

Guidance for Industry on Expedited Programs for Serious Conditions—Drugs and Biologics OMB Control Number 0910–0765—Extension

FDA has established four programs intended to facilitate and expedite development and review of new drugs to address unmet medical needs in the treatment of serious or life-threatening conditions: (1) Fast track designation including rolling review, (2) breakthrough therapy designation, (3) accelerated approval, and (4) priority review designation. In support of these programs, the Agency has developed the guidance document, “Guidance For Industry: Expedited Programs for Serious Conditions—Drugs and Biologics.” The guidance outlines the programs’ policies and procedures and describes applicable threshold criteria, including when to submit information to FDA. Respondents to the information collection are sponsors of drug and biological products appropriate for these expedited programs.

Priority Review Designation Request. The guidance describes that a sponsor may expressly request priority review of an application. Based on information from FDA’s databases and information available to FDA, we estimate that approximately 48 sponsors will prepare and submit approximately 1.7 priority review designation submissions that receive a priority review in accordance with the guidance and that the added burden for each submission will be approximately 30 hours to develop and submit to FDA as part of the application (totaling 2,400 hours).

Breakthrough Therapy Designation Request. The guidance describes the process for sponsors to request breakthrough therapy designation in an application. Based on information from FDA’s databases and information available to FDA, we estimate that approximately 87 sponsors will prepare approximately 1.29 breakthrough therapy designation submissions in accordance with the guidance and that the added burden for each submission will be approximately 70 hours to prepare and submit (totaling 7,910 hours).

Accordingly, we estimate the burden of this information collection as follows:

TABLE 1—ESTIMATED ANNUAL REPORTING BURDEN ¹

Guidance on expedited programs	Number of respondents	Number of responses per respondent	Total annual responses	Average burden per response	Total hours
Priority Review Designation Request	48	1.7	80	30	2,400
Breakthrough Therapy Designation Request	87	1.29	113	70	7,910
Total					10,310

¹ There are no capital costs or operating and maintenance costs associated with the information collection.

The guidance also refers to previously approved collections of information found in FDA regulations. The collections of information in 21 CFR parts 202.1, 314, and 601, and sections 505(a), 506(a)(1), 735, and 736 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 355(a), 356(a)(1), 379(g), and 379(h)) have been approved under OMB control numbers 0910–0686, 0910–0001, 0910–0338, 0910–0014, and 0910–0297.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98–417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100–670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years so long as the patented item (human drug product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive) was subject to regulatory review by FDA before the item was marketed. Under these acts, a product’s regulatory review period forms the basis for determining the amount of extension an applicant may receive.

A regulatory review period consists of two periods of time: A testing phase and an approval phase. For human biological products, the testing phase begins when the exemption to permit the clinical investigations of the biological becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial submission of an application to market the human biological product and continues until FDA grants permission to market the biological product. Although only a portion of a regulatory review period may count toward the actual amount of extension that the Director of USPTO may award (for example, half the testing phase must be subtracted as well as any time that may have occurred before the patent was issued), FDA’s determination of the length of a regulatory review period for a human biological product will include all of the testing phase and approval phase as specified in 35 U.S.C. 156(g)(1)(B).

FDA has approved for marketing the human biologic product NUWIQ (Antihemophilic Factor (Recombinant)). NUWIQ is indicated for adults and children with Hemophilia A for:

- On-demand treatment and control of bleeding episodes;
- perioperative management of bleeding;
- routine prophylaxis to reduce the frequency of bleeding episodes.

Subsequent to this approval, the USPTO received a patent term restoration application for NUWIQ (U.S. Patent No. 7,572,619) from Octapharma AG, and the USPTO requested FDA’s assistance in determining this patent’s eligibility for patent term restoration. In a letter dated April 20, 2016, FDA advised the USPTO that this human biological product had undergone a regulatory review period and that the approval of NUWIQ represented the first permitted commercial marketing or use of the product. Thereafter, the USPTO requested that FDA determine the product’s regulatory review period.

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the applicable regulatory review period for NUWIQ is 2,622 days. Of this time, 2,165 days occurred during the testing phase of the regulatory review period, while 457 days occurred during the approval phase. These periods of time were derived from the following dates:

1. The date an exemption under section 505(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 355(i)) became effective: July 2, 2008. FDA has verified the applicant’s claim that the date the investigational new drug application became effective was on July 2, 2008.

2. The date the application was initially submitted with respect to the human biological product under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262): June 5, 2014. FDA has verified the applicant’s claim that the biologics license application (BLA) for NUWIQ (BLA 125555/0) was initially submitted on June 5, 2014.

3. The date the application was approved: September 4, 2015. FDA has verified the applicant’s claim that BLA 125555/0 was approved on September 4, 2015.

This determination of the regulatory review period establishes the maximum potential length of a patent extension. However, the USPTO applies several statutory limitations in its calculations of the actual period for patent extension. In its application for patent extension, this applicant seeks 1,336 days of patent term extension.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and ask for a redetermination (see DATES). Furthermore, any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period. To meet its burden, the petition must be timely (see DATES) and contain sufficient facts to merit an FDA investigation. (See H. Rept. 857, part 1, 98th Cong., 2d sess., pp. 41–42, 1984.) Petitions should be in the format specified in 21 CFR 10.30.

Submit petitions electronically to <http://www.regulations.gov> at Docket No. FDA–2013–S–0610. Submit written petitions (two copies are required) to the Division of Dockets Management (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.
