Next Steps

Issuance of an incidental take permit is a Federal proposed action subject to compliance with NEPA and section 7 of the ESA. We will evaluate the application, associated documents, and any public comments we receive as part of our NEPA compliance process to determine whether the application meets the requirements of section 10(a) of the Act. If we determine that those requirements are met, we will conduct an intra-Service consultation under section 7 of the ESA for the Federal action for the potential issuance of an ITP. If the intra-Service consultation confirms that issuance of the ITP will not jeopardize the continued existence of any endangered or threatened species, or destroy or adversely modify critical habitat, we will issue a permit to the applicant for the incidental take of the covered species.

We publish this notice under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4321–4347 et seq.), and its implementing regulations at 40 CFR 1500–1508, as well as in compliance with section 10(c) of the Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531–1544 et seq.) and its implementing regulations at 50 CFR 17.22 and 17.32.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Congress enacted the Settlement Act as Title III, Subtitle D of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation Act, Public Law 114–322. The Settlement Act was enacted to resolve the water right claims of the Pechanga Band of Luiseño Mission Indians (Pechanga Band) subject to an adjudication in the U.S. District Court (Adjudication Court) in United States v. Fallbrook Public Utility District, et al., Case No. 51–01247–GPC–RBB (S.D. Cal.). The Settlement Parties include the Pechanga Band, Rancho California Water District, and the United States. The Eastern Municipal Water District and Metropolitan Water District of Southern California are parties to various sub-agreements to the Pechanga Settlement Agreement (Settlement Agreement).

The Settlement Act and Settlement Agreement quantify and define the Pechanga Band's rights to water, including surface and groundwater within the Santa Margarita River watershed, that will be satisfied with local groundwater, imported recycled water, and imported potable water. The Settlement Agreement and various sub-agreements include the arrangements and infrastructure necessary to make this water available to the Pechanga Band. The United States contributed funding for imported water and infrastructure development.
