

use cable reels to prevent cables from overheating.

(23) The petitioner's alternative method will not be implemented until all miners who have been designated to examine the integrity of seals or locks and to verify the short-circuit settings and proper procedure for examining trailing cables for defects and damage have received the training specified above.

(24) The equipment listed in this petition will comply with all other applicable requirements of the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act of 1977 and the applicable requirements of 30 CFR part 75.

(25) Within 60 days after this petition is final, the petitioner will submit proposed revisions for its approved 30 CFR part 48 training plan to the District Manager. The proposed revisions will specify task training for miners designated to examine the trailing cables for safe operation condition and verify that the short circuit settings of the circuit interrupting device(s) that protect the affected trailing cables do not exceed the settings specified above. The training will include the following:

a. Mining methods and operating procedures that will protect the trailing cables against damage.

b. The proper procedure for examining the trailing cable to ensure that the cables are in safe operating condition by a visual inspection of the entire cable, observing the insulation, the integrity of the splices, and nicks and abrasions.

c. The hazards of setting the instantaneous circuit breakers too high to adequately protect the trailing cables.

d. How to verify that the circuit interrupting device(s) protecting the trailing cables are properly set and maintained.

e. How to protect the trailing cables against damage caused by overheating due to excessive cable stored on the cable reel(s) and adjusting stored cable behind the cable anchor(s) as tramping distances change. The procedures as specified in 30 CFR 48.3 for approval of proposed revisions to already approved training plans will apply.

The petitioner asserts that the proposed alternative method will at all times guarantee no less than the same measure of protection afforded by the existing standard.

Director, Office of Standards, Regulations, and Variances.
