

The proposed consent decree settles claims for natural resource damages caused by hazardous substances released from City of Seattle facilities along the Lower Duwamish Waterway. Under the proposed consent decree, the City of Seattle will purchase restoration credits in one or more projects approved by the Natural Resource Trustees to create habitat for injured natural resources, including various species of fish and birds. The City of Seattle also will establish conservation easements on parcels along the Lower Duwamish Waterway to ensure that restoration projects constructed on those parcels are preserved, and the City will pay approximately $91,000 of the Trustees' damage assessment costs. The City will also pay Bluefield Holdings, Inc., to operate and maintain a restoration project under the Trustees' oversight, and Bluefield will reimburse the Trustees' future oversight costs for this project. The Natural Resource Trustees will provide the City of Seattle with covenants not to sue under the statutes listed in the complaint and proposed consent decree for specified natural resource damages.

The Natural Resource Trustees have developed a Draft Restoration Plan and Environmental Assessment ("RP/EA") for Project 1, the restoration project incorporated into the Consent Decree that is being developed by Bluefield Holdings, Inc. The Draft RP/EA proposes to select Project 1 as one of the projects to address injuries to natural resources in the Lower Duwamish Waterway.
