SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Authority

Chapters 73 and 74 of 38 U.S.C. and 38 U.S.C. 303 authorize the Secretary to regulate VA health care professions to make certain that VA's health care system provides safe and effective health care by qualified health care professionals to ensure the well-being of those veterans who have borne the battle.

On November 12, 2020, VA published an interim final rule confirming that VA health care professionals may practice their health care profession consistent with the scope and requirements of their VA employment, notwithstanding any State license, registration, certification, or other State requirements that unduly interfere with their practice. 38 CFR 17.419; 85 FR 71838. Specifically, this rulemaking confirmed VA's current practice of allowing VA health care professionals to deliver health care services in a State other than the health care professional's state of licensure, registration, certification, or other State requirement, thereby enhancing beneficiaries' access to critical VA health care services. The rulemaking also confirmed VA's authority to establish national standards of practice for its health care professionals which would standardize a health care professional's practice in all VA medical facilities, regardless of conflicting State laws, rules, regulations, or other State requirements.

The rulemaking explained that a national standard of practice describes the tasks and duties that a VA health care professional practicing in the health care profession may perform and may be permitted to undertake. Having a national standard of practice means that individuals from the same VA health care profession may provide the same type of tasks and duties regardless of the State where they are located or the State license, registration, certification, or other State requirement they hold. We emphasized in the rulemaking and reiterate here that VA will determine, on an individual basis, that a health care professional has the proper education, training, and skills to perform the tasks and duties detailed in the national standard of practice, and that they will only be able to perform such tasks and duties after they have been incorporated into the individual's privileges, scope of practice, or functional statement. The rulemaking explicitly did not create any such national standards and directed that all national standards of practice would be subsequently created via policy.

Preemption of State Requirements

The national standard of practice will preempt any State laws, rules, regulations, or requirements that both are and are not listed in the national standard as conflicting, but that do in fact conflict with the tasks and duties as authorized in VA's national standard of practice. In the event that a State changes their requirements and places new limitations on the tasks and duties it allows in a manner that would be inconsistent with what is authorized under the national standard of practice, the national standard of practice will preempt such limitations and authorize the VA health care professional to continue to practice consistent with the tasks and duties outlined in the national standard of practice.

In cases where a VA health care professional's license, registration, certification, or other State requirement allows a practice that is not included in a national standard of practice, the individual may continue that practice so long as it is permissible by Federal law and VA policy, is not explicitly prohibited by the national standard of practice, and is approved by the VA medical facility.

Need for National Standards of Practice

It is critical that VA, the Nation's largest integrated health care system, develops national standards of practice to ensure, first, that beneficiaries receive the same high-quality care regardless of where they enter the system and, second, that VA health care professionals can efficiently meet the needs of beneficiaries when practicing within the scope of their VA employment. National standards are designed to increase beneficiaries' access to safe and effective health care, thereby improving health outcomes. The importance of this initiative has been underscored by the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic. The increased need for mobility in VA's workforce, including through VA's Disaster Emergency Medical Personnel System, highlighted the importance of creating uniform national standards of practice to better support VA health care professionals who practice across State lines. Creating national standards of practice also promotes interoperability of medical data between VA and the Department of Defense (DoD), providing a complete picture of a veteran's health information and improving VA's delivery of health care to the Nation's veterans. DoD has historically standardized practice for certain health care professionals, and VA has closely partnered with DoD to learn from their experience.

Process to Develop National Standards of Practice

As authorized by 38 CFR 17.419, VA is developing national standards of practice via policy. There will be one overarching national standard of practice directive that will generally describe Veterans Health Administration (VHA) policy; each individual national standard of practice will be an appendix to the directive. The directive and all appendices will be accessible on the VHA Publications website at <https://vaww.va.gov/vhapublications/> (internal) and <https://www.va.gov/vhapublications/> (external) once published.

