Discussion

Pursuant to its Rules of Practice, the Commission collects information to carry out its administrative responsibilities. Any person, partnership, or corporation may request advice from the Commission or FTC staff regarding a course of action the requester contemplates. The Commission’s rules require requesters to provide the information necessary to facilitate resolution of the requests, including information on the question to be resolved, the identity of the companies or persons involved, and other material facts. See FTC Rule 1.2, 16 CFR 1.2. The FTC’s ethics regulations require former employees who are seeking ethical clearance to participate in FTC matters to submit screening affidavits to facilitate resolution of their requests. See FTC Rule 4.1(b), 16 CFR 4.1(b). Requests to participate must include, among other things, a description of the proceeding in which participation is contemplated; the name of the Commission office or division in which the former employee was employed and the position the employee occupied; and a statement whether, while employed by the Commission, the former employee participated in any proceeding or investigation concerning the same company, individual, or industry currently involved in the matter in question. These requirements prevent the improper use of confidential nonpublic information acquired while working at the FTC. The Commission's Rules of Practice also authorize outside parties to request employee testimony, through compulsory process or otherwise, and to request documentary material through compulsory process in cases or matters to which the agency is not a party. See FTC Rule 4.11(e), 16 CFR 4.11(e). These rules require persons seeking testimony or material from the Commission to submit a statement in support of the request setting forth the party's interest in the case or matter, the relevance of the desired testimony or material, and a discussion of whether it is reasonably available from other sources.

The Commission receives approximately 55 such requests annually. Staff estimates respondents will incur, on average, approximately 2 hours of burden to submit a request, resulting in a cumulative 110 burden hours per year (55 requests \times 2 burden hours). Based on an estimated average wage of $145/hour for executive and attorney wages, staff estimates a total annual cost burden of $15,950 (110 hours \times $145). Staff estimates that requesters would incur no capital, start-up, operation, maintenance, or other similar costs associated with submitting covered requests.

The FTC also allows consumers to report fraud, identity theft, National Do Not Call Registry violations, and other violations of law through telephone hotlines and three online consumer report forms. Consumers may call a hotline phone number or log on to the FTC's website to report violations using the applicable reporting forms. The provision of this information is voluntary. The FTC also conducts customer satisfaction surveys regarding the support that the Commission's Consumer Response Center provides to consumers to obtain information about the overall effectiveness of the call center and online complaint intake forms. This information assists Bureau of Consumer Protection staff in carrying out the agency's consumer protection mission. The FTC is also mandated by Congress under the Identity Theft and Assumption Deterrence Act of 1998, 18 U.S.C. 1001 et seq., to serve as the central clearinghouse for identity theft complaints.

The time necessary to file a consumer report or participate in related customer satisfaction surveys will vary. FTC staff estimates that approximately 7,750,841 respondents will submit information pursuant to these processes and that the associated burden will be 452,131 hours per year over the course of the three-year clearance. The cost per respondent to file a complaint is negligible. Participation is voluntary and will not require any labor expenditures by respondents. In addition, there are no capital, start-up, operation, maintenance, or other similar costs for respondents.

The FTC also conducts evaluations of its competition advocacy program and the effectiveness of its merger divestiture orders. The FTC's Competition Advocacy Program draws on the Commission's expertise in competition and consumer protection matters to encourage federal and state legislatures, courts, and other state and federal agencies to consider the effects of proposed actions on consumers and competition. Statutory authority for the advocacy program is found in part in sections 6(a) and (f) of the FTC Act. 15 U.S.C. 46(a) and (f). The FTC's Office of Policy and Planning evaluates the effectiveness of these advocacy comments by sending questionnaires to selected comment recipients. FTC staff sends questionnaires to approximately 20 respondents per year. FTC staff estimates that, on average, respondents will need 15 minutes or less to complete a questionnaire, yielding a cumulative burden of 5 burden hours (20 respondents per year \times 15 minutes per respondent). FTC staff estimates an hourly labor cost of $100 for the time spent by survey participants (primarily, staff at state and federal agencies or members of federal and state legislatures and their staff). Thus, staff estimates a total labor cost of $25 for each response (15 minutes \times $100 per hour). This yields a cumulative yearly labor costs will be approximately $500 (20 respondents \times $25 per response). FTC staff estimates that respondents would incur no capital, start-up, operation, maintenance, or other similar costs for respondent to these questionnaires.

Following an order of divestiture in a merger matter, the FTC's Bureau of Competition's Compliance Division conducts brief calls with acquirers of divested assets to assess the effectiveness of these divestitures. The Commission issues, on average, 15–17 orders in merger cases per year that require divestitures or other remedies. For interviews with purchasers of divested assets, each interview typically takes less than one hour to complete. FTC staff estimates that it takes each participant no more than one hour to prepare for the interview. Accordingly, staff estimates that, for each interview, two individuals (typically a company executive and an attorney) will devote two hours each (one hour preparing and one hour participating) to responding to questions for a total of four hours. Assuming that staff evaluates approximately 17 divestitures per year during the three-year clearance period, staff estimates that the total hours burden will be 68 hours per year (17 divestiture reviews \times 4 hours for preparing and participating). Staff may include approximately two monitor interviews a year, which would add at most 4 hours (2 interviews \times 2 hours for preparing and participating). Interviews of monitors typically involve only the monitor and take approximately one hour to complete with no more than one hour to prepare for the interview. This yields a total burden of 72 burden hours per year. Staff estimates that the total annual labor cost, based on an estimated average of $145/hour for executive and attorney wages, would be $10,440 (72 hours \times $145). There are no capital, start-up, operation, maintenance, or other similar costs to respondents.
