

and future career opportunities; and provide an opportunity for young people involved in 4–H in rural, urban and Tribal communities to share their voice on a national level with the federal government.

National 4–H Conference is administered by the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) of the USDA. NIFA has determined that the Conference is reasonably and logically related to carrying out its statutory authority under Section 7511(f)(2) of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (Pub. L. 110–246), as amended.

All NIFA Land-grant Colleges and Universities (1862, 1890, and 1994) are invited to select and send high school aged 4–H participants along with chaperones to National 4–H Conference. Each is encouraged to partner within their state to select a diverse state delegation based on age, background, geographic distribution, and/or experience with the 4–H Program.

Approximately 220 4–H participants between the ages of 15 to 19; 90 adult volunteer chaperones from 1862, 1890, and 1994 Institutions and the Cooperative Extension System; and 25 partner groups from across the federal government as well as non-profit organizations register to participate. Additionally, four adults, 17 college students and six youths serve in leadership positions.

The multi-day event is held in the Washington, DC area in Spring and includes registration, a published substantive agenda, scheduled speakers, and discussion panels. A core program activity is the federal briefings where youth delegates plan and deliver briefings based on challenge questions submitted by partnering federal agencies and congressional committees. The Secretary of Agriculture speaks during the Secretary's Assembly and in the past, U.S. Presidents have graced the event.

NIFA exercises overall oversight and development of the program for National 4–H Conference and works cooperatively with a logistics company, authorized under 7 U.S.C. 3318(c), who provides the required goods and services to ensure National 4–H Conference is successful at achieving its objectives.

The information collection is used by USDA and the logistics company to ensure youth and adults who would like to attend or serve in a leadership role at National 4–H Conference can be contacted, submit activity and dietary preferences, meet eligibility requirements, and provide the required permissions required by law such as parental/guardian consent. The information collection is necessary to evaluate the application and other required paperwork for determining the applicant's eligibility and to assist in the selection of the leadership team for National 4–H Conference.
