Consultation

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by Reclamation professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Absentee-Shawnee Tribe of Indians of Oklahoma. Representatives from the Wichita and Affiliated Tribes (Wichita, Keechi, Waco, & Tawakonie), Oklahoma were also contacted but declined to consult, on the basis that the land from which the human remains were removed is outside of the Tribe's traditional territory.

History and Description of the Remains

On July 1, 1982, human remains representing, at minimum, one individual were removed from the Little Axe Skeletal Remains Site (34CL210) in Cleveland County, OK. The burial was discovered by a visitor to Little River State Park, who noted the presence human remains exposed by erosion on an access road within the state park near Clear Bay and reported the exposed human remains at the Little Axe Grocery store, whereupon a store employee contacted state park officials. Larry Neal of the Oklahoma Archaeological Society notified Reclamation archeologists of the discovery on July 6, 1982. After consulting with the Oklahoma State Medical Examiner's Office and the Absentee-Shawnee Tribe of Indians of Oklahoma, Reclamation archeologists removed the human remains and took them to the Reclamation office in Amarillo, TX. Beginning in December of 1982, the human remains were curated at the Mabee-Gerrer Museum of Art, St. Gregory College in Shawnee, OK. On May 23, 1995, the human remains were moved to the Museum of the Great Plains in Lawton, OK, by Hector Garcia and placed on a one-year loan. The individual is represented by a nearly complete skeleton. The remains probably belong to a male 18-20 years old. No known individual was identified. No associated funerary objects are present.