To develop these national standards, VA is using a robust, interactive process that adheres to the requirements of Executive Order (E.O.) 13132 to preempt conflicting State laws, rules, regulations, or other requirements. The process includes consultation with internal and external stakeholders, including State licensing boards, VA employees, professional associations, Veterans Service Organizations, labor partners, and others. For each VA occupation, a workgroup comprised of VA health care professionals in the identified occupation conducts research to identify internal best practices that may not be authorized under every State license, certification, or registration, but would enhance the practice and efficiency of the profession throughout VA. If a best practice is identified that is not currently authorized by every State, the workgroup determines what education, training, and skills are required to perform such tasks and duties. The workgroup then drafts a proposed VA national standard of practice using the data gathered during the research and incorporates internal stakeholder feedback into the standard. The workgroup may consult with internal or external stakeholders at any point throughout the process.

The proposed national standard of practice is then internally reviewed, to include by an interdisciplinary VA workgroup consisting of representatives from Quality Management, VA medical facility Chief of Staff, Academic Affiliates, Veterans Integrated Services Network (VISN) Chief Nursing Officer, Ethics, Workforce Management and Consulting, Surgery, Credentialing and Privileging, VISN Chief Medical Officer, and Electronic Health Record Modernization.

Externally, VA hosts listening sessions for members of the public, professional associations, and VA employees to provide comments on the variance between State practice acts for a specific occupation and what should be included in the national standard of practice for that occupation. The Listening Session for Peer Specialists was held on September 21, 2023. No professional associations presented comments on the Peer Specialist scope of practice.

VA has developed a robust process to engage with partners, members of the public, States, and employees on the proposed national standard of practice. VA provides the proposed national standard of practice to our DoD partners as an opportunity to flag inconsistencies with DoD standards. VA also engages labor partners informally as part of a pre-decisional collaboration. Consistent with E.O. 13132, VA sends a letter to each State board and certifying organization or registration organization, as appropriate, which includes the proposed national standard and offers the recipient an opportunity to discuss the national standard with VA. After the State boards, certifying organizations, or registration organizations have received notification, the proposed national standard of practice is posted in the Federal Register for 60 days to obtain feedback from the public, professional associations, and any other interested parties. At the same time, the proposed national standard is posted to an internal VA site to obtain feedback from VA employees. Responses received through all vehicles—from State boards, professional associations, unions, VA employees, and any other individual or organization who provides comments via the Federal Register—will be reviewed. VA will make appropriate revisions in light of the comments, including those that present evidence-based practice and alternatives that help VA meet our mission and goals. VA will publish a collective response to all comments at <https://www.va.gov/standardsofpractice>.

After the national standard of practice is finalized, approved, and published in VHA policy, VA will implement the tasks and duties authorized by that national standard of practice. Any tasks or duties included in the national standard will be properly incorporated into individual health care professionals' privileges, scope of practice, or functional statement once it has been determined by their VA medical facility that the individual has the proper education, training, and skills to perform the task or duty. Implementation of the national standard of practice may be phased in across all VA medical facilities, with limited exemptions for health care professionals as needed.

Format for National Standard for Peer Specialists

The proposed format for national standards of practice when there are State certifications is as follows. The first paragraph provides general information about the profession and a broad list of tasks and duties these health care professionals can do. For this national standard, Peer Specialists are United States military veterans who self-identify with a lived experience of recovery from a mental health condition and have been professionally trained to help other veterans with similar experiences to identify and achieve specific life and recovery goals. This is an evolving profession both in and outside of VA. We reiterate that the proposed standard of practice does not contain an exhaustive list of every task and duty that each VA health care professional can perform. Rather, it is designed to highlight generally what tasks and duties the health care professionals perform and how this they will be able to practice within VA notwithstanding their State license, certification, registration, or other State requirements.

The second paragraph references the training and certification needed to practice this profession at VA. Qualification standards for employment of health care professionals by VA are outlined in VA Handbook 5005, Staffing, dated November 8, 2023. VA follows the requirements outlined in the VA qualification standards even if the requirements conflict with or otherwise differ from a State requirement. National standards of practice do not affect those requirements. This includes, but is not limited to, when a State requires a license to practice a specific occupation, but VA does not require a State license as part of the qualification standards. For Peer Specialists, VA qualification standards require an active, current, full, and unrestricted certification from a State or a not-for-profit entity with Peer Specialist training.

