

Respondent used three different methods to obtain photographs for posting on the Web site. First, he requested that submitters send him nude photographs of other people along with personal information about the subject of each photograph, including the subject's first and last name, city, state, phone number, and link to their Facebook profile. Second, Respondent obtained photographs by posing as a woman on the Craigslist advertising Web site and, after sending women photographs purportedly of himself, solicited photographs of them with their intimate parts exposed in return. When they did provide such photographs, Respondent posted them on his Web site without their permission. Third, Respondent instituted a "bounty system" on the Web site, whereby anyone could request that others find and post photos of a specific person in exchange for a reward of at least $100. Respondent posted the photographs and personal information he obtained without the permission of the subject of each photograph. In some instances, he added other personal information about the subjects based on his own research. In total, Respondent posted photographs and accompanying personal information of more than 1,000 people, the vast majority of whom were women. Respondent also advertised content removal services called "Takedown Hammer" and "Takedown Lawyer," which promised to remove consumers' content from the Web site for a substantial sum of money. In fact, Respondent himself owned these services, thereby attempting to obtain money to remove the same photographs that he had posted.

The Commission's complaint alleges two violations of the FTC Act. Count I alleges that Respondent unfairly disseminated photographs of individuals with their intimate parts exposed, along with personal information about them, for commercial gain and without the knowledge or consent of those depicted, despite the fact that he knew or should have known that the individuals had a reasonable expectation their image would not be disseminated in that manner. Count II alleges that Respondent deceptively solicited photographs from individuals of themselves with their intimate parts exposed by misrepresenting that he would use such photographs solely for his personal private use.

The proposed order contains provisions designed to prevent Respondent from engaging in the future in practices similar to those alleged in the complaint. Part I prohibits Respondent from disseminating, through a Web site or online service, a video or photograph of an individual with his or her intimate parts exposed without: (1) Disclosing to the individual that he will disseminate the image through a Web site and for commercial gain; and (2) obtaining affirmative express consent in writing from the individual for such dissemination.

Part II of the proposed order prohibits Respondent from, in connection with offering for sale any good or service, misrepresenting: (1) His collection, use, disclosure, or deletion of personal information; (2) his identity; or (3) the identity of those providing content or sponsoring advertising on a Web site. Part III of the proposed order prohibits Respondent from disclosing or benefitting from the images and personal information he obtained in connection with his Web site. Further, it requires him to destroy such images and personal information within 30 days of entry of the order.

Parts IV through VIII of the proposed order are reporting and compliance provisions. Part IV requires Respondent to retain documents relating to his compliance with the order for five years. Part V requires dissemination of the order to all current and future employees, agents, and representatives having responsibilities relating to the subject matter of the order. Part VI ensures notification to the FTC of changes in Respondent's business or employment. Part VII mandates that Respondent submit a compliance report to the FTC within 60 days, and periodically thereafter as requested. Part VIII is a provision "sunsetting" the order after 20 years, with certain exceptions.

The purpose of this analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the proposed complaint or order or to modify the order's terms in any way.

By direction of the Commission.

Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission (“FTC” or “Commission”) has accepted, subject to final approval, an agreement containing a consent order from Finance Select, Inc. The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for thirty (30) days for receipt of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After thirty (30) days, the FTC will again review the agreement and the comments received, and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement and take appropriate action or make final the agreement’s proposed order.

The respondent is a car title loan company. According to the FTC complaint, respondent has advertised its loans with advertisements that broadly state that the title loans are available for “1st 30 Days 0%.” In much smaller print, these advertisements state “New Customers Only.” However, respondent’s advertisements fail to disclose that unless the loan is completely repaid in 30 days, the 0% offer does not apply and there is a significant finance charge. If a consumer does not repay the loan in full in 30 days, he or she would then be required to pay the finance charge for the first 30 days in addition to any additional finance charges incurred on day 31 (to start the second 30-day period). The advertisements also fail to disclose the amount of the finance charge after expiration of the 30-day introductory period. The proposed complaint alleges that these material omissions constitute a deceptive act or practice under Section 5 of the FTC Act.

The proposed order is designed to prevent the respondent from engaging in similar deceptive practices in the future. Part I prohibits the respondent from stating an introductory or temporary finance charge without disclosing, clearly and conspicuously, the finance charge after the introductory or temporary period ends; or the full effect of failing to make a timely complete repayment of the loan within the introductory or temporary time period. Respondent must further disclose all qualifying terms associated with obtaining the loan at its advertised rate, including but not limited to, minimum loan requirements, new customer requirements, and any other material term; all costs associated with obtaining the loan, including but not limited to transaction costs. Respondent also cannot misrepresent registration costs or fees, recording costs or fees, and title fees; and respondent cannot misrepresent any other material fact about the terms of the loan.

Parts II through VI of the proposed order are reporting and compliance provisions. Part II is an order distribution provision that requires respondent to provide the order to current and future principals, officers, directors, and managers and to all current employees, agents, and representatives having responsibilities with respect to the advertisement of consumer credit. Part III of the proposed order requires respondent to maintain and upon request make available to the Commission certain compliance-related records, including all advertisements and also consumer complaints and records that demonstrate compliance with the proposed order for a period of five years. Part IV requires respondent to notify the Commission of corporate changes that may affect compliance obligations within 30 days of such a change. Part V requires respondent to submit a compliance report to the Commission 60 days after entry of the order, and also additional compliance reports within 10 business days of a written request by the Commission. Part VI “sunsets” the order after 20 years, with certain exceptions.

The purpose of this analysis is to aid public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the complaint or proposed order, or to modify in any way the proposed order's terms.
