SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: An emergency declaration by President Donald Trump was issued for the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI) on October 27, 2018. In the spring of 2019, ANA's Pacific Basin Training and Technical Assistance Center performed an assessment of community needs that were not addressed by other federal agencies in response to the catastrophic storm. A report was prepared for ANA with a series of projects aiming to reduce the post-traumatic stress of 200 Chamorro and Carolinian community members through storytelling, and to repair and/ or restore six culturally significant sites and two ANA project sites. Currently, the CNMI government is burdened with the reconstruction of homes and governmental infrastructure that were damaged by Typhoon Yutu. is a current ANA grantee with an ending 3-year project period and has successfully administered an ANA award. They have the organizational capacity, including accounting and data management, as well as qualified staff in place. In addition, the organization has the community connections, partnerships, and experience to successfully implement the award. The Board of Directors for 500 Sails, Inc has included a board resolution in support of the application and the 9 proposed projects. The activities within the project are designed to incorporate cultural ways of supporting the recovery after Typhoon Yutu. The proposed projects include the cultural component that no other federal agency could provide, and it allows for a holistic approach to the recovery. Most of the projects include volunteer opportunities for community members to help in the rebuilding of their community. The application will be awarded in compliance with HHS policy for emergency awards, including after an objective review has been conducted.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA has long regulated software that meets the definition of a device. Section 3060(a) of the Cures Act, enacted on December 13, 2016 (Pub. L. 114-255), amended the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) to exclude certain software functions from the definition of device under section 201(h) of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 321(h)). The software functions that are removed from the definition of device are described in section 520(o)(1) of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 360j(o)(1)), and the intended uses of such software functions can be summarized as follows: (1) For administrative support of a healthcare facility, (2) for maintaining or encouraging a healthy lifestyle, (3) to serve as electronic patient records, (4) for transferring, storing, converting formats, or displaying data, or (5) providing certain types of clinical decision support to a healthcare provider unless interpreting or analyzing a clinical test or other device data.

This guidance provides FDA's current thinking regarding the amended device definition and the resulting effect the amended definition has on published FDA guidance, including the policies expressed in guidance about mobile medical applications; medical device data systems used for the electronic transfer, storage, display, or conversion of medical device data; medical image storage devices, used to store or retrieve medical images electronically; and general wellness products. This guidance focuses on the first four categories of software functions that are excluded from the device definition. FDA will address the fifth category in a separate guidance. Elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, FDA is announcing the availability of the draft guidance entitled "Clinical Decision Support Software" to provide clarification of its interpretation of section 520(o)(1)(E) of the FD&C Act, which describes certain software functions intended to provide decision support for the diagnosis, treatment, prevention, cure, or mitigation of disease or other conditions. Section 520(o)(2) of the FD&C Act describes the regulation of a product with multiple functions, including at least one device function and at least one software function that is not a device. FDA intends to provide recommendations on the regulation of such products with multifunctionality in a separate guidance document.

FDA considered comments received on the draft guidance that appeared in the Federal Register of December 8, 2017 (82 FR 57991). FDA revised the guidance as appropriate in response to the comments. FDA has provided additional clarity that hardware intended to transfer, store, convert formats, and display medical device data and results remain devices, while software functions intended to transfer, store, convert formats, or display data are no longer devices if they meet the definition in 520(o)(1)(D) of the FD&C Act. The examples included in the draft of this guidance that described alarms, alerts, or flags have been removed from this guidance, because they are not excluded from the definition of device under section 520(o)(1)(D) of the FD&C Act in that these functions involve analysis or interpretation of laboratory test or other device data and results. These functions are addressed in section 520(o)(1)(E) of the FD&C Act, the regulation of which will be described in the separate "Clinical Decision Support Software" guidance document.

II. Significance of Guidance

This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on "Changes to Existing Medical Software Policies Resulting from Section 3060 of the 21st Century Cures Act." It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations. This guidance is not subject to Executive Order 12866.

Clinical Decision Support Software; Draft Guidance for Industry and Food and Drug Administration Staff; Availability

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of the draft guidance entitled "Clinical Decision Support Software." This guidance clarifies the types of clinical decision support (CDS) functions that do not meet the definition of a device as amended by the 21st Century Cures Act (Cures Act). This guidance describes a risk-based approach for regulatory oversight of CDS software functions that remain devices using the categories defined by the International Medical Device Regulators Forum (IMDRF) final document entitled "Software as a Medical Device: Possible Framework for Risk Categorization and Corresponding Considerations." The guidance also provides clarity on the types of CDS software functions on which FDA intends to focus its regulatory oversight for health care providers, patients, and caregivers. This draft guidance is not final nor is it in effect at this time. DATES: Submit either electronic or written comments on the draft guidance by December 26, 2019 to ensure that the Agency considers your comment on this draft guidance before it begins work on the final version of the guidance. ADDRESSES: You may submit comments on any guidance at any time as follows:
