- No relationship of shared group identity can be reasonably traced between the human remains and any Indian Tribe.
- Based on the Treaty of Fort Pitt, signed on September 17, 1778, the area from which the human remains described in the notice were removed is the aboriginal land of the Lenape people, who are represented by the Delaware Nation, Oklahoma; Delaware Tribe of Indians; and the Stockbridge Munsee Community, Wisconsin.

If competing requests for disposition are received, the Mütter Museum of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia must determine the most appropriate requestor prior to disposition. (See account in Catlin's North American Indians)." On July 10th, 1990, the human remains were transferred to the Minnesota Indian Affairs Council (H178). No known individuals were identified.
