Needs and Uses: Following the passage of the Telecommunications Act of 1996, the Commission adopted interstate access charge and universal service support reforms. These reforms were designed to establish a "pro-competitive, deregulatory national policy framework" for the United States telecommunications industry. Specifically, the Commission aligned the interstate access rate structure more closely with the manner in which costs are incurred, and created a universal service support mechanism for rate-of-return carriers (Interstate Common Line Support (ICLS)) to replace implicit support in interstate access charges with explicit support that is portable to all eligible telecommunications carriers. To administer the ICLS mechanism, the Universal Service Administrative Company required, among other things, that rate-of-return carriers collect projected cost and revenue data. In addition, carriers are required to submit tariff data, including certain cost studies, to ensure that their rates are just and reasonable.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: GSA proposes to establish a new government-wide system of records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a. Pursuant to Section 5 of the Digital Accountability and Transparency Act (DATA Act), Public Law 113–101, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), in collaboration with the Chief Acquisition Officers Council, Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and GSA, is engaged in a multifaceted effort that aims to reduce reporting burden, standardize processes, and reduce costs for Federal awardees. OMB is providing strategic leadership for the procurement pilot and collaborating with GSA and the Chief Acquisition Officers Council for implementation. The objectives of the Section 5 procurement pilot focus are to:

- Identify recommendations in the National Dialogue for further review
- Develop a central reporting portal prototype and collection tool for FAR required reports, and
- Test the portal by centrally collecting select FAR required reports that are currently reported across the Federal government, beginning with collection of reports required under FAR 22.406–6.

The goal is to allow contractors doing business with the Federal Government to submit FAR required reports to one central location in an efficient and effective manner rather than multiple locations and to each contracting officer (CO).

As part of this collaboration, GSA is developing and will operate the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) Data Collection System. The system allows prime contractors and subcontractors (“submitters”), performing work on federal contract awards to enter and certify various reports required by the FAR. The system is intended to decrease the reporting burden on submitters and prior to full adoption the system will be used in a pilot to measure and demonstrate that burden reduction.

Submitters will use the system to report data on their applicable awards. Each awarding agency will access the data provided pursuant to its award(s) and share it internally as required and
