SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

On July 9, 2012, the President signed FDASIA (Pub. L. 112-144) into law. Section 907 of FDASIA directed FDA to publish and provide to Congress a report "addressing the extent to which clinical trial participation and the inclusion of safety and effectiveness data by demographic subgroups, including sex, age, race, and ethnicity, is included in applications submitted to the Food and Drug Administration." Section 907 of FDASIA also directed that 1 year after the publication of the report FDA publish and provide to Congress an action plan outlining "recommendations for improving the completeness and quality of analyses of data on demographic subgroups in summaries of product safety and effectiveness data and in labeling; on the inclusion of such data, or the lack of availability of such data, in labeling; and on improving the public availability of such data to patients, healthcare providers, and researchers" and to indicate the applicability of these recommendations to the types of medical products addressed in section 907. To fulfill these directives, an FDA-wide steering committee with representatives from CBER, CDER, CDRH, and the Office of the Commissioner (OC) conducted a detailed assessment of the 72 new drug, biologic, and medical device applications the Agency approved in 2011. In August 2013, FDA issued a report on the group's findings entitled "Collection, Analysis, and Availability of Demographic Subgroup Data for FDA-Approved Medical Products." In August 2014, FDA followed up with a report entitled "FDA Action Plan to Enhance the Collection and Availability of Demographic Subgroup Data," which contained 27 action items divided up into three overriding priorities: Data quality, subgroup participation, and data transparency.

The purpose of the public meeting is to report on FDA's progress implementing the Action Plan, to discuss how stakeholders have been affected by these changes, and to solicit feedback and recommendations for further implementation from interested parties and stakeholders.

Some questions we would like the public to comment on during the meeting include:

1. What approaches have been successful in addressing key barriers to recruiting diverse clinical trial populations?
2. What are your key limitations to conducting meaningful data analysis of underrepresented groups?
3. What have you learned about best practices for recruiting a broad representation of subjects for clinical trials? Which practices have been successful and why? Which have not and why?
4. What communication strategies have you successfully used that were also sensitive to the needs of underrepresented populations?
5. What are potential methods FDA should consider using to effectively communicate meaningful information on demographic analyses to a diverse public?
6. What are some of the actual or potential unintended consequences of data transparency you have encountered related to reporting demographic subgroup analysis?

Stakeholders are invited to provide brief comments on these topics during the public comment portion of the meeting, but are not limited to discussing only the previous topics. Since the day-long meeting may not provide enough time to fully address all of these issues, we encourage interested groups to submit longer explanations and comments to the docket.

II. Registration and Request for Oral Presentations

FDA will try to accommodate all participant requests to speak; however, the duration of comments may be limited by time constraints. Those wishing to make oral presentations will be asked to send a brief summary of their comments and registration information (including name, title, firm name, address, telephone, email address, and fax number), and should register by February 1, 2016, by emailing FDASIA907@fda.hhs.gov.

All other participants are asked to register online at: <http://www.fda.gov/ForHealthProfessionals/LearningActivities/ucm470074.htm> by February 13, 2016, whether they plan to attend in person or listen to the meeting on a live Webcast. Registration is free and will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Onsite registration on the day of the meeting will be based on space availability. Information on how to access the Webcast will be posted approximately 5 days before the meeting at: <http://www.fda.gov/ForHealthProfessionals/LearningActivities/ucm470074.htm>.

If you need special accommodations due to a disability, please contact FDASIA907@fda.hhs.gov at least 7 days in advance. Persons attending the public meeting are advised that FDA is not responsible for providing access to electrical outlets.
