Abstract: The Bureau’s Office of Financial Empowerment (Empowerment) is responsible for developing strategies to improve the financial capability of low-income and economically vulnerable consumers, such as consumers who are unbanked or underbanked, those with thin or no credit file, and households with limited savings. To address the needs of these consumers, Empowerment has developed the Your Money, Your Goals toolkit and training program. These resources equip frontline staff and volunteers in a range of organizations to provide relevant and effective information, tools, and technical assistance designed to improve the financial outcomes and capability of these vulnerable consumers. The Bureau seeks to renew approval of the information collection plan (ICP) to collect qualitative data related to evaluating the effectiveness of this toolkit, collateral materials, and training program. The proposed collections will focus on evaluating: (1) Your Money, Your Goals training practices, toolkit, and collateral materials in enhancing the ability of frontline staff and volunteers to inform and educate low-income consumers about managing their finances; (2) and to assess the scope of workshop participants’ use of the resources with the people they serve. The Bureau expects to collect qualitative data through paper-based and web-based surveys.

As in past editions, this report includes information about recent public enforcement actions that resulted, at least in part, from our supervisory work. Finally, the report recaps recent developments to the CFPB's supervision program, such as the release of updated fair lending examination procedures and guidance documents in the areas of credit reporting, in-person debt collection, and preauthorized electronic fund transfers.

DATES: The Bureau released this edition of the Supervisory Highlights on its Web site on March 8, 2016.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Christopher J. Young, Managing Senior Counsel and Chief of Staff, Office of Supervision Policy, 1700 G Street NW., 20552, (202) 435-7408.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

1. Introduction

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB or Bureau) is committed to a consumer financial marketplace that is fair, transparent, and competitive, and that works for all consumers. One of the tools the CFPB uses to further this goal is the supervision of bank and nonbank institutions that offer consumer financial products and services. In this tenth edition of Supervisory Highlights, the CFPB shares recent supervisory observations in the areas of consumer reporting, debt collection, mortgage origination, remittances, student loan servicing, and fair lending. One of the Bureau's goals is to provide information that enables industry participants to ensure their operations remain in compliance with Federal consumer financial law. The findings reported here reflect information obtained from supervisory activities completed during the period under review as captured in examination reports or supervisory letters. In some instances, not all corrective actions, including through enforcement, have been completed at the time of this report's publication.

The CFPB's supervisory activities have either led to or supported three recent public enforcement actions, resulting in $52.75 million in consumer remediation and other payments and an additional $8.5 million in civil money penalties. The Bureau also imposed other corrective actions at these institutions, including requiring improved compliance management systems (CMS). In addition to these public enforcement actions, Supervision continues to resolve violations using non-public supervisory actions. When Supervision examinations determine that a supervised entity has violated a statute or regulation, Supervision directs the entity to implement appropriate corrective measures, including remediation of consumer harm when appropriate. Recent supervisory resolutions have resulted in restitution of approximately $14.3 million to more than 228,000 consumers. Other corrective actions have included, for example, furnishing corrected information to consumer reporting agencies, improving training for employees to prevent various law violations, and establishing and maintaining required policies and procedures.

This report highlights supervision work generally completed between September 2015 and December 2015, though some completion dates may vary. Any questions or comments from supervised entities can be directed to CFPB_Supervision@cfpb.gov.

2. Supervisory Observations

Summarized below are some recent examination observations in consumer reporting, debt collection, mortgage origination, remittances, student loan servicing, and fair lending. As the CFPB's Supervision program progresses, we will continue to share positive practices found in the course of examinations (see sections 2.2.1, 2.4.4, and 2.5.1), as well as common opportunities for improvement.

One such common area for improvement is the accuracy of information about consumers that is supplied to consumer reporting agencies. As discussed in previous issues, credit reports are vital to a consumer's access to credit; they can be used to determine eligibility for credit, and how much consumers will pay for that credit. Given this, the accuracy of information furnished by financial institutions to consumer reporting agencies is of the utmost importance. As in the last issue of Supervisory Highlights, this issue shares observations regarding the furnishing of consumer information across a number of product areas (see sections 2.1.1, 2.1.2, 2.1.4, 2.2.1 and 2.5.5).

2.1 Consumer Reporting

CFPB examiners conducted one or more reviews of compliance with furnish obligations under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) and its implementing regulation, Regulation V, at depository institutions. The reviews focused on (i) entities furnishing information (furnishers) to nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies (NSCRAs) that specialize in reporting in connection with deposit accounts and (ii) NSCRAs themselves.

2.1.1 Furnisher Failure To Have Reasonable Policies and Procedures Regarding Information Furnished to NSCRAs

Regulation V requires companies that furnish information to consumer reporting companies to establish and implement reasonable written policies and procedures regarding the accuracy and integrity of the information they furnish. Whether policies and procedures are reasonable depends on the nature, size, complexity, and scope of each furnisher's activities. Examiners found that while one or more furnishers had policies and procedures generally pertaining to FCRA furnishing obligations, they failed to have policies and procedures addressing the furnishing of information related to deposit accounts. One or more furnishers also lacked processes or policies to verify data furnished through automated internal systems. For example, one or more furnishers established automated systems to
