Technical and Conforming Changes and Corrections to FHFA Regulations

AGENCY: Federal Housing Finance Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) is amending its rules to make a number of conforming changes and corrections intended to fix citations, provide for consistent use of terminology, and remove duplicative definitions. FHFA is also removing provisions that are no longer applicable, clarifying other provisions by incorporating language to implement existing FHFA regulatory interpretations, and making other changes and corrections.

DATES: Effective December 2, 2016.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

Effective July 30, 2008, the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 (HERA)¹ created FHFA as a new independent agency of the federal government. HERA transferred to FHFA the supervisory and oversight responsibilities of the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO) over the Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae) and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) (collectively, the Enterprises), and of the Federal Housing Finance Board (Finance Board) over the Federal Home Loan Banks (Banks) and the Bank System's Office of Finance. Under the legislation, the Enterprises, the Banks, and the Office of Finance continue to operate under regulations promulgated by OFHEO and the Finance Board until such regulations are superseded by regulations issued by FHFA.²

II. The Final RuleA. The Proposed Amendments

In May 2016, FHFA issued a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPR) that would have amended its regulations to make a number of technical and conforming changes and corrections that corrected citations, provided for consistent use of terminology, and removed outdated or duplicative provisions and definitions.³ While most of the changes represented technical corrections, some of the proposed changes removed provisions that FHFA believed were no longer applicable, clarified provisions to incorporate FHFA regulatory interpretations of the particular rule, or changed provisions to better reflect statutory requirements. As a result, FHFA requested public comments on all of the proposed changes. The comment period for the NPR closed on July 25, 2016.

FHFA intended the NPR to address errors that had arisen in its regulations as it amended, readopted, and transferred a large number of the Finance Board or OFHEO regulations. Given that this process occurred over several years, not all cross-references in the FHFA current regulations are correct. In addition, in January 2013, FHFA adopted 12 CFR part 1201 (part 1201), which provides general definitions of terms used in all FHFA's regulations. Not all terminology in FHFA's regulations is consistent with the terms in part 1201. FHFA also identified certain provisions in its regulations that require corrections to bring them more in line with statutory mandates. Finally, a number of provisions in the regulations address now-completed transition periods or events or otherwise do not have future applicability to the Enterprises or the Banks.

B. Comments Received

FHFA received two comments on the NPR. One comment letter was a joint letter from all eleven Banks. The other came from a smaller group of Banks. One comment letter objected to the proposed removal of the provision on out-of-district advances from the regulations and to statements FHFA made in the preamble of the proposed rule about the need for Banks to assure that members capitalize any participated advances. It also identified additional errors in current regulations that FHFA had not included in the proposed rule and suggested a change to one of the definitions proposed by FHFA. The other letter did not comment specifically on any amendments proposed by FHFA but objected to some aspects of what FHFA described in the preamble as the current policy for identifying which Bank directorships would be eliminated when a state is slated to lose a director's seat as a result of the annual designation of directorships.⁴

Proposal To Remove § 1266.25. One comment letter objected to FHFA's proposal to remove from its regulations § 1266.25, a provision that authorizes a Bank to become a creditor to a member of another Bank through the purchase of an outstanding advance (or a participation interest therein) from the other Bank, or "through an arrangement with the other Bank that provides for the establishment of such a creditor/debtor relationship at the time the advance is made." The commenters believed that removal of the provision, coupled with FHFA's statement in the preamble that non-members of a purchasing Bank would need to capitalize any participation interest in their advances that are sold to that Bank, will result in eliminating long-standing authority that allowed Banks to purchase such advances.⁵ The commenters contended that when the Finance Board adopted the predecessor regulation to § 1266.25 in 2000, it did not mention requiring non-member capitalization of such out-of-district participation interests, but instead stated that the purpose of the rule was to assure that the Bank performed the same level of due diligence as that applied to in-district advances.

