

economic costs. The agency develops, promotes and implements educational, engineering and enforcement programs with the goal of ending preventable tragedies and reducing economic costs associated with vehicle use and highway travel. Impaired driving is a long-standing highway safety problem. Efforts to reduce impaired driving have resulted in impressive improvements, but impaired driving remains a significant problem. For example, in 2013, there were 10,076 traffic fatalities in crashes involving drivers with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of 0.08 grams per deciliter (g/dL) or higher. More recently, there was an increase of 3.2 percent in the number of fatalities in alcohol-impaired-driving crashes from 2014 (9,943) to 2015 (10,265). Highway safety officials and traffic safety advocates identified a need for information on the current state of the practice of IID programs as a means to share lessons learned. The objective of this data collection activity is to produce a document that addresses that need by describing the state of the practice of IID programs across the nation, in each state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. The document will serve as a resource for IID program administrators and staff, policy makers, legislators, researchers and advocates. The outcome of the project will support the states and their federal partners in the effort to reduce impaired driving and prevent the loss of life on the nation's roadways.

Description of the Likely Respondents (Including Estimated Number, and Proposed Frequency of Response to the Collection of Information): The respondents will be from one-to-five designated points-of-contact in the IID program in each state, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Each program will be invited to complete a 15-minute online survey and participate in one phone conference for approximately one hour. Each participant will respond to the data collection request a single time during the project period.

Total Estimated Time per Response: The expected average completion time for the online survey is 15 minutes per program with up to five individuals completing a portion of the survey. The expected average completion time for the phone conference is 60 minutes per individual.

Estimate of the Total Annual Reporting and Record Keeping Burden Resulting from the Collection of Information— Participants will incur no burden related to annual reporting or record keeping due to the collection of information.

Total Estimated Annual Burden Hours: The estimated burden for the online survey is 13 hours, assuming 52 programs complete the survey. The estimated burden hours for the phone conference ranges from 52 hours to 260 hours, from one to five individuals per IID program.
