Background

Emergent literacy achievement data will be collected from preschool students enrolled at select Minnesota preschools at three time points (i.e., fall, winter, and spring) during the 2013–2014 school years. The Individual Growth and Development Indicators (IGDI) assessment will be used to collect achievement data on five critical emergent literacy skills: rhyming, picture naming, alliteration, letter name fluency, and letter sound fluency. The IGDI assessment is a research-validated and reliable tool that measures growth in each of these skills over time. Data from the assessment will be used to measure the impact of preschool instruction on students in the Minnesota Reading Corps program.

Information also will be collected, via survey, from individuals who served as tutors in the Minnesota Reading Corps for the 2012–2013 school years. This survey will be a follow-up data collection effort to a baseline survey conducted September through December of 2012. The survey will assess the effects of service in Minnesota Reading Corps on members' personal and professional goals, as well as program satisfaction, education, employment, and civic engagement.

CNCS seeks to renew the current information collection. The information collection will otherwise be used in the same manner as the existing application. CNCS also seeks to continue using the current application until the revised application is approved by OMB. The current application is due to expire on September 30, 2015.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is in the process of developing a targeted research and development roadmap to address grid challenges that will help guide investments over the next five years. Accordingly, DOE is compiling key reference material and input from a very broad scope of stakeholders from across all sectors of the electricity grid. This process entails convening workshops and leveraging reference material regarding various aspects of the grid—including (but not limited to) smart grid, energy storage, cyber security, advanced computation—and investigating integration issues within the transmission and distribution systems.

Each of the discussion summary documents is the product of separate workshops hosted by the DOE's Grid Tech Team (GTT). Each workshop was posted publicly online and announced through outreach to stakeholders across various sectors of the industry. The intent was to encourage participation by the broadest scope of stakeholders as possible. The Distribution Workshop was held on September 24–26, 2012; the Transmission Workshop took place on November 1–2, 2012. The workshops were held at separate conference facilities in Arlington, Virginia.