While the comment letter contended that the Finance Board did not require the capitalization of participation interests in advances when it originally adopted what is currently § 1266.25, the rule specifically states that any creditor/debtor relationships established under the rule "shall be subject to all the provisions of [the advances regulation] that would apply to an advance made by a Bank to its own members or housing associates."⁶ One of the provisions in

⁵ In the NPR, FHFA noted that:

Removal of this provision [§ 1266.25] would not prevent one Bank from selling an advance or participation to another Bank, based solely on the statutory authority, but FHFA would expect that before doing so a Bank would first obtain the concurrence of FHFA about how a non-member could capitalize those advances through some means other than buying stock. Proposed Rule, 81 FR at 33430.

the Finance Board advances regulation, at the time current § 1266.25, was originally adopted in 2000, prohibited a Bank from making an advance to one of its members if the aggregate amount of the outstanding advances to that member would exceed 20 times the amount paid in by such member for the Bank's capital stock.⁷ Thus, as written, the out-of-district advances rule by its terms would appear to have required the capitalization of an out-of-district advance involving a member of another Bank, whether it was established through sale of a participation interest or through creation of a direct creditor/debtor relationship between a Bank and a member of another Bank.

In fact, part of FHFA's reason for proposing to delete § 1266.25 is the ambiguity and difficulty in applying the broad requirement that any participation interest in an advance or direct creditor/debtor relationship with an out-of-district member meet all requirements of the advances regulation, as if that out-of-district member were a member of the Bank ultimately holding the advance.⁸ Moreover, as FHFA also noted, the provision does not add meaningfully to the clear statutory authority that allows Banks to buy or sell advances or participation interests in advances to other Banks.⁹ As written, § 1266.25 requires that in order to purchase an advance or participation interest in an advance made by another Bank, the purchasing Bank would have to assure the transaction is structured to meet all the same requirements that apply to an advance that the purchasing Bank makes to its own members. This requirement appears to add complexity to these sales and to create uncertainties for these transactions. As a result, the comments received in response to the proposal to delete § 1266.25 do not alter FHFA's underlying reasons for proposing to remove the provision, and ⁷ See 12 CFR 935.15(a) (2000). Effective February 18, 2000, § 935.15 of the Finance Board regulations was re-designated without substantive change as § 950.15. See 65 FR 8253, 8254 (Feb. 18, 2000). This provision was again later re-designated without further amendment as § 950.11 in July 2000. See 65 FR 44414, 44430 (July 18, 2000). This provision is currently found at 12 CFR 1266.11(a) but applied only to Banks that had not converted to the Gramm-Leach-Bliley capital structure. As a consequence, FHFA proposed to delete it in the NPR. See Proposed Rule, 81 FR at 33430.

⁹ 12 U.S.C. 1430 (d) provides in relevant part that: "Any Federal Home Loan Bank shall have power to sell to any other Federal Home Loan Bank, with or without recourse, any advance made under the provision of this chapter, or to allow such [B]ank a participation therein, and any other Federal Home Loan Bank shall have power to purchase such advance or accept a participation therein, together with an appropriate assignment of security therefor."

FHFA has determined to adopt the final rule as proposed.

The comment letter, however, correctly noted that prior to the adoption of the predecessor to § 1266.25, the Finance Board had not required non-member capitalization of participated advances. The comment letter, therefore, raised a fair point that FHFA's statements in the preamble about capitalization of participation interests were likely to create uncertainties about the Banks' ability to exercise their statutory authority to buy and sell participation interests in advances. Notwithstanding the language of the preamble to the NPR, FHFA did not intend to alter the long-standing agency policy that allows a Bank to purchase a participation interest in an advance made by another Bank without requiring the borrowing member to capitalize the participation interest acquired by the purchasing Bank. The final rule does nothing to change that policy, and thus the Banks may continue to purchase and sell participation interests in advances as they have done previously. The only substantive effect of removing § 1266.25 is to eliminate the language that addresses the establishment of debtor/creditor relationships other than those created through the sale of a participation interest in an advance. Because that provision does not describe the type of relationships encompassed by its language, it has created some uncertainty as to its scope, which has prompted inquiries from the Banks about what types of transactions are permitted. FHFA has informally advised some Banks that the "arrangement with the other Bank" language of § 1266.25(a) does not authorize a Bank to originate an advance to a member of another Bank, nor does it authorize a Bank to issue standby letters of credit on behalf of a member of another Bank. By removing that language FHFA will eliminate such uncertainties and should not adversely affect any Bank because none has established any such debtor/creditor relationships with members of other Banks in reliance on that provision.

Proposed Changes to Part 1261.

