

ensures that information is in the desired format, reporting burden (time and costs) is minimal, collection instruments are understandable, and OSHA's estimate of the information collection burden is correct. The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (the OSH Act) authorizes information collection by employers as necessary or appropriate for enforcement of the OSH Act, or for developing information regarding the causes and prevention of occupational injuries, illnesses, and accidents (29 U.S.C. 657).

The Standards on Construction Fall Protection Systems Criteria and Practices (29 CFR 1926.502) and Training Requirements (29 CFR 1926.503) ensure that employers provide the required fall protection for their workers. Accordingly, these standards have the following paperwork requirements: Paragraphs (c)(4)(ii) and (k) of 29 CFR 1926.502, which specify certification of safety nets and development of fall protection plans, respectively, and paragraph (b) of 29 CFR 1926.503, which requires employers to certify training records. The training certification requirement specified in paragraph (b) of 29 CFR 1926.503 documents the training provided to workers potentially exposed to fall hazards in construction. A competent person must train these workers to recognize fall hazards and in the use of procedures and equipment that minimize these hazards. An employer must verify compliance with this training requirement by preparing and maintaining a written certification record that contains the name or other identifier of the worker receiving the training, the date(s) of the training, and the signature of the competent person who conducted the training, or of the employer.

II. Special Issues for Comment

OSHA has a particular interest in comments on the following issues:

- Whether the proposed information collection requirements are necessary for the proper performance of the Agency's functions, including whether the information is useful;
- The accuracy of OSHA's estimate of the burden (time and costs) of the information collection requirements, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- The quality, utility, and clarity of the information collected; and
- Ways to minimize the burden on employers who must comply; for example, by using automated or other technological information collection and transmission techniques.

III. Proposed Actions

OSHA is requesting that OMB extend its approval of the collection of information requirements contained in the Construction Standards on Fall Protection Systems Criteria and Practices (29 CFR 1926.502) and Training Requirements (29 CFR 1926.503). OSHA is requesting a 33,076 burden hour reduction, from 457,108 hours to 424,032, as a result of decreasing the number of affected workers based on more recent data. The Agency will summarize the comments submitted in response to this notice and will include this summary in the request to OMB.

OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

Interim Final Appendix D of OMB Circular No. A-123, "Management's Responsibility for Internal Control," and Suspension of Application of OMB Circular No. A-127, "Financial Management Systems"

September 27, 2013.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: OMB Circular No. A-123, "Management's Responsibility for Internal Control," defines management's responsibility for internal control in Federal agencies. OMB Circular No. A-127, "Financial Management Systems," previously prescribed policies and standards for executive departments and agencies to follow in developing, operating, evaluating, and reporting on financial management systems. OMB is issuing this interim final version of a new appendix, Appendix D, to Circular A-123, to provide a framework for determining compliance with the Federal Financial Management Improvement Act (FFMIA) of 1996, bringing financial systems policy into greater alignment with financial management policy in Circular A-123 and with general IT guidance contained in OMB Circular No. A-130, "Management of Federal Information Resources." The new appendix to Circular A-123 supersedes, and makes it no longer necessary to maintain, Circular A-127. Accordingly, OMB is suspending application of Circular A-127.

DATES: The interim final version of Appendix D to OMB Circular No. A-123 is effective October 1, 2013. Comments on the interim final revision must be received on or before October 31, 2013.

ADDRESSES: Comments must be submitted electronically at www.regulations.gov. In submitting comments, please search for recent submissions, which includes the full text of the new appendix to Circular A-123, and submit comments there.

To View This Issuance: The complete text of Appendix D of Circular A-123 is available on the OMB Web site at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/omb/memoranda/2013/m-13-23.pdf> under "Memoranda 2013." Copies of the OMB Circulars that are discussed in this notice are available on OMB's Web site at http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars_default/.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information about this interim final action, contact Michael S. Wetklow, Chief, Accountability, Performance, and Reporting Branch within OMB's Office of Federal Financial Management (mwetklow@omb.eop.gov).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: OMB is issuing a new appendix, Appendix D, to Circular A-123. The new appendix states new requirements for determining compliance with the FFMIA. In particular, the new appendix:

- Replaces "check the box" compliance approaches with an outcome based approach to assess FFMIA compliance and establishes a series of financial management goals that are common to all Federal agencies;
- Removes unnecessary financial management system requirements that drive complexity and cost and focuses on requirements that emphasize the Federal Government's business and information needs;

- Eliminates the lengthy and resource intense financial system software test and certification program as well as the requirement that financial management system requirements be met through a single technology product and emphasizes the deployment of newer, cost-effective technology through shared service approaches; and

- Solidifies the Department of the Treasury's role in achieving Government-wide financial systems policy goals by adding responsibilities (1) to develop and maintain, in coordination with OMB and Federal agencies, Federal financial management system requirements and (2) to publish the requirements in the Treasury Financial Manual.

The new appendix builds on recent policies, including OMB Memorandum M-10-26 of June 28, 2010, Immediate Review of Financial Systems IT Projects (http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/omb/assets/memoranda_2010/m-10-26.pdf), and Memorandum M-13-08 of March 25, 2013, Improving Financial Systems through Shared Services (<http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/omb/memoranda/2013/m-13-08.pdf>).

The new appendix is effective October 1, 2013. The new appendix supersedes, and makes it unnecessary to maintain, Circular A-127. Accordingly, OMB is suspending application of Circular A-127.

Norman S. Dong,
Deputy Controller.
