

reduce the reporting burden associated with the FR Y-7 without materially impairing the usefulness of the information to the Board. The Board acknowledges the variance between the FR Y-7 and the FR Y-10 in reporting certain nonbanking companies in which the reporting entity controls between five and 25 percent of outstanding shares of any class of voting securities. However, this information is relevant for supervisory purposes and is not reported elsewhere. The Board will continue to collect this information on the FR Y-7 report at this time.

Aside from the changes discussed above, the Board adopted the extension, with revision, of the FR Y-6, FR Y-7, FR Y-10, and FR Y-10E reports as originally proposed.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, November 23, 2022.

Proposal Under OMB Delegated Authority To Extend for Three Years, Without Revision, the Following Information Collection

Collection title: Annual Daylight Overdraft Capital Report for U.S. Branches and Agencies of Foreign Banks.

Collection identifier: FR 2225.

OMB control number: 7100-0216.

Frequency: Annually.

Respondents: Foreign banking organizations (FBOs) with U.S. branches or agencies.

Estimated number of respondents: 51.

Estimated average hours per response: 1.

Estimated annual burden hours: 51.

General description of collection: The FR 2225 is required for FBOs that wish to, and are eligible to, establish a non-zero net debit cap for their U.S. branches and agencies under the Federal Reserve Policy on Payment System Risk. The FR 2225 reporting form collects information needed to identify the respondent and its fiscal year end, and collects four items to determine its year-end capital and assets for purposes of daylight overdraft monitoring. Four items, converted into U.S. dollars, are collected for the capital and assets determination: worldwide capital for the reporting FBO (item 1); an adjustment to avoid double counting of capital used by any direct or indirect subsidiary of the FBO that also has access to Fedwire and has its own net debit cap (item 2); the FBO's total daylight overdraft capital base for the U.S. branch and agency family (item 3), which is used to calculate the net debit cap; and the reporting FBO's total worldwide assets (item 4).

Legal authorization and confidentiality: This information collection is authorized pursuant to section 7(a) of the International Banking Act,¹ which establishes reserve requirements for U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks, and pursuant to section 13(14) of the Federal Reserve Act (FRA),² which provides that "each Federal Reserve bank may receive deposits from, discount paper endorsed by, and make advances to any branch or agency of a foreign bank in the same manner and to the same extent that it may exercise such powers with respect to a member bank if such branch or agency is maintaining reserves with such Reserve bank pursuant to section 7 of the International Banking Act of 1978." In addition, sections 11(i), 16, and 19(f) of the FRA,³ which permit Reserve Banks to provide payment services to member banks, provide authority for the collection of the FR 2225 report in conjunction with the provisions above providing that Federal Reserve Banks may provide certain services to certain FBOs to the same extent that it may provide these services to a member bank. The FR 2225 is required to obtain a benefit, specifically a non-zero net debit cap.

The Board generally does not consider the information collected on the FR 2225 report to be confidential, and the completed version of this report generally is made available to the public upon request. However, in certain instances, specific information collected on an individual FBO's FR 2225 report may be exempt from disclosure, for example, pursuant to exemption 4 of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), which protects from public disclosure "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential."⁴ In order to obtain confidential treatment, a request for confidential treatment must be submitted by the FBO in writing concurrently with the submission of the FR 2225 report. This written request must identify the specific data for which confidential treatment is sought and must provide the legal justification for the confidentiality request, as provided in the Board's Rules Regarding Availability of Information (12 CFR part 261). The Federal Reserve will review each request for confidential treatment on a case-by-case basis to determine if confidential treatment is appropriate.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, November 22, 2022.

Michele Taylor Fennell,

Deputy Associate Secretary of the Board.