Another comment expressed concerns about FHFA statements in the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION section of the NPR relating to how FHFA determines which member directorship to eliminate when, in the annual designation of directorships, FHFA allocates to a particular state fewer directorships for the coming year than it has in the current year. Specifically, commenters took issue with FHFA's statement that if a state were going to lose a member directorship at the start of the next year and such state had a member directorship slated to expire at the end of the current year, then the Bank would eliminate the directorship—and the director—with the expiring term.¹⁰ The commenters argued that this statement constituted a change in agency policy and as such should have been the subject of a substantive rulemaking. They also argued that in this situation, a Bank's board of directors should be able to designate which directorship for the particular state would be eliminated, as is the case when FHFA reduces the number of directorships for a state which has no director with a term expiring that year. Without discretion to make such determinations, commenters stated, Banks' boards of directors could suffer adverse consequences, including losing key members.

As an initial matter, these comments did not address any of the specific technical amendments that FHFA proposed to make to the part 1261 regulation. Indeed, FHFA did not propose to revise any regulations pertaining to the reduction of directorships caused by the annual designation process, and the preamble statements that appear to have prompted the comments were simply background information that FHFA provided as context to the FHFA's proposed revisions to other provisions of part 1261. As background information, the preamble statements did not purport to make any changes to agency policy regarding Bank directorships, but simply described the existing practice for one particular situation. Therefore, FHFA is not making any changes in the final rule as a result of these comments.

Moreover, FHFA disagrees with the comment letter's contention that a Bank's board of directors should be permitted in all cases to determine which particular directorship must be eliminated when the annual designation of directorships reduces the number of directorships allocated to a particular state. By statute, FHFA is required annually to establish the size of the board of directors for each Bank and to designate the number of member directorships to be allocated to each state within each Bank's district. Occasionally, FHFA's designation of directorships order reduces the number of directorships allocated to a particular state, which means that one of the incumbent directorships must be eliminated as of the end of that calendar year. If one of those directorships has a term that will expire as of the end of that calendar year, the reduction in board size required by FHFA's designation of directorships order is effectively self-executing, i.e., the expiration of the term of office for one director automatically brings the board size into compliance with the size authorized by the designation order. To allow the Banks to do what the commenter has suggested, i.e., retain the director with the expiring term, would necessarily require that the Bank take some action to remove from its board a director whose term of office has not expired, so that the number of directorships for that state does not exceed the number authorized by FHFA. A Bank, however, has no legal authority to remove a sitting director from the Bank's board of directors, and thus could not require an incumbent director whose term is not expiring to leave the board. This situation differs from that in which FHFA reduces the number of directorships allocated to a particular state, which has no directorships expiring at the end of the year. In that case, the designation of directorships order is what terminates one of the member directorships, and effectively delegates to the Bank's board of directors the authority to determine which particular directorship has been terminated. In those circumstances, there is no legal issue relating to the removal of an incumbent director prior to the expiration of his or her term because, as of the effective date of the designation of directorships order, the directorship would have ceased to exist and there would be no office from which the person was being removed.

Proposed Definition of President. Commenters also suggested that FHFA alter the proposed definition of "president" to read "the individual who serves as the highest ranking executive officer of a Bank." The NPR proposed to define president, when used to describe an officer of a Bank, as "a Bank's principal executive officer."

The commenters did not provide a reason for the suggested change or why FHFA's proposed definition was problematic. FHFA notes that the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) uses the term "principal executive officer" in the context of its disclosure rules on compensation, which the Banks already apply.¹¹ FHFA also believes the reference to "principal executive officer" is clearer and more straightforward than trying to identify which Bank officer outranks another or to quantify the ranking among executive officers. Thus, FHFA is adopting the definition of "president" as proposed.

Additional Technical Corrections. Finally, commenters identified additional corrections to FHFA's regulations that were not included as part of the NPR. FHFA agrees that commenters identified clear errors with FHFA's current regulations and is therefore adopting the corrections suggested by commenters as part of the final rule.

First, commenters pointed out that cross references in 12 CFR 1266.17(c)(2) to § 1266.3(b) of FHFA's rules appear to be incorrect, and the reference instead should be to § 1266.5(b). FHFA agrees and is adding to the final rule a provision to make this correction. The cross reference in § 1266.17(c)(2) is intended to incorporate standards that Banks must apply when making advances to members to any advance that a Bank makes to a housing associate. The current cite in the rule to § 1266.3(b), however, references requirements that apply to long-term advances made to members rather than the pricing criteria, which are set forth in § 1266.5(b). The Finance Board appears to have added the erroneous cross reference to the rule when it first adopted it in 2002, and FHFA carried over the mistake to part 1266 when it re-adopted the rule in 2010.¹²

