

If the service does not meet this threshold, it would be considered intercity service. On intercity ferry and rail services that meet the definition of public transportation, all portions of the service located outside the boundaries of the urbanized area would be attributable at a rate of 27 percent per 49 U.S.C. 5336.

L. Clarification on Reporting Linear Miles and Track Miles to the Asset Inventory

The guidance published with the final reporting requirements for guideway infrastructure did not clearly state definitions and reporting requirements for linear miles and track miles. The FTA proposes the following definitions of linear miles and track miles as referenced in the NTD Policy Manual. Linear miles is defined as “the length in miles of the route path of track—regardless of multiple track railways over the same area” and track miles is defined as the “cumulative length in miles of all track—including multiple track railways over the same area. This should represent the total length of all laid track.”

Earlier guidance appeared to imply that agencies must report both linear miles and track miles for guideway infrastructure. The FTA proposes to clarify that agencies may report either linear miles, or track miles, or both for the purposes of asset condition and performance reporting of guideway infrastructure to the NTD.

M. Clarification on Rural Financial Data Reporting Requirement

The updated Uniform System of Accounts (USOA), effective beginning Fiscal Year 2018, states that to report the total costs of delivering each mode of transit service, transit agencies must calculate both direct and shared costs of providing service. Agencies may continue to allocate shared costs based on approved cost allocation methods. This is consistent with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles.

The FTA clarifies that recipients of Rural Area Formula Program (49 U.S.C. 5311) funding must report operating expenses and fare revenues by mode and type of service. State DOT recipients must report this data for each Section 5311 subrecipient beginning in Fiscal Year 2019.

Acting Administrator.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the PRA (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520), federal agencies must obtain approval from the OMB for each collection of information they conduct or sponsor. “Collection of information” is defined in 44 U.S.C. 3502(3) and 5 CFR 1320.3(c) to include agency requests or requirements that members of the public submit reports, keep records, or provide information to a third party. Section 3506(c)(2)(A) of title 44 requires federal agencies to provide a 60-day notice in the Federal Register concerning each proposed collection of information, including each revision or extension of an existing collection of information, before submitting the collection to OMB for approval. To comply with this requirement, the OCC is publishing notice of the proposed collection of information set forth in this document.

¹ Following the close of the 60-day comment period for this notice, the OCC will publish a notice for 30 days of comment for this collection.

Title: Notice Regarding Unauthorized Access to Customer Information.

OMB Control No.: 1557-0227.

Description: Section 501(b) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (15 U.S.C. 6801(b)) requires the OCC to establish appropriate standards for national banks relating to administrative, technical, and physical safeguards: (1) To insure the security and confidentiality of customer records and information; (2) to protect against any anticipated threats or hazards to the security or integrity of such records; and (3) to protect against unauthorized access to, or use of, such records or information that could result in substantial harm or inconvenience to any customer.

The Interagency Guidelines Establishing Information Security Standards, 12 CFR part 30, appendix B (Security Guidelines), which implement section 501(b), require each entity supervised by the OCC (supervised institution) to consider and adopt a response program, as appropriate, that specifies actions to be taken when the supervised institution suspects or detects that unauthorized individuals have gained access to customer information systems.

The Interagency Guidance on Response Programs for Unauthorized Customer Information and Customer Notice (Breach Notice Guidance),² which interprets the Security Guidelines, states that, at a minimum, a supervised institution's response program should contain procedures for:

(1) Assessing the nature and scope of an incident, and identifying what customer information systems and types of customer information have been accessed or misused;

(2) Notifying its primary federal regulator as soon as possible when the supervised institution becomes aware of an incident involving unauthorized access to, or use of, sensitive customer information;

(3) Notifying appropriate law enforcement authorities in situations involving Federal criminal violations requiring immediate attention, consistent with the OCC's Suspicious Activity Report regulations;

(4) Taking appropriate steps to contain and control the incident in an effort to prevent further unauthorized access to, or use of, customer information, for example, by monitoring, freezing, or closing affected accounts, while preserving records and other evidence; and

(5) Notifying customers when warranted.

The Breach Notice Guidance states that, when a financial institution becomes aware of an incident of unauthorized access to sensitive customer information, the institution should conduct a reasonable investigation to determine the likelihood that the information has been misused. If the institution determines that the misuse of its information about a customer has occurred or is reasonably possible, it should notify the affected customer as soon as possible.

Type of Review: Regular.

Affected Public: Businesses or other for-profit.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 20.

Total Estimated Annual Burden: 720 hours.

Frequency of Response: On occasion.

Comments submitted in response to this notice will be summarized and included in the request for OMB approval. All comments will become a matter of public record. Comments are invited on:

(a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the OCC, including whether the information has practical utility;

(b) The accuracy of the OCC's estimate of the burden of the information collection;

(c) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected;

(d) Ways to minimize the burden of the collection on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology; and

(e) Estimates of capital or start-up costs and costs of operation, maintenance, and purchase of services to provide information.

Dated: April 3, 2019.

Theodore J. Dowd,

Deputy Chief Counsel, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.
