D. Summary of Utilizing Forms HUD-92051, Fannie Mae 1004D, or a Letter of Attestation.

Comments and HUD Responses:

Comment: Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) recommends that HUD give lenders the flexibility to utilize either Form 92051 or Fannie Mae's Form 1004D, or, in certain circumstances a letter of attestation when certifying the completion of construction in the case of new construction properties.

HUD Response: HUD appreciates this feedback. HUD also notes that there are multiple options to demonstrate compliance with the required inspections for new construction financing. The form HUD-92051, Compliance Inspection Report is only applicable when the inspection is performed by an ICC certified RCI or CI or a third-party, who is a registered architect, a structural engineer, or a qualified trades person or contractor, and appropriate state-sanctioned inspection form is an alternative to the HUD-92051.

Comment: MBA recommends that HUD allow lenders to also utilize attestation letters which would not only bring FHA more in line with the government-sponsored enterprises but would also enhance the experience of FHA borrowers.

HUD Response: HUD appreciates this comment and will consider for future policy enhancements.

Comment: MBA recommends that HUD discontinue its Mortgagee's Assurance of Completion Form 92300 due to its redundant nature in certifying necessary repairs or alterations for new construction properties.

HUD Response: HUD appreciates this comment and will consider for future policy enhancements.
