(c) Location of additional requirements for the importation of specific cut flowers. In addition to any other general conditions for importation in this section, APHIS may impose additional restrictions on the importation of specific types of cut flowers in order to effectively mitigate the risk of introducing quarantine pests into the United States. For the taxa of cut flowers whose importation is subject to additional restrictions, and the specific restrictions that apply to the importation of those cut flowers, consult the USDA Agricultural Commodity Import Requirements database.

(d) Process for adding, changing, or removing restrictions. Restrictions on the importation of specific types of cut flowers will be changed through the following processes:

(1) Process for removing or relaxing restrictions. (i) If APHIS determines that the requirements for the importation of a specific type of cut flower are no longer necessary to reasonably mitigate the pest risk posed by the cut flower, APHIS will publish a notice in the Federal Register proposing to revise the requirements for the importation of the cut flower. The notice will also make the new pest risk documentation on which these proposed requirements are based available for public comment. The notice will allow for at least 60 days of public comment.

(ii) APHIS will issue a second notice after the close of the public comment period on the notice described in paragraph (d)(1)(i) of this section. This notice will inform the public of APHIS' decision whether to remove or relax requirements for the importation of the cut flower, and it will respond to any comments received on the initial notice.

(2) Process for adding restrictions. If APHIS determines that the requirements for the importation of a specific type of cut flower are no longer sufficient to reasonably mitigate the pest risk posed by the cut flower, APHIS will prohibit or further restrict importation of the cut flower. APHIS will subsequently publish a notice in the Federal Register advising the public of its finding. The notice will specify the amended importation requirements, provide an effective date for the change, and will invite public comment on the subject.

(e) Previously imposed restrictions on the importation of specific types of cut flowers. Types of cut flowers whose importation was subject to specific restrictions as of [Effective date of final rule], will continue to be subject to those restrictions, except as changed in accordance with the process specified in paragraph (d) of this section. The restrictions are found in the USDA Agricultural Commodity Import Requirements database.
