SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Fire Prevention and Control Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-498), as enacted in 15 U.S.C. chapter 49, provides for the gathering and analyzing of data as deemed useful and applicable for fire departments. The U.S. Fire Administration (USFA) receives many requests from fire service organizations and the general public for information related to fire departments, including total number of departments, number of stations per department, population protected, and number of firefighters. The USFA also has a need for this information to guide programmatic decisions and produce mailing lists for USFA publications.

Recommendations for the creation of the fire department census database came out of a Blue Ribbon Panel's review of the USFA. The report included a review of the structure, mission, and funding of the USFA, future policies, programmatic needs, course development and delivery, and the role of the USFA to reflect changes in the fire service. As a result of those recommendations, the USFA is working to identify all fire departments in the United States to develop a database that will include information related to demographics, capabilities, and activities of fire departments Nationwide. In the fall of 2016, the USFA renamed the census to the National Fire Department Registry. In the fall of 2001, information was collected from 16,000 fire departments. Since the first year of the collection, an additional 11,182 departments have registered for a total of 27,182 fire departments. This leaves an estimated 2,818 departments still to respond. Additionally, about 5,436 current registered departments are contacted by USFA each year and are asked to provide updates to any previously submitted information.

Establishment of Lost Trail Conservation Area, Montana

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice advises the public that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) has established the Lost Trail Conservation Area (LTCA), the 568th unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System. The Service established LTCA on July 13, 2022, with the purchase of a 38,052-acre conservation easement in Flathead and Lincoln counties, Montana.

ADDRESSES: Information on LTCA, including a map depicting the approved conservation area boundary, is available at <https://www.fws.gov/media/lost-trail-conservation-area-land-protection-plan-and-environmental-assessment>.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jamie Hanson, Conservation Planner, (720) 591-8458 or via U.S. mail at Division of Refuge Planning, USFWS, P.O. Box 25486, DFC, Denver, CO 80225. Individuals in the United States who are deaf, deafblind, hard of hearing, or have a speech disability may dial 711 (TTY, TDD, or TeleBraille) to access telecommunications relay services. Individuals outside the United States should use the relay services offered within their country to make international calls to the point-of-contact in the United States.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service), have established the Lost Trail Conservation Area (LTCA), the 568th unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System. We established LTCA on July 13, 2022, with the purchase of a 38,052-acre conservation easement in the northwestern part of Montana, in Flathead and Lincoln Counties. Conservation areas are National Wildlife Refuge System units that consist primarily or entirely of conservation easements on private lands. LTCA is unique in that it includes private timberland that has historically been open to the public on a voluntary basis. The establishment of this conservation area ensures that public recreational access to this land is maintained in perpetuity. LTCA will allow sustainable commercial timber harvests and provide wildlife-dependent recreational opportunities such as hunting, fishing, hiking, and wildlife viewing.

Conservation Area

LTCA's acquisition boundary delineates parcels where the Service may consider negotiations with willing sellers for easement acquisition. Conservation easements will protect critical, State-identified wildlife corridors; guarantee public access for sportspersons and outdoor enthusiasts in perpetuity; and allow for sustainable timber harvest that supports the local economy in northwest Montana. The project protects crucial habitat and linkage corridors for federally listed species, including grizzly bear, Canada lynx, Spalding's catchfly, and other federal trust species. This land will also secure a vital migration corridor for elk and mule deer. Part of the Heart of the Salish Priority Area identified in the Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks' Secretarial Order 3362, "State Action Plan for Big Game Winter Range and Migration Corridors," the land within the project area provides over 6,000 hunter-use days per year and is the core area of the most popular elk-hunting district in northwest Montana. LTCA will also support Department of the Interior Secretarial Orders 3347, "Conservation Stewardship and Outdoor Recreation," and 3356, "Hunting, Fishing, Recreational Shooting, and Wildlife Conservation Opportunities and Coordination with States, Tribes, and Territories," by enhancing conservation stewardship; protecting outdoor recreation opportunities for all Americans, including opportunities to hunt and fish; and supporting game species and their habitats for this generation and beyond.

LTCA was funded by the Great American Outdoors Act and Land and Water Conservation Fund. The Service worked in partnership with the Trust for Public Land and the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes (CSKT) to purchase the 38,052-acre conservation easement from continuing owner SPP Montana.

Public Involvement Process

In order to provide the public an opportunity to engage in the planning process, and in compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), the Service prepared a draft environmental assessment (EA) that evaluated two alternatives and their potential impacts on the project area. The Service released the draft EA with a land protection plan on September 16, 2020, for a 30-day