Second, commenters identified two corrections to appendix A of part 1273 (appendix A), which sets forth exceptions to the general SEC disclosure standards that the Office of Finance (OF) otherwise must follow in preparing the Bank System's Combined Financial Report. The first error is a reference to "Item 402(1) of SEC Regulation S-K" in paragraph C of appendix A. SEC Regulation S-K, however does not contain an "Item 402(1)." The Finance Board erroneously cited to "Item 402(1), 17 CFR 229.402(1)" when it first adopted appendix A in 2000.¹³ FHFA, however, cannot determine what provision in Regulation S-K, the Finance Board intended to reference. Nor can FHFA identify any other SEC item that might be relevant to the matters addressed in paragraph C of appendix A. As a result, FHFA intends to delete the reference to "Item 402(1) of SEC Regulation S-K," as suggested by commenters.

Commenters also pointed out that a statement in paragraph D of appendix A is no longer accurate given recent regulatory changes. Specifically, paragraph D, which addresses matters submitted for shareholder vote, contains a statement that: "The only item shareholders vote upon is the annual election of directors." Under the voluntary merger rules adopted by FHFA after HERA, however, a Bank's shareholders also may vote to ratify a voluntary merger agreement between their Bank and another Bank.¹⁴ Thus, given that the statement about member voting is no longer accurate and adds nothing substantive to the appendix item at issue, FHFA is deleting the sentence as suggested by commenters.

C. The Final Rule

As just discussed, FHFA is adopting as part of the final rule a number of additional technical corrections suggested by commenters but is otherwise not changing the proposed rule based on the comments received. In addition, FHFA is updating the table in § 1200.4 providing the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) control numbers and expiration dates for FHFA information collections under the Paperwork Reduction Act to reflect recent OMB actions and approvals.

Further, after publication of the NPR, FHFA identified additional instances in which terms defined in part 1201 of its regulations, which provides general definitions applicable to all FHFA regulations, are also defined in other FHFA regulations. As a result, FHFA is adopting provisions as part of this final rule to remove duplicative definitions from part 1281 for the terms "Bank System" and "data reporting manual (DRM)" and from part 1282 for the term "HUD."¹⁵ FHFA is also adopting in the final rule a correction to a cross-reference in 12 CFR 1266.10 to the FHFA regulation addressing the Banks' member product policies. The member products policy regulation was located at 12 CFR 917.4 but FHFA recently transferred it to 12 CFR 1239.30, although FHFA did not update the cross reference in 12 CFR 1266.10 at that time.¹⁶

Other than incorporating the additional corrections highlighted above, FHFA is adopting the changes proposed by the NPR as final without further substantive changes.

D. Considerations of Differences Between the Banks and the Enterprises

When promulgating regulations relating to the Banks, section 1313(f) of the Safety and Soundness Act requires the Director to consider the differences between the Banks and the Enterprises with respect to the Banks' cooperative ownership structure; mission of providing liquidity to members; affordable housing and community development mission; capital structure; and joint and several liability.¹⁷ The changes made in this rulemaking correct existing FHFA regulations or are clarifying and conforming in nature. Nonetheless, FHFA, in preparing this rule, considered the differences between the Banks and the Enterprises as they related to the above factors. FHFA requested public comments about whether these differences should result in any revisions to the proposed rule, but received no comments responsive to this request.

III. Paperwork Reduction Act

The final rule does not contain any collections of information pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.). Therefore, FHFA has not submitted any information to the Office of Management and Budget for review.

IV. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The final rule applies only to the Banks and the Enterprises, which do not come within the meaning of small entities as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA). See 5 U.S.C. 601(6). Therefore, in accordance with section 605(b) of the RFA, FHFA certifies that this final rule does not have significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

§ 1261.4 Designation of member directorships.

(a) Capital stock reports. (1) On or before April 10 of each year, each Bank shall deliver to FHFA a capital stock report that indicates, as of the record date, the number of members located in each voting State in the Bank’s district, the number of shares of Bank stock that each member (identified by its FHFA ID number) was required to hold, and the number of shares of Bank stock that all members located in each voting State were required to hold. If a Bank has issued more than one class of stock, it shall report the total shares of stock of all classes required to be held by the members. The Bank shall certify to FHFA that, to the best of its knowledge, the information provided in the capital stock report is accurate and complete, and that it has notified each member of its minimum capital stock holding requirement as of the record date.

(2) The number of shares of Bank stock that any member was required to hold as of the record date shall be determined in accordance with the minimum investment established by the capital plan for that Bank.

