

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-71195; File No. SR-FINRA-2013-047]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc.; Order Approving a Proposed Rule Change To Amend FINRA Rule 8312 (FINRA BrokerCheck Disclosure) To Include Information About the Member Firms and Their Associated Persons of Any Registered National Securities Exchange That Uses the CRD System for Registration Purposes

December 27, 2013.

I. Introduction

On November 1, 2013, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"),¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² a proposed rule change to amend FINRA Rule 8312 (FINRA BrokerCheck Disclosure) to include in BrokerCheck information about the members and their associated persons of any registered national securities exchange that uses the Central Registration Depository ("CRD[®]") for registration purposes. The proposal was published for comment in the Federal Register on November 20, 2013.³ The Commission received two comments on the proposal.⁴ This order approves the proposed rule change.

II. Description of the Proposal

In 2006, Congress amended Section 15A(i) of the Act⁵ with the enactment of the Military Personnel Financial Services Protection Act.⁶ The amendment added a requirement that FINRA maintain a toll-free telephone listing and a readily accessible electronic or other process to receive and promptly respond to inquiries regarding registration information on the members and their associated persons of any registered national securities exchange that uses the CRD system to register its members and their associated persons ("CRD Exchange").⁷

BrokerCheck provides the public with information on the professional background, business practices, and conduct of FINRA member firms and their associated persons. The information that FINRA releases to the public through BrokerCheck is derived from the CRD system, the securities industry online registration and licensing database. FINRA member firms, their associated persons, and regulators report information to the CRD system via the uniform registration forms. By making certain of this information publicly available, BrokerCheck, among other things, helps investors make informed choices about the FINRA member firms and their associated persons with which they conduct business. BrokerCheck allows investors and others to obtain registration information about FINRA member firms and their associated persons by telephone and the Internet.⁸

The registration information currently available through BrokerCheck is limited to firms that are currently or were previously members of FINRA and the associated persons of such firms. BrokerCheck does not contain information regarding firms or the associated persons of such firms, if the firms were only members of a registered national securities exchange (although such information is contained in the CRD system).

The proposed rule change would amend FINRA Rule 8312 to include these non-FINRA member firms and their associated persons in BrokerCheck. Specifically, the proposed rule change would make publicly available in BrokerCheck information about members and their associated persons of any CRD Exchange.⁹ The information that would be disclosed through BrokerCheck about CRD Exchange members and their associated persons would be the same as the information disclosed about FINRA members and their associated persons pursuant to FINRA Rule 8312. CRD Exchange members and their associated persons would be able to dispute inaccuracies in their BrokerCheck reports as provided for in FINRA Rule 8312(e).¹⁰

Summary of Comments

The Commission received two comment letters on the proposed rule change.¹¹ Both comments support the proposal. One commenter states "The significance of increasing public customers' awareness and access to background information about the member and/or associated person handling or potentially handling their account cannot be understated."¹² The commenter suggests FINRA should include in BrokerCheck all information that is available on CRD reports from state regulators, eliminate time constraints for disclosure of information in BrokerCheck, and include in BrokerCheck disclosures about an associated person's educational background and professional designation.¹³ While these comments are outside of the scope of the current proposal, they are legitimate and FINRA should consider them.

III. Discussion and Commission Findings

After carefully reviewing the proposed rule change and the comment letters, the Commission finds that the proposal is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities association.¹⁴ In particular, the Commission finds that the proposal is consistent with Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,¹⁵ which requires, among other things, that FINRA's rules be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest.

Specifically, the Commission believes that the proposal will enhance investor

⁷ Section 15A(i) of the Act defines registration information as "the information reported in connection with the registration or licensing of brokers and dealers and their associated persons, including disciplinary actions, regulatory, judicial, and arbitration proceedings, and other information required by law, or exchange or association rule, and the source and status of such information."

⁸ The BrokerCheck Hotline telephone number is (800) 289-9999. BrokerCheck is available online at <http://www.finra.org/Investors/ToolsCalculators/BrokerCheck>.

⁹ Firms and individuals that have been registered exclusively with a CRD Exchange will be included in BrokerCheck only if they were registered on or after August 16, 1999. According to FINRA, filings for those firms and individuals whose registrations terminated before August 16, 1999, were not made electronically, so BrokerCheck reports for such firms and individuals cannot be made in an automated fashion. See proposed Supplementary Material .03 to FINRA Rule 8312.

¹⁰ The proposed rule change also makes non-substantive technical changes to FINRA Rule 8312 to reflect a change in FINRA's style convention for referencing the CRD system.

protection by making available, via BrokerCheck, information regarding the professional background, business practices, and conduct of firms and associated persons that were members solely of a national securities exchange. Making this information available via BrokerCheck harmonizes the disclosure across the securities industry. The information is relevant to investors and members of the public who wish to educate themselves with respect to a firm or the professional history of a current or formerly associated person of a CRD Exchange. Further, the public's ability to access information regarding a firm or current or former associated person, whether the individual is or was associated with FINRA or with any national securities exchange that uses CRD for registration purposes, may serve to protect investors, the integrity of the marketplace, and the public interest. The Commission urges the public to utilize BrokerCheck as well as all other sources of information, particularly the databases of the state regulators, as well as legal search engines, and records searches, to conduct a thorough search of a firm or any associated person's activities.

Furthermore, the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(i)(1) of the Act,¹⁶ which require, among other things, that FINRA maintain a toll-free telephone listing and a readily accessible electronic or other process to receive and promptly respond to inquiries regarding registration information on CRD Exchange members and their associated persons. The proposed amendments require FINRA to release information through BrokerCheck about CRD Exchange members and their associated persons,¹⁷ harmonizing the information available about broker-dealers and their associated persons across the industry.

Finally, the Commission reiterates the need for FINRA to continuously strive to improve BrokerCheck to enhance its value as a tool for the public to use in deciding whether to work with a firm or a particular associated person.¹⁸ The suggestions for enhancement made by the commenter while outside the scope of this proposal should be considered.

IV. Conclusion

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act,¹⁹ that the

OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE

2014 Special 301 Review: Identification of Countries Under Section 182 of the Trade Act of 1974: Request for Public Comment and Announcement of Public Hearing

AGENCY: Office of the United States Trade Representative.

ACTION: Request for written submissions from the public and announcement of public hearing.

SUMMARY: Section 182 of the Trade Act of 1974 (Trade Act) (19 U.S.C. 2242) requires the United States Trade Representative (Trade Representative) to identify countries that deny adequate and effective protection of intellectual property rights (IPR) or deny fair and equitable market access to U.S. persons who rely on intellectual property protection. The provisions of Section 182 are commonly referred to as the "Special 301" provisions of the Trade Act. The Trade Act requires the Trade Representative to determine which, if any, of these countries to identify as Priority Foreign Countries. Acts, policies, or practices that are the basis of a country's identification as a Priority Foreign Country can be subject to the procedures set out in sections 301-305 of the Trade Act.

In addition, the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) has created a "Priority Watch List" and "Watch List" to assist the Administration in pursuing the goals of the Special 301 provisions. Placement of a trading partner on the Priority Watch List or Watch List indicates that particular problems exist in that country with respect to IPR protection, enforcement, or market access for persons that rely on intellectual property protection.
