents of an airport or aircraft operators or other individuals whose access to a sterile area is governed by another TSA requirement. 49 CFR 1560.3.

² "Sterile area" means a portion of an airport defined in the airport security program that provides passengers access to boarding aircraft and to which the access generally is controlled by TSA, an aircraft operator, or a foreign air carrier through the screening of persons and property. 49 CFR 1504.5.
