

increased for larger capacity physical and logical ports, such options provide far more capacity and are purchased by those that consume more resources from the network. Accordingly, the proposed connectivity fees do not favor certain categories of market participants in a manner that would impose a burden on competition; rather, the allocation reflects the network resources consumed by the various size of market participants—lowest bandwidth consuming members pay the least, and highest bandwidth consuming members pay the most, particularly since higher bandwidth consumption translates to higher costs to the Exchange.

The Exchange also does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on inter-market competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. As discussed in the Statutory Basis section above, options market participants are not forced to connect to (or purchase market data from) all options exchanges, as shown by the number of TPHs at Cboe and shown by the fact that there are varying number of members across each of Cboe's Affiliated Exchanges. The Exchange operates in a highly competitive environment, and as discussed above, its ability to price access and connectivity is constrained by competition among exchanges and third parties. As discussed, there are other options markets of which market participants may connect to trade options. There is also a possible range of alternative strategies, including routing to the exchange through another participant or market center or accessing the Exchange indirectly. For example, there are 15 other U.S. options exchanges, which the Exchange must consider in its pricing discipline in order to compete for market participants. In this competitive environment, market participants are free to choose which competing exchange or reseller to use to satisfy their business needs. As a result, the Exchange believes this proposed rule change permits fair competition among national securities exchanges. Accordingly, the Exchange does not believe its proposed fee change imposes any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

The Exchange neither solicited nor received written comments on the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. nonprofit organizations, including loans for economic injury. The Coronavirus Preparedness and Response Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2020, Public Law 116–123 (March 6, 2020), amended the Small Business Act to make economic injury resulting from the current coronavirus pandemic (COVID–19) a disaster that is eligible for assistance under section 7(b) of the Small Business Act. The assistance available includes an “advance” on the loan (that does not have to be repaid) in an amount up to $10,000. To expedite the processing time and provide immediate financial assistance, SBA obtained emergency approval from OMB to collect information from small businesses and nonprofit organizations seeking relief from the economic conditions created by the COVID–19 emergency. This approval expires on September 30, 2020. SBA will be requesting an extension of this approval to enable the agency to continue collecting the information necessary to process applications for assistance.

(a) Solicitation of Public Comments

SBA is requesting comments on (i) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the agency to properly perform its functions; (ii) whether the burden estimates are accurate; (iii) whether there are ways to minimize the burden, including through the use of automated techniques or other forms of information technology; and (iv) whether there are ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information.

(b) Summary of Information Collection

Title: Economic Injury Disaster Loan Application (EIDL) COVID–19.

OMB Control Number: 3245–0406.

Respondents: Small businesses, including sole proprietors, independent contractors, and agricultural businesses, and nonprofit organizations.

Form Numbers: SBA Form 3501 through Form 3503.

(i) Form 3501, EID–COVID19 Application. This form is completed by all applicants for assistance. SBA estimates 15 million applicants, each needing approximately 30 minutes to complete the application. Based on one application per applicant, the total estimated burden is 7.5 million hours. The information requested includes business formation type and date; taxpayer’s identification number; number of employees; information about owners, including their criminal history, and suspensions and debarments.

(ii) Form 3502—Economic Injury Disaster Loan Supporting Information.

The requested information includes, where applicable, gross revenues for the 12 months prior to the disaster, costs of goods sold; lost rents due to the disaster; cost of operation for the 12 month period prior to the disaster; amount and description of compensation from other sources as a result of the disaster. The information supplements the Form 3501 information and thus is submitted by all applicants. SBA estimates 1 hour for completion time, for a total of 15 million hours.
