

statistical information, training materials, policy statements or reports, or other relevant information may also be included or referenced in responses. Please include hyperlinks if available.

Although not required, the Department would appreciate submissions that include a name, phone number, and email address for a single point of contact, in addition to the organizations, tribes, or other governmental agencies with which respondents are associated. This will allow VETS the opportunity to reach out for any necessary clarifications and streamline communication.

Responses will not be posted publicly, but will be summarized in a report prepared by the Department. Any information submitted in response to the RFI may be releasable pursuant to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act or other applicable law. For that reason, the Department requests that no business proprietary information, copyrighted information, or personally identifiable information be submitted in response to this RFI.

IV. Questions

1. How does identity intersectionality contribute to the employment outcomes that Black veterans experience and how can services improve and be better marketed to ensure that individuals of all identities and localities have access to opportunity?

2. What can VETS programs do to improve employment and wage outcomes for Black veterans and other intersectional, underserved communities,¹⁷ including job opportunities with the features of Good Jobs described in the Good Jobs Principles? Specifically, what do VETS programs need to do and where should the programs be?

3. What are the primary challenges experienced by Black service members that greatly influence their post-military employment prospects?

4. What key moments during the transition from military to civilian life have a significant impact on employment outcomes for Black veterans?

5. What are the most immediate employment needs of Black veterans?

6. How have veterans' benefits programs and other government services affected the successful or unsuccessful obtainment of a good job as described by the Good Jobs Principles?¹⁸

7. What are the most effective intervention strategies to improve employment outcomes for Black veterans and other intersectional, underserved communities?

8. How can VETS programs most effectively contribute to improved employment outcomes for Black veterans and other intersectional, underserved communities?

9. Where is the best place to engage with Black veterans and other intersectional, underserved communities and meet their needs?

Signed at Washington, DC, this 13th day of June, 2024.

James D. Rodriguez,

Assistant Secretary for Veterans' Employment and Training Service.
