Abstract: The State Water Resources Research Institutes were established under Section 104(a) of the WRRRA [42 U.S.C. 10303(a)]. There are 54 Water Resources Research Institutes, one in each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Guam; the Institute in Hawaii also serves American Samoa and the Institute in Guam serves both the Federated States of Micronesia and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. These Institutes cooperate with the USGS on reporting on the science that is accomplished and coordinating and facilitating regional research, outreach, and technology transfer.

The USGS WRRRA program issues an annual announcement to solicit applications for noncompetitive State Water Resources Research Program annual base grants authorized by section 104(c) and for the national competitive grant program authorized by section 104(g) of the WRRRA of 1984 (Pub. L. 98–242), as amended [42 U.S.C. 10303(c)].

Annual base grants (104(c)) may support research- and information-transfer projects as well as administrative projects that advance the institutes’ overall administration and objectives; these research projects are generally selected in a competitive statewide solicitation, peer-review, and selection process designed and conducted by each institute. National competitive grants (104(g)) focus on water problems and issues of a regional or interstate nature beyond those of concern only to a single state and which relate to specific program priorities identified jointly by the Secretary of the Interior (delegated to the USGS) and the institutes.

Published below is an updated list of federally recognized Indian Tribes within the contiguous 48 states and Alaska. Amendments to the list include formatting edits and name changes.

To aid in identifying Tribal name changes, the Tribe's previously listed, former name, or also known as (a.k.a.) is included in parentheses after the correct current Tribal name. The BIA will continue to list the Tribe's former or previously listed name for several years after the publication of the notice of the correct current Tribal name.
