POSTAL SERVICE

Privacy Act of 1974; System of Records

AGENCY: Postal Service®.

ACTION: Notice of modified systems of records.

SUMMARY: The United States Postal Service® (USPS) is proposing to revise one Customer Privacy Act System of Records (SOR). These modifications are being made to support an initiative that is intended to enhance the USPS shippers' customer experience and individual privacy protection when filing an online International inquiry. The USPS International Assistant (IA) initiative will improve the efficiency of the identity verification process by streamlining name and address verification as described below.

DATES: These revisions will become effective without further notice on April 7, 2023, unless in response to comments received on or before that date result in a contrary determination.

ADDRESSES: Comments may be submitted via email to the Privacy and Records Management Office, United States Postal Service Headquarters (uspsprivacyfedregnotice@usps.gov). To facilitate public inspection, arrangements to view copies of written comments received may be made upon request.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Janine Castorina, Chief Privacy and Records Management Officer, Privacy and Records Management Office, via (uspsprivacyfedregnotice@usps.gov or 202–268–2000).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice is in accordance with the Privacy

Act requirement that agencies publish their systems of records in the Federal Register when there is a revision, change, or addition, or when the agency establishes a new system of records. The Postal Service has determined that Customer Privacy Act System of Records, USPS SOR 810.100, www.usps.com Registration, should be revised to support the USPS International Assistant (IA) initiative. The Postal Service continuously seeks to improve service and the customer experience and is therefore proposing to simplify the process for filing an international inquiry online by using the IA tool. The IA initiative is intended to improve the efficiency of the identity verification process by streamlining name and address verification when submitting International Inquiries on usps.com. The USPS International Assistant (IA) promotes individual privacy protection by leveraging usps.com Customer Registration account profile information to improve the identity verification of the individual submitting the international inquiry.

I. Background

International customer care involves a two-step process to submit an International inquiry for lost or damaged packages. Investigation of a package that a customer shipped from the United States (U.S.) to an International destination begins with an individual customer inquiry. Once the inquiry is filed and the USPS agent investigates the lost or damaged package request, the inquiry is determined to be either closed or to proceed as a Claim.

The IA online International inquiry tool initially facilitates the filing of an inquiry by using the package tracking number to pull product, service, scanning, and shipment data from internal USPS databases. The USPS requires this data for each export shipment to meet compliance regulations and to investigate the status of a customer's International inquiry. The individual that is filing the inquiry will be required to login to their usps.com Customer Registration account to proceed. IA then begins the process to verify that the customer filing the inquiry is the sender of the package, or if the individual filing the inquiry is the Sender's Representative.

Enhanced International Assistant (IA) Online Inquiry Process Description

For the Sender: If the sender's name and address on the package matches the name and address in the Customer Registration profile of the individual customer filing the international inquiry, the IA system will allow the customer to proceed with filing an inquiry. However, if the sender's name and/or address associated with the package is different than the name and/or address in the Customer Registration profile, the IA system will ask the customer to confirm the sender's name and/or address that appears on the shipment. If the sender's name on the package matches the name in the Customer Registration profile, and the sender can identify the sender's address on the package, the customer will be advised to update their address profile, if applicable, in Customer Registration on usps.com. If this customer does not accurately identify the sender's name and/or address on the package, then the customer will be asked to call the USPS Customer Care Center for further assistance.

For the Sender's Representative: If the sender's representative is filing the inquiry and has registered in Customer Registration on usps.com with a name and address that is different from the sender's, they will be asked to identify the sender's address on the package identified with the tracking number. If this customer does not accurately identify the sender's address on the package, then the customer will be asked to call the USPS Customer Care Center for further assistance.

The IA tool is a dynamic customer facing interactive solution that facilitates a complete and accurate inquiry for lost or damaged packages that were sent to International destinations. IA optimizes steps needed to submit an inquiry, while providing guidance to customers based on their responses for key information. The Postal Service is proposing to enhance the International Assistant (IA) international inquiry registration process on usps.com, by making it easier for the customer to secure authorization to file an inquiry by verifying their identity using their Customer Registration account profile name and address information.

II. Rationale for Changes to USPS Privacy Act Systems of Records

The enhanced IA online inquiry submission process requires the customer to sign-in to, or to create an account on www.usps.com, Customer Registration. The proposed process change will protect the privacy of the sender's personal information by verifying that the customer filing the inquiry is either the Sender or the Sender's Representative. This process fulfills the objective to protect the privacy of the sender's personal information by verifying the sender's identity and address, or by verifying the sender representative's authority to file the Inquiry. For example, the sender's representative cannot access the sender's personal address information based on the package tracking number alone. By leveraging the customer registration profile information of a logged-in customer, the IA can also prefill most of the information individual customers are required to enter when filing an inquiry. Therefore, the IA enhancement facilitates sender name and address verification, while streamlining the online international inquiry process.

The Postal Service has determined that Privacy Act System of Records, USPS SOR 810.100 www.usps.com Registration, should be revised to support a key component of the International Assistant (IA) Initiative, to verify the sender's name and address or the authority of the sender's representative to file the inquiry, by leveraging their respective Customer Registration account profile.

III. Description of the Modified System of Records

- Added new CATEGORY OF RECORDS #8 for International Package inquiries using the International Assistant tool

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(11), interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, or arguments on this proposal.
