

discretionary authority described in section 303(b)(2)(B) of the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSA), where fishing may be restricted in order to protect deep-sea corals from physical damage caused by fishing gear. Such zones would be located within the geographical range of the MSB fishery, as described in the FMP. However, management measures may apply to any MSA-regulated fishing activity within this range. Therefore, any measures pursued under this authority would likely apply to all federally managed fisheries within the geographic range of the MSB fisheries. The geographical range of this fishery includes the coastal and EEZ waters of the U.S. East Coast, with a core fishery management area from North Carolina to Maine.

- Designation of deep-sea corals as a component of EFH or as Habitat Areas of Particular Concern (HAPCs).
- Measures to minimize bycatch of deep-sea coral species.
- Special access programs to provide for continued fishing in or near deep-sea coral areas for specific fisheries or gear types.
- Exploratory fishing programs to allow for future development of new fisheries in a way that protects deep-sea corals.

The Mid-Atlantic Council is seeking comments on the scope of alternatives to be considered in this amendment, as well as general comments or concerns relating to deep-sea coral protections in the mid-Atlantic.