The third paragraph confirms that this profession can perform all the duties set by the State certification bodies. For Peer Specialists, VA reviewed State certification requirements and State-recognized non-profit organization certification requirements. VA found that 48 States certify Peer Specialists through a State certification or a non-profit entity and seven States do not regulate Peer Specialists. However, VA found no variance in how Peer Specialists practice in any State. VA thus proposes to adopt a national standard of practice for Peer Specialists that is consistent with what is permitted in all States. As previously noted, this VA national standard of practice is the first attempt at creating a comprehensive standard for Peer Specialists.

This national standard of practice does not address training because it will not authorize VA Peer Specialists to perform any tasks or duties not already authorized under their State certifications.

Following public and VA employee comments and revisions, each national standard of practice that is published into policy will also include the date for recertification of the standard of practice and a point of contact for questions or concerns.

Proposed National Standard of Practice for Peer Specialists

1. Peer Specialists are United States military Veterans who self-identify with a lived experience of recovery from a mental health condition and have been professionally trained to help other Veterans with similar experiences to identify and achieve specific life and recovery goals. Peer Specialist is an evolving profession both in and outside of VA, and a national scope of practice for this profession has not been previously developed or implemented. VA is the largest single employer of Peer Specialists in the United States. This VA national standard of practice is the first uniform set of guidelines to which Peer Specialists practice. Peer Specialists are actively engaged in their own recovery and wellness and provide individual and group-based peer support services to other veterans who use VA health care services. Peer Specialists share aspects of their personal recovery story and wellness strategies, when and where it is appropriate to do so, to be of help to others. They collaborate with other health care professionals on interdisciplinary treatment teams as the teams work toward shared goals to provide quality health care services for Veterans. Peer Specialists' tasks and duties include, but are not limited to:

- a. Assisting Veterans to explore, identify, and make progress on their self-directed personal recovery and wellness goals.
- b. Being role models and sharing elements of their personal experience, including their recovery stories, coping techniques, and self-help strategies to be of service to others.
- c. Collaborating with Veterans and their treatment providers to identify and cultivate Veterans' skills and strengths that support their recovery goals.
- d. Helping Veterans to learn new coping skills and self-help strategies to overcome fears and barriers that could inhibit the Veteran's personal recovery. This does not include facilitating psychotherapy protocols.
- e. Advocating for Veterans when needed and supporting Veterans in learning to self-advocate for their own needs and interests.
- f. Supporting Veterans in distress and collaborating with colleagues to connect Veterans with clinical providers' services and community services when needed.

g. Assisting Veterans to connect to available VA and community resources, including conducting outreach calls to educate and engage Veterans to connect with available VA services.

h. Facilitating peer support groups and co-facilitating with clinicians on other types of health and personal wellness groups. This does not include facilitating or co-facilitating psychotherapy groups.

i. Assisting Veterans with integration activities into their community, as consistent with Veterans' stated goals.

2. Peer Specialists in the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) possess the training and peer specialist certification required by VA qualification standards. See VA Handbook 5005, Staffing Part II, Appendix F3, dated July 17, 2012.

3. VA Peer Specialists can, in collaboration with their supervisors, practice all duties covered by their peer specialist certification. VA reviewed certification requirements for this occupation in May 2023 and confirmed there is no variance in what is permitted by the state-issued peer specialist certifications. As of May 2023, the VA standard of practice is consistent with what is permitted in any state.

Request for Information

1. Are there any factors that would inhibit or delay the implementation of the aforementioned tasks and duties for VA health care professionals in any states?

2. Is VA's assessment of what tasks or duties States allow and do not allow accurate?

3. Are there any areas of variance between State certifications that VA should preempt that are not listed?

4. Is there anything else you would like to share with us about this VA national standard of practice?

Signing Authority

Denis McDonough, Secretary of Veterans Affairs, approved and signed this document on February 13, 2024, and authorized the undersigned to sign and submit the document to the Office of the Federal Register for publication electronically as an official document of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Jeffrey M. Martin,

Assistant Director, Office of Regulation Policy & Management, Office of General Counsel, Department of Veterans Affairs.
