SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Departments of the Treasury, Labor, and HHS (collectively, the Departments) and the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) published proposed rules entitled “Federal Independent Dispute Resolution Operations,” which appeared in the Federal Register on November 3, 2023 (88 FR 75744). In the proposed rules, the Departments and OPM proposed requirements related to the Federal independent dispute resolution (IDR) process established under the No Surprises Act, including new requirements for disclosing information along with the initial payment or notice of denial of payment for certain items and services subject to the surprise billing protections in the No Surprises Act and when initiating the Federal IDR process and the provision of certain Claim Adjustment Reason Codes (CARCs) and Remittance Advice Remark Codes (RARCs) with paper or electronic remittances. Additionally, those proposed rules would define bundled payment arrangements and would amend certain requirements related to the open negotiation period, initiation of the Federal IDR process, eligibility determinations, batched disputes, extensions due to extenuating circumstances, selection of the certified IDR entity, and the collection of administrative fees and certified IDR entity fees. Lastly, the proposed rules would require plans and issuers to register in the Federal IDR portal.

The Departments published the final rules entitled “Federal Independent Dispute Resolution Process Administrative Fee and Certified IDR Entity Fee Ranges” (the IDR Fees final rules), which appeared in the Federal Register on December 21, 2023 (88 FR 88494). The IDR Fees final rules amend existing regulations to provide that the administrative fee amount charged by the Departments to participate in the Federal IDR process and the ranges for certified IDR entity fees will be established by the Departments in notice and comment rulemaking. The preamble to the IDR Fees final rules also sets forth the methodology used to calculate the administrative fee and the considerations used to develop the certified IDR entity fee ranges. The IDR Fees final rules also finalize the amount of the administrative fee and the certified IDR entity fee ranges for disputes initiated on or after the effective date of the IDR Fees final rules.

In addition, the preamble to the IDR Fees final rules addresses how changes in that rulemaking relate to the proposals contained in the Federal Independent Dispute Resolution Operations proposed rules, for which the comment period closed on January 2, 2024. To provide additional time for interested parties to consider and comment on any implications of the IDR Fees final rules, the Departments and OPM are reopening the comment period on the Federal Independent Dispute Resolution Operations proposed rules for all comments from January 22, 2024 to February 5, 2024. To be assured consideration, comments on the proposed rules must be received no later than February 5, 2024.

Airworthiness Directives; Airbus SAS Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM).

SUMMARY: The FAA proposes to supersede Airworthiness Directive (AD) 2021–20–08, which applies to certain Airbus SAS Model A318, A319, A320, A321, A330–200, A330–300 Freighter, A330–300, A330–800, A330–900, A340–200, A340–300, A340–500, A340–600, and A380–800 series airplanes. AD 2021–20–08 requires replacing certain parts manufacturer approval (PMA) nickel-cadmium (Ni-Cd) batteries with serviceable Ni-Cd batteries. Since the FAA issued AD 2021–20–08, it was determined that the on-wing preservation procedures originally provided in the service information did not ensure the expected preservation of the battery capacity. This proposed AD would add airplanes to the applicability and require replacement of certain affected parts with serviceable parts as a precondition for return to service of airplanes from storage or parking, as specified in a European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA) AD, which is proposed for incorporation by reference (IBR). The FAA is proposing this AD to address the unsafe condition on these products.

DATES: The FAA must receive comments on this proposed AD by March 7, 2024.
