

staff) coordinate family support services for parents/guardians; the characteristics of Head Start programs and staff members involved in family support services coordination; the job characteristics, work activities, and well-being of Head Start family support services staff members; and how Head Start programs can improve coordination of family support services. The data collection will build on information collected previously through case studies at six Head Start sites (OMB #0970–0538). Proposed data collection activities include three components. First, a brief web-based survey of a nationally representative sample of program directors will collect program information, including contact information for family and community partnerships managers and for family support services staff members needed for other data collection components.

Second, an in-depth web-based survey of family and community partnerships managers identified by program directors will collect information about Head Start programs’ structures and services for providing supports to parents and families; and the demographic characteristics, experiences, job characteristics, and well-being of managers who supervise family support services staff members. Third, three data collection activities (referred to as Parts A, B, and C) will gather information from family support services staff members. Part A, an in-depth web-based survey, will gather information about the structures and services that Head Start programs have for providing supports to parents and families; how family support services staff members reach out to and engage families in family support services; how family support services staff members work with families; and the demographic characteristics, experiences, job characteristics, and well-being of staff members who provide family support services. Part B, brief web-based surveys, will supplement Part A and will collect additional information about specific daily work activities and well-being, providing more fine-grained detail about workdays of family support services staff members. Part C, focus groups, will be conducted with a sample of family support services staff to collect information about innovations and ideas for improving how Head Start programs coordinate and individualize family support services.

Respondents: Head Start program directors, Head Start family and community partnerships managers, and Head Start family support services staff members.

Other goods and services may include clothes, food, assistance with obtaining identification (driver's license, birth certificate), child care, and translation services.

The ACF Office of Human Services Emergency Preparedness and Response (OHSEPR), at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), administers the Program.

OHSEPR made changes to all eight forms to ensure the information collected aligns with Program statutes and regulations as well as the purpose and use of the form.