(b) Designation of member directorships. Using the method of equal proportions, the Director annually will conduct a designation of member directorships for each Bank based on the number of shares of Bank stock required to be held by the members in each State as of the record date. If a Bank has issued more than one class of stock, the Director will designate the directorships for each State in that Bank district based on the combined number of shares required to be held by the members in that State. For purposes of conducting the designation, the number of shares of Bank stock required to be held by members as of that date shall be determined in accordance with the minimum investment established by the capital plan for that Bank. In all cases, the Director will designate the directorships by using the information provided by each Bank in its capital stock report required by paragraph (a)(1) of this section.

Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the number of votes that any member may cast for any one directorship shall not exceed the average number of shares of Bank stock required to be held as of the record date by all members located in the same State as of the record date. If a Bank has issued more than one class of stock, it shall calculate the average number of shares separately for each class of stock, using the total number of members in a State as the denominator, and shall apply those limits separately in determining the maximum number of votes that any member owning that class of stock may cast in the election. The number of shares of Bank stock that a member was required to hold as of the record date shall be determined in accordance with the minimum investment requirement established by the Bank’s capital plan.

Thereafter, the Bank shall declare elected all such eligible nominees. The nominees declared elected shall be included as directors-elect in the report of election required under paragraph (g) of this section. Any member directorship that is not filled due to a lack of nominees shall be deemed vacant as of January 1 of the following year and shall be filled by the Bank's board of directors in accordance with § 1261.14(a).

* * * * *

■ 22. Amend § 1261.9 by revising paragraphs (a) and (c) to read as follows:

§ 1261.9 Actions affecting director elections.

(a) Banks. Each Bank, acting through its board of directors, may conduct an annual assessment of the skills and experience possessed by the members of its board of directors as a whole and may determine whether the capabilities of the board would be enhanced through the addition of individuals with particular skills and experience. If the board of directors determines that the Bank could benefit by the addition to the board of directors of individuals with particular qualifications, such as auditing and accounting, derivatives, financial management, organizational management, project development, risk management practices, or the law, it may identify those qualifications and so inform the members as part of its announcement of elections pursuant to § 1261.7(a).

FHFA will provide notice of its objection to a particular Independent Director prior to the date that such Director is to assume duties as a member of the OF board of directors. Reporting of Data for Mishandled Baggage and Wheelchairs and Scooters Transported in Aircraft Cargo Compartments

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary (OST), Department of Transportation (DOT).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Department of Transportation (DOT or Department) is issuing a final rule that changes the mishandled-baggage data that air carriers are required to report, from the number of Mishandled Baggage Reports (MBR) and the number of domestic passenger enplanements to the number of mishandled bags and the number of enplaned bags. Fees for checked baggage may have changed customer behavior regarding the number of bags checked, potentially affecting mishandled-baggage rates. Finally, this rule fills a data gap by collecting separate statistics for mishandled wheelchairs and scooters used by passengers with disabilities and transported in aircraft cargo compartments. An additional topic covered in the proposed rule, the reporting of airline fee revenues, remains open and is not addressed in this rulemaking.

DATES: This rule is effective December 2, 2016.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On July 15, 2011, the Department published a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) in the Federal Register, 76 FR 41726, which addressed the following areas: (1) Reporting of ancillary fee revenue; (2) data for computation of mishandled-baggage rates; and (3) data for mishandled wheelchairs and scooters used by passengers with disabilities that are transported in the cargo compartment. With regard to the reporting of ancillary fee revenue, the Department proposed to collect detailed information about ancillary fees paid by airline consumers to determine the total amount of fees carriers collect through the a la carte pricing approach for optional services related to air transportation. The Department also proposed to alter its matrix for collecting and publishing data on mishandled baggage. For many years the Department has required the larger U.S. air carriers to report the number of Mishandled Baggage Reports (MBRs) filed by passengers and the total number of passenger enplaned. The Department then divides the number of MBRs (the numerator) by the total number of passengers enplaned (the denominator) and multiplies the result by 1,000 in order to arrive at a rate of MBRs per 1,000 passengers which it publishes in its monthly Air Travel Consumer Report. For example, if an airline reports 800 MBRs and 600,000 passengers enplaned, that carrier will have a published rate of 1.3 MBRs per 1,000 passenger enplanements. In the NPRM, rather than compute the number of Mishandled Baggage Reports per unit of domestic enplanements the Department proposed using the number of mishandled bags per unit of total bags checked. As noted in the NPRM,
