

for large commercial vessels using a sophisticated navigational computer called an Electronic Chart Display and Information System (ECDIS), ENC's are now also being used on simpler electronic chart systems and "chart plotters" on many types of ships and by recreational boaters. NOAA ENC's help provide real-time ship positioning, as well as collision and grounding avoidance. NOAA established a certification program for the redistribution of official NOAA ENC's in 15 CFR part 995 in order to ensure the quality and content of official NOAA ENC's remains intact throughout the redistribution process. The certification allows entities to download, redistribute, repackage, or in some cases reformat, official NOAA ENC's and retain the NOAA ENC's official status.

The recordkeeping and reporting requirements of 15 CFR part 995 form the basis for this collection of information. This information allows the Office of Coast Survey to administer the regulation, and to better understand the marketplace resulting in products that meet the needs of the customer in a timely and efficient manner.
